Prof. George Dorsey Describes Ride from Bombay to Ahmedebad During a Native Holiday.

[Copyright: 1909: By Tribune Company.]

Tuesday.—I am literally overwhelmed, in fact, swamped. Having made neither head nor tail of Bombay, I feel that I should be able to write you intelligently of the events of a single day, but I must confess, as I did last Sunday, that I do not know where to begin.

Every hour, every minute, brings scenes new and strange. I am a country boy at the county fair, hurried from the three ringed circus to a wild west show and then into a fireworks display, depicting the Last Days of Pompeii. In short, I have started on my tour of India and already I feel absorbed, or perhaps I should say dissipated. I feel as the Parsi body does after it has made its final journey without polluting any of the four venerable elements.

I expected a full day here in Ahmedebad, for on Monday afternoon Freeman and I were entertained at the home of Mr. Goll on Malabar hill. Mr. Goll wired his representative, a wealthy Hindu merchant of this city, to meet us and show us the town and give us a typical Hindu dinner and show us more of the town; Mr. Goll remarked casually that we would have an interesting and a busy time. As a prognosticator, Mr. Goll should be at the head of the United States weather bureau.

Beautiful Moon Stops Sleep.

Freeman and I, with a single native servant to worry us, left Bombay at 9:30 last night. We had booked two so-called lower berths in the train. These we found to be six-foot long couches on each side of a small compartment on which our "boy" spread our blankets.

Climbing up the western Ghats, with a perfect moon shining overhead, I found it difficult to get to sleep. We passed through Baroda and arrived in Ahmedebad, with its 200,000 inhabitants and no hotel, at 8 o'clock this morning. Mr. Goll's Hindu merchant easily picked us out of the crowd of alighting passengers and conducted us to our room here in the station, where we soon made ourselves comfortable, removed the stains of travel, and breakfasted in the station restaurant.

Our room has a couple of tiny beds, which are unfurnished save for a hard mattress and some easy chairs, and opens out on the platform of the station, with its never-ending babel of noises.

Hindu Meal Amazing Custom.

Immediately after breakfast we set out with our host, in a large and comfortable carriage with two good horses, and by noon had visited an interesting Jain temple and half a dozen wonderfully beautiful Mohammedan mosques. At noon we were driven to the Hindu's house, where we partook of a thorough Hindu meal, which proved exceedingly interesting, in spite of the fact that we did not like it.

We ate, sitting cross legged on a low platform in front of a little, dark kitchen, inside of which the women of our host's household moved about in invisible silence. In front of each of us was a tiny stool, upon which was placed a great copper tray holding four copper dishes and many little piles of various kinds of food, such as rice, milk pudding currie, a sort of native macaroni, bread fried in ghee, or rancid liquid butter, etc.

Knives and forks have no place in Hindu households, and we ate with our fingers. I suppose one could scarcely be expected, at the first attempt, to eat milk pudding gracefully with one's fingers. A number of attempts at such a performance seemed to have a tendency to impair our appetites. True to Indian custom, our host removed his thin white robe, and ate clad in his loin cloth.

Terrific Heat Is Unfelt.

After our novel meal we returned to the station to rest during the heat of the day, and after a refreshing bath at 4 we set out to see the remaining wonders of this really beautiful city. By 6 o'clock we had again returned to our room, where we are to pass the night.

The thermometer as I now write at 9 o'clock registers 90 degrees. At 2 o'clock today it measured 100 degrees. Our host explained that this is the dry season and that it will continue to grow hotter each day until July, when a three months' rain sets in, and after which follows a nine months of no rain.

But I have not suffered from the heat today, for it is a dry heat, but we suffered much from the dust. Should the rains be delayed in June, it means hardship. Should there be a serious delay, it spells famine and deaths amounting at times to millions. Already evidences of hard times are beginning to be abundant, for the crop of wheat, which is to be harvested in June, is unusually poor.

Brahman Festival Noisy One.

Of much interest to me today were the hordes of monkeys which we saw out on the shore of a great artificial lake or tank. As no one molests them, they are exceedingly tame and many splendid, big, long tailed fellows gathered about us, coming up to eat grain from our hands.

Today has been a great Brahman festival, and everywhere about us tonight we hear the roar of drums and on every turn we can see the blaze of bonfires. Our faithful Hindu guide today has been most kind and has made it possible for us to have a most interesting insight into many Hindu manners and customs which otherwise we could not have seen or which would have been meaningless.

Now what shall I say of the real sights we have seen today in this fascinating city, one of the greatest cities of all this region and said once to have been the handsomest town in the world, a town which 300 years ago was as large as London.

Beauties of a New Kind.

I cannot describe the Jain temple or the mosques and tombs that we have seen. I only know that I have seen beauties of a new kind, beauties of architecture which surpass anything of Mohammedan architecture which I saw in Cairo. The houses of the city itself

SIGNS OF ABATING CAR MEN'S STRIFE

Each Side Considers the Other's Proposition and Will Confer on Them Again Today.

MAY HIT ON COMPROMISE.

Outlook for Preventing Great Traction Strike in Chicago Now Seems More Favorable.

At a four hour conference in the office of Walter L. Fisher, special traction representative of the city, traction heads and union officials came to a formal understanding yesterday as to what the respective contestants are willing to do toward averting a strike of the 10,000 street care employés in Chicago. Each side has agreed to consider the other's proposition and to give an answer at another conference today.

Union officials, headed by W. D. Mahon, international president of the street car employés' organization, submitted a modified demand in which discrimination in the wages paid to new and old men was conceded.

Mitten Makes New Offer.

Thomas E. Mitten of the City railway came back with a new offer proposing the payment of 23 cents an hour to new men when they start in service, and 30 cents to all men now or hereafter in the service after nine years of employment, with proportional wages to the men of intermediate periods in service. John M. Roach presented the former offer of the traction officials which was rejected in union meetings last week and said he thought it represented generous concessions on the part of the Railways company.

Both traction heads took occasion in their statements to criticise the conduct of the unions in rejecting terms which had been approved by representatives of the unions. Mr. Roach said that even were the Railways company financially able to grant more wages than those he has offered, he would feel it a breach of faith to do more for others than he would for a committee directly representing an organization of his own men.

Summary of Propositions.

DEMAND PER HOUR OF UNION FOR MEN WHO HAVE WORKED ONE YEAR AT 27 CENTS:

	Cents.
Aug. 1, 1909, to Aug. 1, 1910	28
Aug. 2, 1910, to Aug. 1, 1911	29
After Aug. 2, 1911	30

FOR MEN ENTERING THE SERVICE HEREAFTER:

First three months	24
Next nine months	27
Second year	28
Third year	29
After third year	30

SCALE PER HOUR PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT MITTEN OF CITY RAILWAY:

First six months	23
Second year	25
Fourth year	27
Fifth year	27½
Sixth year	28
Seventh year	28½
Eighth year	29
Ninth year	29½
Thereafter	30

Contract to run three and a half years from Aug. 1, 1909. No employe now in service to suffer a reduction from his present wage.

SCALE PER HOUR PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT ROACH OF RAILWAYS COMPANY.

Aug. 1, 1909, to Aug. 1, 1910	28
Aug. 2, 1910, to Aug. 1, 1911	29

For new men entering service subsequent to the signing of the contract—

First six months	23
Second year	25
Final six months of contract	27

May Agree on Compromise.

The kernel of the situation, as the disputants left it, was in the nature of an argument as to the number of years a man should be in service to be entitled to a wage of 30 cents an hour. President Mahon of the union, according to the new union demands, believes 30 cents an hour should be paid after a man has been three years in service. President Mitten of the City railway, according to his formal proposals, believes nine years in service represents a just period. The trend of the situation, as viewed by observers, is in the direction of a compromise, with a possibility that five years may be hit upon as the happy mean. Modifications from both sides are looked upon as probabilities for today's meeting.

With the guiding influence of Mr. Fisher to urge the traction leaders and union heads to approach more closely in their opinions, there is thought to be a chance of a practical settlement of the dispute today. The negotiations have reached a point where all parties concerned are anxious to assume final positions with definiteness. Mr. Fisher said specific understandings would be reached speedily in the controversy.

Arbitration as a Last Resort.

If a compromise agreement is reached and approved by President Mahon, it is expected it will be sent to the unions for a referendum vote. Similar action probably will be taken with the offers of the companies as they stand if attempts to continue along lines of conciliation meet with failure. As a last resort arbitration will be urged, if the disputants can agree upon the basis of arbitration.

The parties to the conference, which included the wage scale committees of the unions and President Mahon, the company heads, and Mr. Fisher, looked serious but hopeful when they emerged from Mr. Fisher's office in the Portland building.

"We have made our demands and the companies have made their offers," said President Mahon as he started for the Briggs house to enter a conference for the purpose of considering a possible compromise offer. "We have agreed to consider each other's proposi-

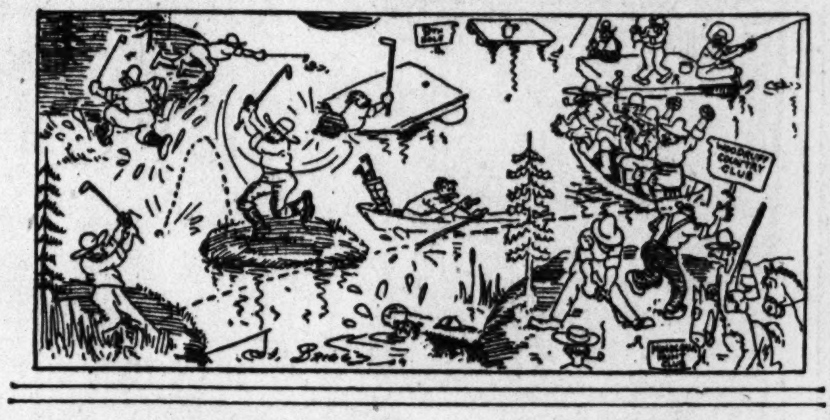
SCENE OF THE GREAT GOLF MATCH.



MANN WINNER AT ISLAND GOLF

Trout Lake, Wis., Aug. 24.—The classiest event of an unusually gay social season at Trout Lake was the twosome at island golf between John Mann of here and Old Man Buck from the Dam. A big gallery followed the contestants, including delegations from the Minocqua Hunt and Woodruff Country clubs.

Trout lake has the best nine hole course in Wisconsin—four perfectly good islands, supplemented by five rafts of fair size, each representing a green. It requires considerable skill to drive from one island or raft to the other without putting the ball in the water, and it is customary to attach a fishline to the ball, so that it may be recovered if the stroke be poor.

The twosome today was close and was won by Mann; score, 68 and a net loss of five balls, as against 71 and six balls lost. The feature of the match was Mann's drive from the home tee to the first green, a distance of 890 yards. It was claimed that he should be credited with only 350 yards, as the ball ricochetted forty yards on the water before landing on the raft. At the fifth hole Mann sliced into a pail of suds in one of the gallery boats, but this was called "casual water," and he was permitted to lift the ball. Old Man Buck had hard luck at the seventh, being bunkered under the edge of the green. By using a "baffy paddle" he got out in three. The winner of the match was promptly challenged by Abe Lefevre, champion of the Island Lake Golf club.

Among the veterans in the gallery were Tom Miller, French Ed, Jim and Jud Blaisdell and Alec Gillis. After the match Jud Blaisdell attached a hook and line to one of the balls and drove 400 yards to the pickerel weeds. As the ball touched the water a huge muskellunge struck and swallowed it. Jud had no reel, so was compelled to cut the cable of the island, which the muskie towed around the lake until exhausted.

This new sport is known as golfishing.

SEEKS NEGROES FOR SPITE

FLAT HOUSE ANGERS HER.

Neighbors Protest Against Sign but Mrs. Spirkel Smiles.

Mrs. Spirkel, wife of Dr. John Spirkel, owner of the property 2578 North Paulina street, Ravenswood, is angry because of the erection of a flat building adjoining her home. To show her feeling she placed on the front of her home yesterday evening a large sign bearing the following inscription:

"Colored People's Rest."

"Down with that sign!" shouted a half dozen neighbors in this exclusively residence district as they gathered about the house.

The protest was accompanied by the cries of "Shame! Shame!" by a score of women and the advancing of a half dozen men toward the house in a menacing manner.

"That sign shall remain there," Mrs. Spirkel replied as she advanced to the sidewalk and ordered the neighbors out.

"Down with that spite wall and I take the sign down," she continued. "There will be three families of negroes in this house as soon as I can get it ready for rent and get tenants, and no one shall touch that sign or he will suffer for it.

Plans to Get Even.

"I moved here three years ago, and did not know at the time that there would be a flat building erected on the line of the lot north of me, excluding all the light from my house. I am now going to get even, cost what it may."

Many of the neighbors crowded around the house and were loud in their condemnation of Mrs. Spirkel's action.

"This is an outrage and a disgrace," said Emil Bersbach, 2495 North Ashland avenue, addressing Mrs. Spirkel.

"This is my property, and you keep out," replied Mrs. Spirkel. "You get off my property, or I'll have you arrested. I own this house, and can rent it to whomever I please."

Bersbach retreated to the sidewalk, and Mrs. Spirkel followed, daring him to reenter her premises.

"Go away back and sit down," said she, after Bersbach turned to leave.

Views of Neighbors.

"I am sorry that any one would attempt to demoralize this neighborhood with any such thing as a 'colored rest cure,' said J. I. Childs, 2585 North Paulina street.

"Such action as displayed in this incident is detrimental to the value of real estate in Ravenswod," said R. G. Ingersoll, who was less vehement than his neighbors in condemning the action in the probable advent of colored persons into the residence district.

"Such action is distasteful, to say the least," said Dr. E. L. Gilmore. Similar remarks were made by many of the other neighbors, who said they will never permit a colored family to occupy a residence there, and that the sign will be torn down.

During all the disturbance raised by neighbors, and while an occasional old shoe, stick, or stone was hurled in the direction of her house, Mrs. Spirkel sat on the front porch apparently amused by the excitement.

"I am determined to get even for all I have suffered here during the last three years from the spite wall and the building of the flat owned by Adolph Spielmann, adjoining my property on the north," she said. "The wall is on the lot line and extends ten feet farther out toward the street than other buildings here. And now to get even I am going to have three colored families in here, and large families will get the preference."

According to Mrs. Spirkel's version of the story the trouble began about three years ago, when she purchased the property and moved in with her husband, whom she says is suffering from a nervous ailment. At first there was no flat building, but the excavation was begun. Then the neighboring boys threw stones and rubbish from the excavations into her yard.

Other indignities, she said, such as throwing mud at her little daughter, Ruth; playing baseball in the adjoining lot, and dancing on her front porch, aided in making life less enjoyable to her. But the final trouble came when the flat building was completed.

Shuts Off Sixteen Windows.

One year ago the Spirkels built an addition to their home seven feet wide and adjoining the Spielmann lot, thereby cutting off the light from sixteen of the windows in the flat building. This is now being followed in the erection of a brick pier, three feet wide, cutting off the light from the remaining three windows in the Spielmann apartment. The pier, although three stories in height, is presumably a support for a new porch being built at the front of the Spirkel home.

Spielmann declares that Mrs. Spirkel had full notice that the flat building was going to be erected in its present condition before she bought the property, and that the building was in process of erection when the purchase was made.

"I have little fear," he added, "that she will carry out her threat to rent the property to colored persons and I don't think she can get any north side real estate man to handle the deal for her."

Then the sergeant gave her a dime and for thanks she grabbed his mustache. For several minutes he backed around the room, but she hung on until he grasped her by the arms and ordered the woman booked and sent her to the stockyards police station to be kept over night.

REAR ADMIRAL'S BABY SLAIN?

Wife of Eaton Says Attempt Was Made to Poison Her Also.

SHE DEMANDS AN AUTOPSY.

Daughter Joins Mother in Making Claims of Attempt at Murder.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—For the purpose of ascertaining if Joseph Giles Eaton Jr., the infant son of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N., retired, died from poison, Medical Examiner J. W. Spooner of Hingham has forwarded the stomach of the child to the Harvard medical school, where the contents will be analyzed by experts. The child died Friday night at Isis cottage, Sand Hills, Scituate, the summer home of the Eatons.

Statements of the most sensational nature are made in connection with the child's death by Mrs. Eaton and by June Ainsworth, her daughter by a former marriage. Both mother and daughter told neighbors that attempts had been made to poison them.

Mother Insists on Autopsy.

Medical Examiner Spooner was called into the case by Mrs. Eaton, who insisted that an autopsy be performed on the infant's body. When Mrs. Eaton told him she was positive the baby died from the effects of poison an autopsy was ordered. It was performed on Saturday by Dr. Spooner, assisted by Dr. Harry Cleverly of Scituate.

Both the medical examiner and Dr. Cleverly refuse to discuss the case or say whether or not the autopsy revealed anything to confirm the suspicions of Mrs. Eaton. Rear Admiral Eaton has another summer home at Assinippi and an abandoned farm which he purchased recently and had renovated into a modern retreat. Saturday afternoon, in an automobile, Rear Admiral Eaton took the infant's body to the farm and it was buried there.

The former officer was accompanied by Mrs. Eaton and Dorothy Ainsworth, Mrs. Eaton's younger daughter by her previous marriage. Mrs. Eaton and her daughter returned to Scituate Sunday morning, but the former officer remained at Assinippi.

Tells Neighbors of "Plot."

Immediately after her return to Isis cottage, Mrs. Eaton talked with some neighbors and made her sensational statements. She believed the baby had been poisoned and attributed the act to some demented person. At the same time she claimed an attempt had been made to poison her some months ago, by placing some drug in her tea.

Mrs. Eaton's statements are supported by the daughter, June, who is 17 years old.

Mrs. Ainsworth was married to Rear Admiral Eaton three or four years ago. She was about 37 years old and her husband 62.

The baby, Joseph Giles Eaton Jr., was born six months ago. Rear Admiral Eaton this afternoon said:

"I believe my son died a natural death of cholera morbus. I believe also that I felt his death far more keenly than did the other members of the family.

"My wife's accusations probably will result in action for divorce, for I feel I cannot live with her after what she has said. As for the assertions of June Ainsworth, my stepdaughter, I don't take them seriously."

HARRIMAN, FRAIL, WOOING HEALTH, AT HOME AGAIN

FORGETS WORK FOR REST.

Assets, Extra Dividends, and Speculation Ignored for Purpose of Regaining Strength.

MUM ON NEW YORK CENTRAL.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Edward H. Harriman returned from Europe this afternoon, looking much thinner and weaker than when he sailed on June 1. When Mr. Harriman left to put himself under the observation of European specialists he mounted the steamship gangplank without assistance and with considerable spirit. His mere transfer today from the liner to a tugboat taxed his strength so greatly that he was obliged, before it was over, to drop down into a deck chair for a few minutes of rest.

Mr. Harriman received the newspaper men stretched out on a divan in his private car just before starting for his country home at Arden. The interview obviously was a strain on him. His appearance gave the impression that he was a stricken man. His eyes had a glassy look.

If Mrs. Harriman and Mr. Harriman's counsel, R. S. Lovett, had had their way Mr. Harriman probably would not have said a word for publication. But Mr. Harriman insisted, and, stretched out on the divan, repeatedly waved away the attempts on their part to spare himself. It was the old Harriman, nervy and full of fight, but speaking in a voice so weak it scarcely carried across the car.

Places Faith in "After Cure."

As to Mr. Harriman's own view of his condition, he acknowledged that he is weak and that he has lost more flesh than he can afford, but he has faith that the "after cure" of rest and outdoor life that he is to take at Arden will set him on his feet again.

Mr. Harriman did not volunteer to say anything as to the nature of his ailment, and none of the reporters asked him. In speaking of his treatment in Europe, however, he referred to a series of sixteen X ray photographs that had been taken of his stomach.

Dr. William Gordon Lyle, 60 West Fifty-eighth street, who accompanied Mr. Harriman on his European trip and who has gone with him to Arden, had no public statement to make, and Mr. Harriman's friends, when questioned in regard to the character of his illness, replied. "There is nothing that we can say."

Defends Raising of Dividends.

In his interview, Mr. Harriman declared his raising of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific dividends had been justified before the public. He had nothing in mind at present, he said, in regard to the segregation of the Union Pacific assets, extra dividends or speculation. The funds that were at his disposal are to be used in developing the territory tributary to the Harriman roads and in opening up new territory.

This interview with Mr. Harriman was something the New York newspaper men will remember for a long time. The railroad magnate apparently was just as eager as the reporters for the talk, but it took nerve on his part.

Mr. Harriman had sent word in advance of his arrival that he would meet the reporters in his private car at the Erie station, Jersey City. It was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon when the Southern Pacific tug boat El Toro, the fastest in the harbor, raked its nose up alongside the pier. Mr. Harriman's train, composed of his private car Arden, a combined baggage and passenger coach, and an engine, all polished brightly, had been waiting since morning. Lined up along the pier were fifty newspaper men, including a small army of photographers.

Harriman Reclines in Chair.

Mr. Harriman was stretched out in a deck chair and wrapped in steamer rugs. He had settled back into the chair as soon as he boarded El Toro at the North German Lloyd's pier at Hoboken, and didn't move until the tugboat tied up at the Erie pier. Then he walked slowly over to the port rail of El Toro's upper deck. Several reporters waved their hats.

"How do you do?" said Harriman, leaning over the rail. "I am glad to get back."

The railroad man's voice sounded fairly strong in the air, but he was pale and his face looked drawn. He pulled the brim of his broad Panama hat down over his eyes, and looking down on the camera squad said, "Fire away." They fired, and then Mr. Harriman beckoned for Mrs. Harriman, his daughters, Mary and Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, and Robert W. Goelet, to line up with him. They did, and the photographers blazed away again.

Mr. Harriman walked down the gangplank unassisted and was helped into the car. Five minutes later Mr. Lovett appeared and said Mr. Harriman was ready to see the reporters.

Silent on New York Central.

Mr. Harriman was lying down with his head propped with pillows when the reporters entered. He was in the observation room of his car and when all his visitors had entered there was scarcely space left to turn around in. Mr. Lovett and Mrs. Harriman stood in the doorway at the foot of the divan, intently watching Mr. Harriman.

"Well," said Mr. Harriman, turning his head on the pillows so as to face the interviewers, "what do you want me to say?"

"It is reported," said one of the questioners, "that you and your friends have bought the Vanderbilt holdings in the New York Central."

"I wouldn't tell you if I had," replied the little man, with just a semblance of a smile playing around the corners of his mouth. "That was a quick one, wasn't it?" he added.

"Well, how about the talk of segregating the Union Pacific assets?" another asked.

"I'm not thinking about that," Mr. Harriman replied. "I haven't anything on my mind except the after cure. I want you fellows to help me do that. I've left ten pounds on the other side. They intended that I should stay over there to get it back, but I thought I would do better on home cooking. Ten pounds off a little fellow like me is a good deal."

Harriman raised himself slightly on one arm and smiled again.

The rail magnate's voice grew lower as he talked, and the newspaper men pushed closer and closer to the divan to catch his words. Occasionally Mr. Harriman would interrupt with the question: "Am I speaking loud enough?" then for a few seconds he would add force to his voice.

Before the interview had gone far, though, the reporters were crowding up to within a foot or two of the divan.

"I was afraid that when I got home," Mr. Harriman went on, "I would have to deal altogether with officeholders instead of stockholders—they are enacting so many new laws."

"Do you refer to the corporation tax?"

"Yes, that's the one. I think that every new law ought to be enacted to take the place of some old one. Every one creates new officeholders and the government is getting bigger and bigger."

Mr. Harriman reverted to the subject of the segregation of the Union Pacific assets. "There is nothing in my mind," said he, "about the segregation of extra dividends or speculation. The only thing in mind is the development and improvement of the lines we have under our charge and to take advantage of prosperity which will enable this to be done more thoroughly, or, I should say, more quickly, than it otherwise could be done."

Explains Raise of Dividends.

"Do you mean you are going to put further money into the development of your roads?" was asked.

"The money," replied Mr. Harriman, "is going into the development of tributaries of the roads and the development of new territories. The lines may not pay for a while, but we are going to devote our time and attention to such development of the work as we think will be for the best interests of all. About three years ago I had a hard time to convince my associates that they should raise the Union Pacific dividend to 10 per cent and the Southern Pacific to 5 per cent. I was accused of being a speculator. I had a pretty hard three years, and I wish I could wipe it out. But I have won out. The Southern Pacific is paying 6 per cent now, and my idea is that we should clinch that 6 per cent and make it absolutely safe and sure. I think the public and press see now that that dividend raise wasn't a speculative move."

Mr. Harriman said he hadn't anything definite in mind about acquiring new roads. He wouldn't tell the newspapers if he had.

"I have indefinite plans for lines in the irrigated territory, in Idaho, Oregon, and other places, that I don't care to say anything about," he added.

Refuses Request to Stop.

Mrs. Harriman and Mr. Lovett, standing at the foot of the divan, had watched the speaker intently. At this point Mr. Lovett interrupted, saying: "It is warm in here. Don't you think, Mr. Harriman, you had better postpone the interview?"

"No," said Mr. Harriman. "There is nothing the matter with my stomach now. I feel all right."

A few seconds later Mr. Harriman looked toward the foot of the divan again and saw Mrs. Harriman standing there.

"Please tell Mrs. Harriman to go away; she bothers me," said the railroad man nervously. Mrs. Harriman drew back out of sight.

Mr. Harriman switched then to his new Mexican line. He figured that it wasn't going to cost much to equip that line. One of the questioners started to say something about the freight rates.

"I don't know anything about the rates," said Mr. Harriman. "Our motto has been to serve the public and give them the best possible article always."

"The train has its running orders and I think——" Mr. Lovett interrupted again, but Mr. Harriman said: "No, I'm feeling all right; let me sit up."

Seasick at Voyage's End.

Then Mr. Harriman raised up on the divan and faced his interviewers for the first time.

"I had a foggy trip," said he, referring to his voyage. "I had my meals regularly, though, till I got to quarantine, and then my stomach went back on me so that really I'm not in condition now."

"Are you satisfied with your trip abroad so far as your health is concerned?" the financier was asked.

"Yes," Mr. Harriman replied, "I am. But they put me through everything they could think of over there. I had almost as hard a time there with the photographers as I've had here today. They photographed all my insides. They X-rayed me in great shape. They took a series of pictures of my stomach—sixteen of 'em. I had a good deal of fun, but that series of pictures alone cost me three pounds."

"Were they able to photograph any plans in your head for the future railroad developments?" he was asked.

"No," said he. "They got everything except this" and he pointed at his head.

Tack Gives Him Many Shocks.

"They had a machine that was insulated," Mr. Harriman went on, referring to that series of sixteen pictures, "and they stood me up against it. Of course, they'd given me a lot of bismuth and rice, so they could catch me in action. Well, they stood me up against that machine that they said was all insulated. But there was just one tack sticking out from it that wasn't insulated. I got up against that tack and every time one of the sixteen plates would fall I got a shock. It scared me at first, and certainly was not any fun afterward. But I enjoyed——"

"We've got train orders, Mr. Harriman," interrupted Mr. Lovett again, "and I think we had better end the interview before we pull out."

"Just as they like," replied Mr. Harriman; "they can come on out to Arden if they want to."

But the talk ended then and Mr. Harriman's train pulled out immediately. The train ran over the Newburgh branch from Turner's and stopped at the foot of Tower Hill, the highest point in Ramapo mountains, on the top of which is Mr. Harriman's new $2,000,000 home.

Foghorn Disturbed Harriman.

The Kaiser Wilhelm II., with Mr. Harriman on board, didn't reach quarantine until 1:15 o'clock. The liner had passed through seventy-two consecutive hours of fog in which the Kaiser's big horn had little rest and those who were near it still less. Mr. Harriman's quarters on the upper promenade deck—cabin I, or the imperial suite—were near the fog horn, and it disturbed him a good deal.

The weather was so raw the financier did not leave his room until about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Then he had a chair placed on the deck and, bundled up in steamer rugs, remained out for more than four hours.

As the Kaiser Wilhelm II. approached quarantine, it was seen it was flying the signal "Not under control." The steam steering gear had gone wrong just outside the Hook, and the vessel had kept its direction by working the twin screws.

Two Southern Pacific tugs, El Toro and El Amigo, were waiting for the big liner. On El Toro were C. W. Jungen, manager of the marine department of the Southern Pacific company; Robert L. Gerry, Mrs. Gerry, Robert W. Goelet, Charles C. Tagethoff, Mr. Harriman's private secretary, and J. L. Townsend, one of Mr. Harriman's friends. Mr. Lovett was on El Amigo. He had been detained at the meeting of the Union Pacific board of directors and had missed the El Toro.

Liner Delayed at Quarantine.

The death of two infants in the steerage necessitated autopsies by the health officers, and there was a delay of about two hours before the health officers cleared the vessel. By that time the United States revenue cutter Hudson, with a cargo composed chiefly of reporters and photographers, had dropped under the Kaiser's side. B. B. Odell was looking over the rail from the promenade deck.

"How is Mr. Harriman?" somebody shouted at the former governor.

"O, he is as well as I expected to find him. He is getting along nicely," said Mr. Odell.

Apparently Mr. Harriman himself heard the question, for a second later he appeared at the rail on the upper promenade deck with Mrs. Harriman. He leaned on the rail and waved to the reporters below.

"I am feeling pretty well," he said. Then he was apparently taken with the stomach sickness of which he spoke in the car later. At any rate, he moved back unsteadily to his chair, and a little later he went to his cabin, where he was lying when his friends from El Toro and El Amigo boarded the vessel.

Aided Down the Gangplank.

Mr. Harriman remained in his cabin until the Kaiser Wilhelm II. had been warped in at the pier and all the other passengers had landed. Then he started down the gang plank unassisted, but he wasn't half way down when his secretary started to steady him from behind.

"Let me go," said Mr. Harriman with some warmth. "I can do this alone."

Before he was down, however, one of the boat's officers started to help him, and he waved him aside. Jungen took his arm and led him to a truck. There Harriman seated himself and faced another wing of the camera brigade.

One of the customs officers had gone down the bay on El Toro to be on hand in case Mr. Harriman wanted to leave the liner there, but the customs officers took their turn at him when he was seated on the truck. Mr. Harriman hadn't been sitting there more than five minutes when his friends hurried up on the deck and got a steamer chair. He stretched out in it for more than ten minutes.

When the customs officers got through with him he walked slowly along the pier to the end, where El Toro was waiting to take him to the Erie station in Jersey City.

Sends Message, "Feeling Well."

Before he got in on the Kaiser Wilhelm Mr. Harriman sent this wireless message in response to a request:

"My condition is good. I am going back to Arden for the after cure and to regain the ten pounds which I left at the Gastein cure. The condition of the American crops makes the outlook bright and the business conditions for the future are safe. The views I expressed on June 1 before leaving the United States have undergone no change."

Mr. Harriman's statement of June 1, which he now says is applicable to conditions today, said:

"The business of the country is now on a substantial basis. All that is needed now is a realization on the part of the farmers of the preparations for prosperity which have been so liberally made. There are now more acres in cultivation than ever before in the history of the country, and if we have favorable weather and correspondingly large crops I look for happy times. There will be a big burst of speculation and a rise of everything, but these will quickly grade down from the top to whatever level the crops will make logical.

"I shall look to see the improvement in conditions go on. The time is ripe, however, for a warning as to the proper employment of idle money. We should be careful that this money be not devoted to the supposed development of fake projects, but on the contrary used in the upbuilding of real undertakings resting upon solid foundations.

"There was no necessity for the 1907 panic. That panic was directly caused by the extraordinary Landis decision and the general attitude prevailing at the time against the railroads and corporations generally. There is no mistake about this. I know what I am talking about because I went through it all. It was a panic of sentiment.

"As far as the mental attitude of the public is concerned, we are on a saner basis today than we were in 1907. If we keep going up, however, and come down it will hurt more after we have gone up three or four stories."

Pacific Dividends Declared.

The directors of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific met at the Harriman offices today while Mr. Harriman was proceeding to this port and declared the regular quarterly dividends on Southern Pacific common, Union Pacific common, and the regular semi-annual dividend on Union Pacific preferred.

The dividends declared today, being quarterly payments of 1½ per cent on Southern Pacific common and 2½ per cent on Union Pacific common, in addition to the semi-annual payment of 2 per cent on Union Pacific preferred, are payable on Oct. 1. The annual meeting of the stockholders will be held on Oct. 12.

The proxies for this annual meeting in the names of E. H. Harriman, R. S. Lovett, and A. Millar are being mailed this week to the foreign stockholders.

Stock Market Is Inanimate.

With the departure of the Union Pacific board and numerous other notables to greet Mr. Harriman the stock market became inanimate. It was waiting for something to happen, and it knew beforehand exactly what was to happen—a conjuncture of circumstances which reasonably serves to make speculation difficult.

Except for one stock, even the market's opening missed the wide variations from the previous day's closing, which have lately grown familiar. Union Pacific, having closed yesterday at 210, opened today at prices ranging simultaneously between 209¾ and 210¼, then fell rapidly to 208⅛; then, with due deliberation, proceeded to retrace its downward steps.

The other half dozen or so stocks to which people refer when they talk nowadays of "the market," started pretty much where they ended business yesterday, dipped down with Union Pacific, and climbed up again with it. The closing hour was marked by irregular and wholly meaningless fluctuations, and the day's net changes, as a whole, were insignificant.

ARRIVAL AT ARDEN HOME.

Arden, N. Y., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—It was a few minutes after 7 o'clock when E. H. Harriman and all the members of his family, with the exception of his oldest son, Averill, who now is in the west, stepped into the new Harriman summer mansion on the West mountain, the highest peak of the Ramapo mountain range. On the way to Arden Mr. Harriman left his private car and went into the only other car on the train, that occupied by the newspaper men. At Arden the party was greeted by Mr. Harriman's local friends and the men at the head of the numerous departments of the Harriman estate.

Charles P. Ford, Mr. Harriman's general superintendent, and the one man in whom all the details of the erection of the new summer home were left, was the first to greet the railroad magnate.

"How are you, Ford?" were Mr. Harriman's first words of greeting. "I'm glad to see you." He reached forth both of his hands as he stood on the lower steps of the car and Mr. Ford extended both of his. Mr. Harriman shook his superintendent's hands vigorously.

Mr. Harriman walked down the platform of his car unaided and walked to his automobile waiting near the station. The automobile was run to the incline railroad, which is the only means of conveying persons to the summit of the mountain. Here Ford had supervised arrangements so the automobile could run onto the flat car attached to the cable incline power. The flat car was built with a slanting floor, so that when the car started up the incline the automobile would be perfectly level.

Walks Into New Home.

Arriving at the top of the mountain, the car stopped and it was intended that the car should be switched to run on into the house, but Mr. Harriman interrupted the proceedings of switching the car by stating he would walk to the house, a distance of four or five city blocks. All of the members of the party were agreeably surprised, but Mr. Harriman said, "O, I feel able, all right," and stepped from the automobile.

He assisted Mrs. Harriman from the car by taking her arm, and started up the broad walk to the house. He reached the house and entered for the first time his new mansion with his face all smiles. He was pleased with the condition of things.

The large arc lights all the way from the incline railroad to the main entrance of the house lighted the scene, a beautiful one to the tired, sick railroad magnate. Mr. Harriman did not go into the house immediately, but insisted upon walking up the stretch of granite stairs, probably twenty-five in number, to the terrace gardens.

Mr. Harriman's suite contains five rooms, his reception room, library, sleeping room, and bath. At the head of his bed is a telephone, so he can talk into it without leaving his bed.

Happiest Day in Months.

Mr. Harriman prepared for dinner and talked continuously about his new home. To his superintendent and physician, he expressed himself every few minutes as being the happiest he has been in months.

Having finished his preparations for dinner, Mr. Harriman threw himself in an easy chair and sighed his relief from his long trip. Before going down to the dining room he chatted freely with Mr. Ford and told him of the suggestions of the various physicians for his health.

"The German food might be all right and the champagne baths may be all right, but the rest cure right here will be the only cure for me," he said, and laughed heartily. He joined the rest of his family in the dining room and partook of a good, substantial meal. He was hungry, he said, the first real hunger he had felt in some time.

Mr. Harriman retired to his rooms shortly after dinner and at 10 o'clock, prepared for what he called a "good night's rest."

The swimming pool in the gardens of his home had been filled with water for several days, and in this Mr. Harriman expects to take a great deal of enjoyment.

Wizard of American Railways Is at Home Again.

The photograph was one taken of Mr. Harriman in the spring just before he sailed for Europe. Reports are that he looked more frail and feeble yesterday than three months ago.

HILL FIGHTING HARRIMAN; SEEKS THROUGH BUSINESS.

Will Open Combined Water and Rail Lines Sept. 25, Taking Passengers from Eastern Points to San Francisco.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—James J. Hill will be ready to deliver through passenger business by combined rail and water lines from eastern points to San Francisco in competition with Harriman on and after Sept. 25. Joint passenger tariffs, operative over the North Bank road and the North Pacific Steamship company's coasters, the Elder and Roanoke, just have been issued, and when the Elder sails from Portland on Tuesday, Sept. 28, it will carry the first through passengers for California.

This gives Hill access to territory hitherto regarded as exclusively under the control of Harriman and reprisals are likely.

The Oregon Trunk Line railway, which is said to have Hill's financial support, won its contest with the Deschutes railway company, a Harriman subsidiary, in the United States District court today.

The court issued an order forbidding the Harriman road going upon the sixty miles of contested right of way up the Deschutes cañon in central Oregon. The application of the Harriman lawyers asking that the Hill road be similarly enjoined pending adjudication was refused.

GARY SEES A BRIGHT OUTLOOK.

Steel Corporation Chairman Says Financial Conditions in England and America Are Improving.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, who is at the Hotel Ritz, will be a guest tomorrow night at a banquet to be given by the Sheffield chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Gary today spoke in most hopeful terms of the immediate future of the steel business.

"Undoubtedly nearly all business," he said, "was at a lower ebb a few months ago on this side of the water than in the United States, and the process of recovery here is slower, though not less sure. The outlook in America is exceedingly bright. I think we are going to see the greatest prosperity the country ever has known. Orders for steel, both domestic and foreign, are steadily increasing."

WILSON DEFENDS PURE FOOD ACTS

LAUDS BENZOATE ACTION.

Tilt Follows Bitter Attack on Methods by President Emery.

BY PAUL PIERCE,
EDITOR OF THE NATIONAL FOOD MAGAZINE.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture in an address today at the food and dairy convention predicted that the adulteration of food will soon cease altogether in this country. He also said the Remsen referee board appointed to investigate the use of benzoate of soda as a preservative would be sustained.

Secretary Wilson's statement followed a bitter attack by President Emery of the association. Mr. Emery disputed the report of the referee board that benzoate had been found to be not harmful. Mr. Emery also accused Secretary Wilson of having urged President Roosevelt to block a reinvestigation of the benzoate question.

Wilson Refutes Old Charges.

Secretary Wilson, when he took the floor, defended himself, the referee board, and the department of agriculture against charges made at this and last year's convention. This year the charges are to the effect that the referee board and the department of agriculture erred in sanctioning the use of benzoate of soda in food products. Last year they charged that Secretary Wilson had been influenced by commercial interests and that he had greatly hampered pure food regulations in the states and the nation by withdrawing the department's support from the food standards commission.

The secretary made known his resentment that such charges should be brought against him and the referre board at Mackinac when they had no chance to defend themselves on account of their absence, and, in concluding, said:

"Now, I have but one request. You have arranged a place upon your program to have the referee board here on Thursday to be heard. All I ask is that the hearing be a full and fair one."

President Emery was indignant at Mr. Wilson's insinuation.

"This referee board was asked to come to this convention by the executive committee," he said, "and the insinuation that it is not to be given fair play comes with poor grace."

Explains Emery's Attack.

Mr. Emery referred to a letter from Secretary Wilson in which he claimed that a previous attempt to give the board a hearing had been refused by Secretary Wilson.

"Will you let me explain?" answered Mr. Wilson. "That was just after you had condemned us fellows at Washington at your Mackinac meeting without a hearing and I did not believe that you people who criticised us had a right to make a Supreme court out of yourselves."

"I have the highest regard for the secretary of agriculture," was the response of Mr. Emery, "but I do not believe his statement accords with the facts in the case."

These two speeches marked the first round in the battle between Secretary Wilson and H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, over the use of benzoate of soda in food products. Dr. Wiley is the leader in the antibenzoate movement, and his cause is championed not only by President Emery, but by many other of the leading state commissioners.

Referee Board Gets Defense.

In reply to the charges against the referee board Secretary Wilson said:

"The referee board, as you are aware, is composed of five of the most eminent scientific men in the United States, appointed at the instance of President Roosevelt and indorsed by congress. When this board speaks it is the final word so far as the United States government is concerned. Our efforts have been to secure substantial compliance with the law with as little friction between the government and manufacturers and dealers as possible. We have recommended the prosecution of every case based upon a substantial violation of the law, but leniency has been shown in offenses committed when the law was new and when the violation was the result of honest mistakes in interpreting the law."

President Emery in his address reminded the association of the resolutions they adopted at the Mackinac convention denouncing benzoate, and entreated them to remain loyal to their convictions. He criticised the referee board regarding its verdict that four grams of the chemical a day are not harmful.

Plea by Illinois Official.

A. H. Jones, food and dairy commissioner of Illinois, opposed the state "model" law plan, declaring that conformity with the federal plan was better.

"It took seven years' work with the various committees of the house and senate to secure our present federal pure food law," said Mr. Jones. "In Illinois we have found its operation to be satisfactory. In my judgment it would be an error for each state to cut loose and attempt to put up a food law of its own. Let us modify and perfect the national law if necessary, and then have it adopted by every state in the country."

It is expected the benzoate of soda question will come up again on Wednesday, when four members of the referee board will speak. A committee of eleven experts will then submit a report embodying the results of an investigation by the referee board.

Bakers Approve Bureau's Action.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 24.—President Simon Hubig of Cincinnati, in his address opening the convention of the National Association of Master Bakers, approved everything the pure food bureau of the department of agriculture had done in reference to the use of benzoate of soda and preservatives.

Two propositions to be considered are to make loaves of bread weighing twenty-two ounces to be sold for 8 cents the country over, and to form an auxiliary organization for the purchase of flour in large quantities."

BROKER PERSCH IS RELEASED; BAIL OF $50,000 FURNISHED.

Another Held in Connection with New York Loan Is Arraigned Again and Bond Increased to $20,000.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Donald L. Persch, the curb broker arrested in connection with the Windsor Trust company $50,000 loan, was released from the Tombs this afternoon on $50,000 bail furnished by the United States Fidelity Guarantee company. The bail covers two indictments against Persch, one relating to the Joyce matter and the other to the Everett stock deal.

Walter L. Clarke, the note broker who was arrested in connection with the Joyce loan, was arraigned before Justice Mulqueen and his bail increased to $20,000. This was because the district attorney's office had learned he had been indicted for forgery in 1901.

At the same time Charles Katz was arraigned and the United States Fidelity Guarantee company again gave bond. In Katz's case the bail was $25,000. District Attorney Jerome this afternoon said there was some one "higher up" in whom the prosecutor's office at present was interested. Who this some one is or when there likely would be some action taken against him was not disclosed.

The examination of Stirling Birmingham, the Windsor Trust company employé charged with accepting $250 in connection with the Joyce loan, was continued this morning before Magistrate Barlow in the Tombs court.

SHOOTS WIFE AND SELF IN EAST

Chicago Salesman Attempts Murder and Suicide, but Fails.

HE IS NEAR TO DEATH.

Woman, Who Will Recover, Says He Asked for Money.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Harry Sommers Weems, a traveling salesman for the firm of the Debower-Chapline company, publishers, of Chicago, shot his wife twice tonight and then turned the weapon on himself, sending a bullet into his brain. He is barely alive at the Emergency hospital. She will recover.

The scene of the shooting was within a few feet of the McKinley monument. It occurred at 9:15 o'clock and was witnessed by several hundred persons. Weems had been stopping at a fashionable hotel in this city. His wife was visiting her mother, Mrs. E. B. Davis, a wealthy woman of Bradford, Pa.

This afternoon he called his wife by telephone and told her to hurry here. She came an hour before the shooting.

Gave Him $200 Recently.

"Where is that $200 I gave you a few days ago?" Mrs. Weems says she asked.

"Never mind the $200," he replied.

The woman said she informed her husband that she had no money and then he demanded her diamonds. These she refused to give him. He threatened to kill her then, she says, and she finally tamed him down and obtained the cartridges from his revolver. Later they quarreled again and she ran to the lobby of the hotel, getting a house officer to help her obtain her grip in the room. Then she started out looking for a room and was followed by her husband. The two quarreled again in the street and then he opened fire. The police found letters in Weems' pockets which indicate that the double tragedy had been premeditated.

Leaves Note for Employer.

One of the letters was addressed to E. W. Debower, care of the Debower-Chapline company. It read:

"Sorry, but it could not be helped. Take charge of my remains. HARRY."

There were other letters, one directing that a huge bunch of violets be divided on the coffins of himself and his wife. Mrs. Weems is well known in this city. She is beautiful and is known as a dog fancier. The Weems are middle aged people. About a year ago, Mrs. Weems told the police tonight, she woke up in a hotel in Denver and found her husband seated on the foot of the bed with a revolver leveled at her head.

She said he threatened to use a razor on her in Chicago after that and attempted to blow off her head in Detroit three weeks ago.

Shoots Cousin; Kills Himself.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Mabel Brooks, a pretty 15 year old girl, was shot and dangerously wounded by her cousin, Bert Mahron, 23 years old, who then sent a bullet through his brain, this afternoon. Mahron died a few hours later. His victim, who was wounded in the left cheek and in the back, will recover, the doctors say.

Unrequited love is given as the cause of the tragedy. Mahron, who had been visiting at the home of the girl's mother, Mrs. Minnie Brooks, 171 Austin avenue, was deeply attached to the girl, who is a niece of Detective Louis Kruse.

On account of the girl's youth she did not return the affection, and this made Mahron morose. Miss Brooks' relatives had tried to discourage the attentions of the young man, they say.

The shooting took place at the edge of a grove near Fernwood and New York avenues. Edmund Reickhoff, 16 years old, a son of former Judge George Gray, witnessed it.

Hoosier a Suicide in Gotham.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Sitting in a chair in his room at the Grand Union hotel, with an open bible resting in his lap, Homer Cassube, 32 years old, of Logansport, Ind., was found dead today. Part of his body was scalded by carbolic acid he had spilled as he drained a bottle of the poison.

A note addressed to his wife, Sue Cassube, who is a trained nurse at the State hospital at Cleveland, O., accused her of causing him the worry which prompted him to end his life.

Cassube arrived at the hotel yesterday afternoon. He had only a hand satchel with him, containing little beside a change of linen, a New Testament, and a Detroit college pin. He retired early last night and when the maid tried the door of his room this morning she found it locked. She waited until noon and then reported to the office.

House Detective Birmingham and one of the clerks forced the door. Two small vials, each labeled "carbolic acid," were on the floor at his side. The contents of one had been drained, the other was unopened. The father of the dead man was notified of the suicide, after which the body was removed to an undertaking establishment, from where it will be sent to Indiana.

Returns Verdict in Death Inquiry.

An open verdict was returned yesterday afternoon by the jury inquiring into the cause of the death of Frank H. Tibbits, 63 years old, who died last Friday. The verdict was that he came to his death from cerebral hemorrhages.

FIGHTS LOW TAXES; ONCE URGED THEM

AGENT FOR BIG CONCERN.

Request Refused, He Becomes Investigator of Board of Review's Methods.

Some facts relating to the legislative committee that has been investigating the Chicago tax boards came out at the session of the board of review yesterday.

Seven weeks ago State Representative Charles Lederer appeared before the reviewers to oppose an increase in the taxes of Sears, Roebuck & Co. In spite of his efforts the increase was ordered and two weeks later the Lederer committee of the legislature was appointed to investigate the conduct of the board.

This information came out yesterday after Sidney Adler, Lederer's law partner, appeared before the board and succeeded in obtaining a reduction of $112,775 in the real estate assessment of the big mail order house.

Representative Lederer, as a member of the firm of Adler, Lederer & Schoenbrun, receives a share of the retainer paid into its coffers for the services of its senior partner, and this fact alone aroused comment. It was not until later that members of the board of review disclosed that Lederer personally had attempted similar services some time ago.

Admits Urging Tax Reduction.

When the matter was put up to the representative he admitted he had appeared before the board, but did not consider himself in the category of tax agents. His appearance had been a favor to Mr. Adler, who could not be present at the time set by the board, and no fees beyond the annual retainer were paid to his firm or to him for his work.

He said it was no more than chance that led to the short lapse of time between the refusal of his requests by the board and his appointment as chairman of the investigating committee. He explained that he had forgotten who was the author of the resolution adopted by the revenue committee of the house for the creation of the subcommittee, that he had been asked by Chairman Charles L. Fieldstack to take the chairmanship, and that he had the matter under consideration two days.

He said he had appeared before the board in no other matters this year, but that "in years gone by" he had appeared several times. He added that he always had been treated courteously there and that he had "no ax to grind."

It was when Fred W. Upham of the board of review was asked if he knew of the connection between Adler and Lederer that the first disclosure of the investigator's own contact with the reviewers was told.

Sees Animus in Investigation.

"I didn't know Adler was before the board today," Mr. Upham said, "but Lederer appeared before us about the middle of July to oppose an increase of about $500,000 in the assessment against Sears, Roebuck & Co. He was turned down, and there you have the animus for this investigation.

"Speaker Shurtleff told me today that after Lederer's experience with the board he went down to Springfield red in the face. 'I'm going after them now,' was his threat, and just a little while later this committee came into existence.

"The speaker also told me the committee had no authority from the legislature or any other possible source. It has no more power than any five citizens who might get together for a similar purpose.

"There is no question about the animus behind the attack. It was Representative Fieldstack who declared publicly that the Sears-Roebuck increase was caused by the company's refusal to buy coal from the City Fuel company, a statement that led the company to call me up the next day to assure me that no representative of the City Fuel company ever had approached them. The origin of the committee is no mystery, but it is not worrying the board."

West Tells of Complaints.

Roy O. West was the board member who heard the complaints of both Lederer and Adler. When Lederer protested against the $500,000 increase West gave him two days in which to get facts to bring in opposition to the raise, and when he failed to produce them in that time the raise was ordered. Adler brought up the same item of business with a request that about $600,000 be cut off the $3,612,775 assessment. This was refused, but on his showing of a decrease in value a smaller cut was allowed him.

"When Mr. Lederer appeared," Mr. West said, "I confronted him with the figures of our experts—one of whom was Henry Lesch—and asked him if he had any facts with which to meet them. He had none, so I told him I would give him twenty-four or forty-eight hours in which to get them if he wished. When he appeared again he said he had no facts and the increase stood."

Before these interviews Mr. Lederer had said that he received a share of the retainer paid by Sears, Roebuck & Co. as it went to the firm's general fund; and he was asked:

"Doesn't that make you a tax agent?"

"O, no," he replied. "It was Mr. Adler who appeared as the agent."

When he again was called up on the telephone and was asked about his own appearance before the board, he said he went there only because his senior partner had a court engagement at the hour set.

Representative Lederer also said that a showing of the coincidence between his disappointment at the hands of the board and the appointment of his committee would not deter him from his purpose of "prosecuting any man that is guilty."

Traction Company Taxes Cut.

The Chicago Consolidated Traction company was the principal corporation whose assessment was considered by the board of review. Inasmuch as the corporation is in the hands of a receiver and no work of rehabilitation has been done, the assessment was reduced from $3,305,681 to $1,890,676.

Officials of the Calumet Elevator company declared they would take the matter of their assessment into the courts again this year before they would pay on the assessment of $300,000 levied by the assessors. The board refused to change the assessment or reduce the penalty of $150,000 for failure to file schedules.

An assessment against the Del Prado hotel was increased from $8,639 to $20,000. An error in the schedule filed resulted in the decrease of the assessment of Plympton, Gardiner & Co., bankers, 232 La Salle street, from $104,316 to $57,088.

Tells of Reduced Assessment.

At the meeting of the Lederer committee H. B. Riley, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, asked an opportunity to answer charges that had been made at Springfield to the effect that a reduction of $500,000 in the assessment of the corporation in 1907 was made at the same time the company began buying coal from the City Fuel company.

"We did change fuel companies at that time," said Mr. Riley, "but we did it to get a better and cheaper grade of coal. The reduction was made because certain securities were assessed doubly as personal property and as real estate."

Representative Fieldstack asked Assistant Secretary Beck of the Barber Asphalt company if F. D. Meacham of the board of review was connected with the paving concern. Beck replied in the negative.

"Who reduced the assessment of the Barber Asphalt company $200,000 in 1907?" asked Mr. Fieldstack.

"Mr. Meacham," was Mr. Beck's reply.

Mr. Meacham, when asked later about his connection with this company, denied being a stockholder and said he had done no business with the paving concern for five years.

BANDIT A JOLLY FELLOW

SERVES SEVERAL DRINKS.

Escapes with Contents of Cash Register, Diamonds, and Watches.

For half an hour last evening a lone highwayman held undisputed possession of the saloon of Robert Kjeldsen, 382 Kedzie avenue, serving drinks to four customers, who came in at different intervals, and then leaving the place laden with plunder while the terror stricken proprietor and his acquaintances fought for a breathing space inside of the ice box.

Police of the Fillmore street station are looking for the robber, but up to an early hour this morning no arrests had been made.

Detectives at work on the case learned that Kjeldsen, Henry Rickard, and A. J. Cohen, who lives at Kedzie avenue and Lexington street, and two other men were robbed of considerable money and jewelry. Rickard was forced to give up $22 and a diamond stud and Cohen lost $10 and a valuable watch. The names of the other two men were not obtained because of their hurried departure on being released from the ice box.

Kjeldsen was alone at the time that the young bandit entered and only a minute elapsed before he was securely locked in the cooler, his money and diamond ring having been taken away.

Robber a Humorist.

"You're all right, Robert," said the robber, "but it will pay you to keep quiet. I want to play a little tune on this cash register just now and don't feel like being disturbed."

While he was robbing the register Cohen entered and, taking in the situation at a glance, attempted to dash out again. Before he had gone five steps he was halted by the robber, who threatened to fire.

Fearing that the robber would shoot, Cohen raised his arms above his head and stood while his pockets were searched. Then he was marched to where Kjeldsen was held prisoner.

Rickard was the next victim, but he had barely time to get to the bar before a revolver was pointed at his head and he was ordered to keep quiet. Only a minute was lost in searching his pockets, and with the bandit close at his heels he led the way to the icebox.

"What'll you have, gents?" was the exclamation that greeted the last victims as they sauntered into the saloon together. The robber had again reached the cash register and was stuffing the loose change and bills into his pockets when he was interrupted by their arrival.

Marched Into Icebox.

The robber reached for two glasses, and while the beer was foaming into them flashed his revolver above the bar. Despite their protests both were searched and quietly marched to where Kjeldsen and his companions were breathlessly waiting.

After thanking them for their "donations," the robber opened a side door and disappeared in Lexington street.

"The robber was the most gentlemanly of his kind that I ever had the pleasure of meeting," said Kjeldsen. "I was afraid that one of my customers would resist and that a shooting would follow. It is a pleasure to meet fellows who know how to keep cool, especially when they are in such a hazardous calling. Of course I don't care to have another experience, for we were nearly frozen before we gained our freedom."

CHICAGO NOT CLEANEST CITY, JUST BIGGEST LAUNDRY CENTER

Laundrymen Give Many Facts Concerning Business Here When Asking Protection Against Chinese Cleaners.

Speakers at the session of the National Laundrymen's association yesterday, in presenting resolutions asking for protection against the competition and encroachment of Chinese in the laundry business, declared that Chicago is unquestionably the greatest laundry city in the world.

The following facts were brought out: Chicago's weekly wash is greater than that of any other city; Chicago manufactures more laundry machinery, and uses more soap, towels, and cleansing materials than any other city; and Chicago maintains more Chinese laundries than any other city in the United States.

One of the speakers, Charles Werner of the Imperial laundry of Chicago, said regarding the Chinese laundries: "The Chinaman pays no water tax, does no advertising, and is free from many other charges that go to make up the expenses of his American competitor."

The advantages of modern advertising were set forth by Frank Porter of Kansas City, Mo. A. F. Sheldon of Chicago discussed business principles.

Resolutions were passed asking the various state legislatures to enact laws that will afford American laundrymen protection against the competition of the Chinese.

The delegates and their wives were entertained at Bismarck garden in the evening. Officers will be elected today, and the convention will be concluded with a lake trip tonight.

WOMAN VANISHES ON PIER

Grief Stricken Man Fears Fiancee Was Accidentally Drowned.

WATER DRAGGED IN VAIN.

Police Asked to Search for Missing Boy—Girl Returns Home.

The disappearance of Miss Emily Sharringhausen almost in sight of the man to whom she was to have been married on Sept. 1 is a mystery the police are trying to unravel. The young woman was last seen while on the government pier at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning with the man to whom she is engaged, James Begnires.

Edward Sully accompanied the couple.

Miss Sharringhausen said she was going to the lighthouse and would return soon. When she did not come back the men started out to find her.

Goes to Lighthouse.

Both men declare that it would have been impossible for any one to leave the pier without either of them seeing the boat in which the person must have ridden.

The only explanation that either of the men can offer is the probability that Miss Sharringhausen fell into the lake and drowned.

At the time of the disappearance Miss Sharringhausen wore two diamond rings and a gold watch. Bagnires, who is almost prostrated, fears that she was robbed and then thrown into the lake. She lived at 93 North Clark street.

Search for Missing Boy.

Search for Ray Coffin of Nevada, Ia., who was thought to have met his grandmother, Mrs. T. Coffin of Rockford, Ill., at the Northwestern depot last Saturday failed to reveal any trace of him. Mrs. Coffin came to Chicago and reported the case to detective headquarters.

Kenneth Schnarr, the 4-year-old boy who ran away from his home, 754 Flournoy street, in the morning, was found late in the afternoon by a policeman. It was feared that he had been kidnaped, but he told a story of wandering for miles about the streets.

Maryanna Maryota, who is 16 years old and lives at 133 Twenty-third street, was reported missing in the morning. While all of her relatives, eighteen in number, were at the police station reporting her disappearance she returned home.

PLAN FIELD DAY BENEFIT FOR ST. VINCENT'S ASYLUM.

Catholic Societies of the City Will Join in Effort to Aid Charitable Institution for Infants.

Delegates from the various Catholic societies of Chicago met last night at St. Vincent's Infant asylum, 191 La Salle avenue, and organized a central committee to arrange for a field day for foundlings for the benefit of the charitable institution.

Charles Chambers was made chairman of the permanent committee and Anthony Czarnecki was selected secretary. It is planned to hold a field day and military carnival at the south side baseball park Saturday, Sept. 26.

Preceding the appointment of committees Dr. F. W. Belknap told something of the work that the sisters in charge of the home are doing for the orphans and foundlings of the city.

Just what the field day program will be has not been determined, except that it will include a baseball game, field sports of various kinds, and military and police drills.

A committee to arrange the program was appointed, composed of City Clerk Francis Connery, W. D. Munhall, John B. Wieklinski, Inspector Stephen K. Healy, Fire Marshall James Horan, Anthony Czarnecki, and James T. O'Malley.

Among the organizations represented in the movement are the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Catholic Benevolent legion, the Gaelic league, the Polish Turners, and Catholic societies among the Germans, French, Bohemians, and Italians.

Archbishop Quigley will ask that the field day program be announced from all the Catholic pulpits in the city and Protestant churches also will be asked to assist to advertise the benefit.

ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR.

Retailers' Commercial Union Holds Annual Meeting—Association Has for Purpose "Collective Buying."

At the annual meeting of the Retailers' Commercial union, held in the Grand Pacific hotel last night, the following officers were elected:

The association has for its purpose "collective buying." The next meeting will be held in Chicago next February.

Blame Injury Upon a Fight.

Albert Asgars is in Mercy hospital, where he is believed to be suffering from a fractured skull resulting from a fight with Walter Warneck. Both men are employed by a market house.

CHARGES STARTLE IN DR. BIEHN CASE

BIAS IN TESTS ALLEGED.

Neglect of Duty and False Reports of Analyses Are Other Accusations.

The city hall was startled yesterday when a bill of particulars of the accusations against Dr. J. F. Biehn, the suspended director of the municipal laboratory, was made public with an inkling of some of the evidence in support of them.

What was regarded as the most astonishing disclosure was that there will be presented to the civil service commission when the bacteriologist has his hearing next Monday several checks indorsed by him and made out by the manager of a company whose products needed Dr. Biehn's approval before they were accepted by the health department.

In the bill of particulars, beside specifications of the charges of absence without leave and similar offenses, it is set up that Dr. Biehn reported falsely on analyses made under his direction and that he disobeyed orders by issuing certificates to the proprietors of patent medicines.

The checks that will be placed in evidence are signed by Dr. H. Welcker, head of the Fluid Vaccine company of Milwaukee, which supplies much of the vaccine used by the health department. They are for amounts as high as $150 and are said to appear to represent payments made at regular intervals.

Statement of Dr. Biehn.

Dr. Biehn refused to explain the transactions in which the checks were used, and limited his comment on the bill of particulars to the following typewritten statement issued from the office of his attorney, Robert Redfield.

"When my case comes up for hearing before the civil service commission I shall show that every dollar which I have received outside of my salary was received in payment for professional work done by me at my private laboratory after working hours.

"As to my right to work for outside compensation after working hours, I have the precedent established for me by my predecessors in office, followed, also, by the present commissioner of health."

This innuendo, when reported to Dr. Evans, failed to arouse him from the silence he has maintained since he suspended Dr. Biehn a month ago.

"I said nothing when it was asserted that this case was an outgrowth of the debate over pasteurized milk, and I shall continue to be silent now when this showing of the nature of the charges proves the baselessness of those assertions," he said. "This case is being handled in the correct manner—that is, by the law department."

Neglect of Tests Alleged.

The first and fourth charges were regarded as the most sensational of the set. They follow:

"1. That said Dr. J. F. Biehn had neglected his duty in that from Jan. 1, 1909, to July 30, 1909, he himself neglected to test, or to have those working under him test, the materials purchased by the department of health with a view of determining whether those materials, to-wit: formalin and other chemicals supplied to the department of health, were of the grade contracted for or accepted as standard; that he failed properly to test the antitoxin and vaccine with the view of determining whether they were free from harmful bacteria and of the strength claimed by the sellers; and that for such tests of vaccine made during the last three years he has accepted various sums of money from the manufacturers who supplied the department; that he did not properly control diagnoses as required in the laboratory, and that, although the work of superintending the laboratory occupied but one to three hours a day, he failed to do any original work.

"4. That on June 10, 1908, Dr. J. F. Biehn issued to the Parker Chemical company, manufacturers of dioso, a certificate as to the efficiency of dioso, which upon subsequent examination was found falsely to state the facts; that this certificate was issued after Dr. J. F. Biehn had been repeatedly instructed by the head of the department not to issue certificates to anything, and the result of this certificate and the connection in which it has been circulated is to seriously harm the reputation of the laboratory of the city of Chicago."

Bias in Analyses Intimated.

The fifth also contains an intimation that the chemist was biased in the reports he made of his analyses. This read:

"5. That the said Dr. J. F. Biehn in September, 1908, made a report on the condition of Lake Michigan water in situ, and that we can find no evidence in the laboratory of any examinations sufficient in number or in other details to warrant the conclusions shown in that article; that he in November, 1907, wrote an article on oysters, and that we cannot find any records in the laboratory from which the conclusions of that article could be drawn; that in June, 1909, he reported to the city collector that bevo contained 2 per cent alcohol, and that subsequent examinations repeatedly made have shown that it contains less than five-tenths of 1 per cent alcohol; that in 1908 he reported that our formalin purchased by the health department did not contain 40 per cent gas, and that he subsequently reported that it did contain 40 per cent gas."

Absent Often Without Leave.

The charge of absenting himself without leave was elaborated in the bill by several different classes of offenses under this head. One was that he gave several hours a day during the winter season to teaching in a medical college; another was that he failed to obey instructions to appear before the council committee on health without excuse; a third was that he was late in reaching the laboratories in the morning, and a fourth that he frequently spent two or three hours at noontime in clubs, saloons, and restaurants.

The charge of incompetency was supported by a statement that under his régime the annual cost of laboratory repairs was from $300 to $500 and that it should not have been more than $100. It also was stated that he employed two milk testers to do the work now done by one; that he wasted material; that he did not divide the laboratory work equally among his assistants; that his reports were slow, and that his records are incomplete and not well kept.

THROWS PICKAX INTO CAR.

Driver Injures Two Trolley Passengers After a Dispute with the Motorman.

A dispute between a motorman on a north bound Wentworth avenue car and a teamster as to their respective right to the car tracks terminated last evening at Polk and Clark streets when the driver of the wagon threw a pickax through the car window, injuring two passengers.

The teamster hurried back to his wagon and, whipping up his horses, escaped before the arrival of the police.

The injured passengers were men and they were cared for at a drug store before the police learned their names.

Her Life Lost in Auto Crash.

Miss Genevieve Rabig.

Miss Genevieve Rabig, instructor of elocution at St. Xavier's academy, and Mrs. George Granger were killed and five others were injured through their automobile being struck by a Big Four train at Kankakee, Ill., on Monday. The party were on their way to Mount Grove cemetery. P. A. Rabig, a real estate and insurance agent at 6836 Ashland avenue, is the father of the young woman.

AUTO RUNS DOWN SMALL BOY

FIVE SPEEDERS ARRESTED.

Police Continue Crusade Against Reckless Driving in City.

An 8 year old boy, Ray Mobeck, was knocked down and seriously injured by an automobile at Clark street and North avenue last night. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital by the police of the Hudson avenue station, where it was found that his right thigh was fractured. He lives at 834 North Oakley avenue.

The boy had been walking on the south side of North avenue and was crossing Clark street to get a North avenue car. As he crossed back of a south bound car he noticed a car approaching from the opposite direction and was obliged to run to avoid it.

Ran in Front of Auto.

In doing so he ran directly in front of the automobile, which was coming south on Clark street.

The owner, L. L. Cook, 1822 Arlington place, who was driving, applied the emergency brake, but was unable to stop the machine before it struck the boy. The lad was carried into a drug store, from which the police were summoned.

Five Arrests Made.

Park policemen who have been waging a war against chauffeurs and owners of automobiles who exceed the speed limit continued to be on the alert during the day, and as a result five alleged violators will have to answer in court this morning.

All those arrested are said to have been driving their machines at a speed of more than twenty miles an hour. Those arrested were Walter Grossman, a chauffeur; Alexander Huff, a chauffeur; Morris Nelson, who was driving his own automobile; Edward Carroll, owner of the auto he was driving; and P. R. Meichert, a salesman.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; ONE KILLED.

Dr. Fay E. Edwards Victim of Accident Near Toulon, Ill.—Aged Father Also Hurt.

AUTO FATALITIES OF THE YEAR........145

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 24.—Dr. Fay E. Edwards, 27 years old, was instantly killed and his father, Dr. J. E. Edwards, aged 70, was probably fatally injured when a fast Chicago and Northwestern passenger train struck their automobile on a crossing near Toulon, thirty miles north of here, this afternoon. The aged physician was internally hurt and is not expected to live. He is one of the wealthiest men in Stark county.

OTHER AUTO ACCIDENTS.

Kansas City, Aug. 24.—Thomas B. Gilbert, ex-mayor of Kansas City, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. William Fenner of Butte, Mont., were severely injured near this city last night when the motor car in which they were riding turned turtle and pinned them beneath it. Mrs. Gilbert and her three daughters escaped with slight injuries.

CALL TRUCE IN FLAT FIGHT, BUT SUIT TO BE RENEWED.

Injunction Dissolved—Oak Park Residents Are Aroused Over Sign Put Up by Builder.

Judge McWilliams in the Circuit court yesterday dissolved the temporary injunction restraining Helen McGinnis of 1852 Diversey boulevard from erecting a flat building in the exclusive residence district of North Edgewater.

The dissolving of the injunction, according to Attorney Dennis E. Sullivan, who represents the North Edgewater Improvement association, was effected after the parties had agreed that the matter would be fought out later after the court vacations.

"There is an agreement that work will be discontinued on the building till after the court vacations," Attorney Sullivan said last night.

Residents of Oak Park who live near Chicago and Kenilworth avenues are aroused because a large sign at the intersection of those streets announces that a store and flat building will be erected on the site by J. W. McDonald of Glencoe.

GERMAN "HOME COMING" DAY.

Societies Here Will Celebrate Anniversary of Arrival of First Immigrants.

The German societies of this city have received assurance that more than 500 German organizations from surrounding cities and adjacent states will participate in the celebration on Oct. 3 of the great "homecoming day." This marks the passing of more than two centuries and a quarter since the first sons of the fatherland made this the land of their adoption. Extensive arrangements have been made to insure the success of what will be a German day. Representative Germans have been selected to direct the affair. Franz Amberg is in charge.

DIRECT PRIMARY UNDER HOT FIRE

Speaker Shurtleff and Judge Rinaker Tell New Yorkers Its Defects.

FAILS IN LARGE CITIES.

Voters Unable to Know Qualifications of the Candidates for Office.

What Charles E. Merriam, alderman of Chicago and professor of the University of Chicago, had to say in favor of direct primaries on Monday was gainsaid yesterday by Edward D. Shurtleff, speaker of the house of representatives, and by County Judge Rinaker.

Speaker Shurtleff spoke from a partisan standpoint, but Judge Rinaker, who is the head of the election machinery of Cook county by virtue of his office, gave a calm judicial opinion.

Judge Rinaker has been on the job of interpreting election laws for the last five or six years and during that time has had four distinct primary laws to deal with. The last one was drafted in 1908, at a special session of the legislature, and recently was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court.

For the edification and instruction of the New York legislature committee, which has been here for the purpose of studying primary and election laws, the judge presented a compilation of figures from the election board's office, showing the number of votes cast in various primary elections, as compared with the registration and the votes cast in regular elections.

Shows Defects in the Law.

After showing by statistics that the vote at the primary election in 1906, before the direct primary law was passed, was 39 per cent of the total registration, and 42 per cent of the total vote polled at the regular election, and that at the August primaries of 1908, when nominations were made for governor and the hot fight was on between Gov. Deneen and Richard Yates, the total primary vote polled was 52 per cent of the registration and 56 per cent of the total vote cast at the November election, Judge Rinaker went on to show how the direct primary fell down in the judicial election last April.

According to his figures, the total vote polled at the judicial primary was 18 per cent of the total registration and 42 per cent of the total vote cast at the regular election.

"In my opinion," he said, "there has been no fair and competent test of the direct primary in this city, for the reason that an intelligent choice of candidates on the part of the voters is impossible. In order to make an intelligent choice, the voter must have some means of knowing the candidate, but no method was provided by the last direct primary law under which we acted.

Voters Lack Information.

In answer to other questions he explained the difficulty in a populous community of finding out anything about the qualifications of the respective candidates for office.

"In Cook county," he said, "there are in the neighborhood of 450,000 men over 21 years of age. Now, it is next to impossible for any one man to know much about more than 1,500 or 2,000 men in the community in which he lives, and no method has been devised by which a voter can have an opportunity to learn in a big community like this much about the merits of the candidates. So when he is put in the position of making a compulsory choice he knows little about the men he is to choose from. It seems to me that the chief thing that the voters suffer from is a lack of information."

The New York committee was not cognizant of the great efforts made by the Municipal Voters' league and the Illinois Legislative Voters' league to inform voters regarding the qualifications of the various candidates on city and state tickets.

Cites Late Judicial Election.

"The vote at the primary election of last April shows that for some reason the direct primary did not do what we were told it would do," the judge said. "It was a judicial election and there was nothing to confuse the voters, yet the total primary vote cast was less than 18 per cent of the total registration. The voter did not know whom to vote for and there was no method given him for making an intelligent selection.

"The direct primary is a good thing for the man who has made his reputation, but it is a bad thing for the young man who may be equally honest and capable, but who has had no chance to make a name for himself. He has a hard path to travel."

"Can't he advertise himself?" asked Attorney Knapp.

"Yes, if he has lots of money," replied Judge Rinaker.

"Did the judicial candidates make a personal campaign of advertising and that sort of thing, and did it cost them individually much money?" Mr. Knapp asked.

"I can only answer that from heresay," the judge replied, "but I am told some of them spent a lot of money, and if there is any evidence in the posters that some of them put out, billing the whole town, I should say the evidence is against them."

Shurtleff Assails the Law.

Speaker Shurtleff was openly against the direct primary.

"In the actual workout," he said, "the direct plurality law, such as we worked under last year, is a rich man's law and an office holder's law. Personally, that part of it which is an office holder's law I ought to like, but it is true that a man who has been in public office and with whose name the voters are familiar has all the advantage, and a new man cannot compete with such a candidate upon anything like equal terms."

The committee left in the evening for Indianapolis and will hold a session there today, going to Detroit for a session on Friday, and thence back to New York. So far it has taken more than 3,000 typewritten pages of testimony, and from this testimony it will recommend to the New York legislature either an amendment to the present election law or draft a substitute law, which may or may not include the direct primary feature. Chairman Meade would not say whether the committee was for or against the direct primary. "We haven't got to the point of discussing that question yet," he said.

CHICAGO A WINNER IN THE RATE CASE

Danger of Discrimination Against Local Merchants Removed by Decision.

ONE JUDGE DISSENTS.

Ruling Sustains Railroads and Strikes Blow at Interstate Commerce Commission.

A crushing blow at the powers of the interstate commerce commission, an important commercial victory for Chicago and the trade distributing centers of the middle west, and a vindication of the present rate making system of the western railroads are contained in the decision rendered yesterday in the Missouri river rate case by Judges Grosscup, Baker, and Kohlsaat of the United States Circuit court.

The decision of the court which prevents the commission from enforcing by its rate reduction orders the principle that through rates shall be less than the sums of the locals was hailed with delight not only by the railroads. They foresaw, if the commission were upheld, a loss of millions in revenue and a disturbance of rate relations established since the western railroads were built.

Chicago shippers rejoiced also, because they would have been placed at a serious disadvantage in feright rates as compared with New York and the seaboard cities on the one hand and Kansas City, Omaha, and the Missouri river cities on the other hand.

While the direct effect of the decision is to prevent the commission from enforcing its order reducing the rates on through traffic from the east to the Missouri, by far the most important aspect of the court's ruling is in its curtailment of the powers which have been assumed by the commission. For this reason the commission will carry its fight at once to the Supreme court of the United States in the effort to defend its position.

One Judge Dissents.

In their conclusion the judges were not unanimous, Judge Baker dissenting. In the majority opinion of the court, written by Judge Grosscup, it is held that the commission's rate making power is limited by the interstate commerce act to jurisdiction over the reasonableness or unreasonableness of a rate itself, but that the initiative in rate making belongs to the carriers.

"We are not prepared to say," writes Judge Grosscup," that the commission has not power to enter upon a plan toward a system of rates wherein the rates for longer and shorter hauls will taper downward according to distance, provided such tapering is both comprehensively and systematically applied —applied with the design of carrying out what may be the economic fact that it is worth something less per mile to carry freight long distances than short distances.

"But," the court says, "it does not follow that power of that character includes power, by the use of differentials, to artificially divide up the country into trade zones tributary to given trade and manufacturing centers, the commission, in such cases, having as a result power to predetermine what the trade and manufacturing centers shall be, for such a power, vaster than any that one body of men has heretofore exercised, though wisely exerted in specific instances, would be putting in the hands of the commission the general power of life and death over every trade and manufacturing center in the United States."

An Artificial Hand.

"It must be understood, however, that these orders of the commission are enjoined solely because, in our judgment, they lay upon the commerce and manufacturing of the localities affected an artificial hand that congress never intended should be put forth, and are, therefore, outside the power conferred on the commission by congress, for with the question of a reduction in rates, or a readjustment of rates, from which such artificial results have been eliminated, we are not now dealing."

Judge Baker in his dissenting opinion confines himself largely to direct questions of law and says that the commission may lower rates which it finds unreasonable, in its own discretion. No evidence, he says, shows that the reduced rates are not compensatory, and the claim of the railroads and the intervening shippers of discrimination against the intermediate cities he finds baseless.

"If congress cannot constitutionally make a general declaration that the rates shall be reasonable and not justly discriminatory," he says, "and then trust to an executive body to hear evidence and decide questions of fact respecting reasonableness and just discrimination, the power of congress over rates would be worthless, for it would be utterly impracticable for congress itself to make enactments to cover the specific instances."

Temporary Injunction.

Besides granting the permanent decision in the Missouri river case, the court also granted a temporary injunction in the Denver rate case, which is based upon similar principles. This case, involving the through rates from Chicago and St. Louis to Denver, is pending final decision on a demurrer filed by the interstate commerce commission.

The case involving the rates to Des Moines, Ia., in which the Rock Island last week asked a temporary injunction, is included in the same classification and is equally affected by the Missouri decision.

The action against the commission in which the injunction was granted was brought by five roads—the Rock Island, the Burlington, the Milwaukee, the Northwestern, and the Great Western. These roads were the original defendants before the commission on a complaint brought by the Burnham-Hanna-Munger Dry Goods company of Kansas City and other Missouri river jobbers, alleging that their through rate—$1.47 per hundred pounds on first class business—was too high as compared with the rates to St. Paul.

The Missouri river rate is made up of 87 cents, the rate from the seaboard to the Mississippi river, plus 60 cents, the rate from the Mississippi to the Missouri. The commisson held that the St. Paul rates were reasonable because they were controlled by water and Canadan competition, but reduced the Missouri river rate by ordering a 9 cent reduction in the proportion between the rivers only when applied to through traffic.

Cities at Disadvantage.

This imposed a disadvantage of 9 cents upon Chicago, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, and in fact all cities except those at the extremes of the rates.

"It is apparent," says Judge Grosscup, "that whatever may be the principle on which the orders are based, the effect will be by means of the differentials named, to protect to a certain degree the Missouri river jobbers and manufacturers within a given zone of territory against the jobbers and manufacturers in the Central Traffic association territory, and to protect, to a certain degree, the Denver jobbers and manufacturers within a given zone of territory against the competition of the Missouri river jobbers and manufacturers, as also to open up to the Atlantic seaboard in its trade with both the Missouri river and Denver zones of territory the advantages contained in the differentials against the competition of both the intervening Central Traffic association territory and the Missouri river territory."

Railroads Are Upheld.

The contention of the railroads, which is completely upheld by the court, was that the commission's order reducing the rates to the Missouri river alone constituted a discrimination against all other cities whose rates were not reduced, and that it disturbed a ratemaking principle in effect for forty years based upon natural and commercial conditions and which had been responsible for the development of present commercial centers.

When the first roads were built to the Mississippi river they declared lower rates were made to the terminals than to intermediate points on account of competitive conditions, and at such points cities were developed. Similar conditions prevailed when the roads were extended to the Missouri river and later to Denver and the through rates were made by adding the earlier through rates to these "basing lines," now before local rates.

This system has been adhered to throughout the west, it was asserted, and to substitute for it new through rates across all the basing lines would work to the disadvantage not only of the cities on the basing lines, but also of all intermediate points, with the ultimate result that only New York and San Francisco would profit.

Decision Long Awaited.

The decision has been anxiously awaited by both railroads and shippers for many months.

"The effect of the decision," said William D. McHugh, who, with C. C. H. Fyffe, conducted the case for the railroads, "is to establish the principle that the railroad companies have the right to maintain rates which are reasonable, non-discriminatory and in conformity to law without interference of any arbitrary principle.

"The interstate commerce commission has no power to interfere with a rate or rate adjustment that is lawful in itself. Here was an adjustment of rates not in violation of any statute, but the commission attempted to overturn it, not on grounds of unreasonableness, but because it was in conflict with the commission's ideas as to what a rate system should be."

E. B. Boyd, assistant to the vice-president in charge of traffic of the Gould system, who was the principal traffic expert on the railroads' side of the case, said:

"The decision is a good thing, not only for Chicago and the Mississippi valley, but also for the entire country. It is of vital interest to all of the distributing sections and the larger markets by insuring to them the knowledge that the natural advantages they may possess are to be recognized and that judgment displayed by business men in locating at any given point after a careful examination of conditions is not to be nullified to establish an artificial theory.

Result of Conditions.

"The railroads did not make these rates of their own volition. They are the result of natural geographical conditions and the needs of the shippers and the interstate commerce commission cannot upset them by an artificial theory."

John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, was jubilant over the decision. He said:

"The effect of the decision will be to give this territory an opportunity to compete with other manufacturers elsewhere on an equitable basis, instead of being forced to cut prices to offset unfair freight rates made in favor of the shippers of the seaboard or the Missouri river."

James Simpson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., and chairman of the traffic committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which opposed the original demands of the Missouri river jobbers, was more reticent, but appeared pleased with the decision.

"We intervened in the case on the side of the railroads," he said, "and I think that outlines our position in the case. However, I do not care to express a further opinion until I have read the full text of the decision."

F. B. Montgomery, chairman of the traffic committee of the Manufacturers' association, said the decision would undoubtedly be of material benefit to Chicago business interests.

Retain Existing Rates.

The decision of the court permits the railroads to retain the existing rate from the Atlantic seaboard to the Missouri river of $1.47 per hundred. In the Denver case the joint rate now in force from Chicago to Denver on first class freight is $2.05 and from St. Louis to Denver $1.80. The commission directed a reduction of these rates to $1.80 and $1.62.

In granting the injunction sought by the roads the court says that the legal contest before them is much more than a contest between railroads and shippers; it is a struggle between the commercial and manufacturing interests of the Missouri river cities and of the Atlantic seaboard on the one side, as their interests are identical, and the commercial and manufacturing interests of the central traffic territory on the other side.

The main argument of the railroads was that by reducing the rates between the rivers as applied only to the through traffic the commission was discriminating against all other than through shipments, as it would admittedly cost the Chicago merchant more to ship from New York at local rates, transfer the goods to a western road, and pay another local rate in distributing his goods to a western city in competition with a Missouri river jobber.

Discusses Cost of Carriage.

In his decision Judge Grosscup says on this point:

"There is no testimony that the cost of the carriage from the Atlantic seaboard to the Missouri river, or the cost of the carriage from Chicago and St. Louis to Denver, is less on through traffic than on traffic that goes first to the Mississippi river and then is reshipped to Denver. On the contrary, it was stated in the argument, and not controverted, in the case of shipments from the Atlantic seaboard to the Missouri river cities, that the cost of service is greater on reshipments than on through shipments. Cost of service, therefore, is neither the principle on which the commission's orders are grounded nor the purpose for such orders.

"When we turn to the interstate commerce act we find that congress has left the fixing of rates initially, not with the commission but with the railroads. The sole power conferred upon the commission is in a given case of a rate being found unreasonable in the amount charged, or unduly discriminatory between individuals or localities, to command the carrier to desist, and as a corrective to name a rate in the place of such given rate that will not be unreasonably or unduly discriminatory.

"These provisions, as we read them, were designed, so far as localities are a factor in the question, to prevent localities from being built up or destroyed by artificial rates, not to continue the policy that, by artificial rates, builds up and destroys localities—to take away from the railroads the power of life and death over manufacturers and commerce of given localities, not to transfer such power to the commission or any other single body of men."

Viewed in Washington.

The decision is believed in Washington to make the most serious breach in the Hepburn act since its enactment. Officials of the interstate commerce commission made no secret of this. They regard the case as the most important since the amended interstate commerce act took effect, and one of the most important since the organization of the commission in 1887.

As viewed by experts of the commission the decision goes to the heart of the power of the commission—that is, its power to prescribe rates. The interstate commerce commission will take the case to the circuit court of appeals as soon as possible, and in any event it will reach the supreme court of the United States for final adjudication.

NEW BEAUTY SEEN IN JAIN TEMPLES

Certainly the beauties of the windows of the mosques of Sidi Said I shall never forget. The groves of palm trees, moved by the wind, depicted in delicate stone tracery, is something which one could not believe possible without seeing. Of one of these windows it is even said that its beauty surpasses anything at Agra or Delhi.

Of the other glorious mosques and the superb minarets I have no time to say a word, but I cannot pass over the impression produced by a comparatively modern temple built about fifty years ago, of white marble, surmounted by fifty wonderful domes. It is the Jain temple and is especially refreshing, for it is an evidence that native architecture has not yet been entirely subdued through English rule.

Holiday Stops All Industry.

Wednesday. — Leaving Ahmedebad early this morning, after a night with heat, mosquitoes, and the noise of many big drums, we traveled till 1 o'clock across a semi-arid plain. Here and there were patches of grain, ripening or being harvested; a very level country, like western Kansas, but devoid of color—smoky, ashy gray. Few trees and irregularly scattered fences made of growing cactus. Streams nearly or quite dry. All business suspended, as this is a holiday.

Crowds of gayly dressed men and women everywhere, singing and beating drums. Burton, United States Indian agent, formerly in charge of the Hopi Indians of Arizona, would be scandalized in India—children naked, men with a loin cloth and women with bare legs and abdomens. The men are all turbaned and I have seen a thousand different kinds. The men we have seen today are much besmeared on the face and hands with a red vermilion and perfumed with camphor; many are drunk.

We saw villages of straw houses with elongated domes, on stone foundations, side by side like cells in a beehive. It is easily seen that a wheat failure spells famine. There is much plague here and there, over one hundred deaths a day in Bombay, more in a town we shall visit tomorrow. No one seems to mind, the bodies are burned at once on funeral pyres, the regular Hindu custom.

Monkeys and Hindus Thick.

We pass countless monkeys, big ones scampering over the ground or in trees, tame as chickens, often a whole treeful of them, and many beautiful birds. We took our breakfast at 11:30 in the dining car, served by barefooted, beturbaned Hindus, as we were at the Taj Mahal, the best in India. The country becomes even more barren and rugged, sharp pointed mountains 6,000 feet high loom up on either side. The plain now contains many almost leafless cotton trees, covered with a rank mass of huge blossoms of fiery red.

At 1 o'clock we halt at Abu Road, a small town. Luncheon at the railway station, and at 1:30 o'clock we started on a heavy two wheeled cart, with two horses and a barefooted, tall, Rajput driver, over a good road. Soon we leave the plain and begin to ascend Mt. Abu, 5,000 feet high. The road is a grand one, finely built, weaving and zigzagging back and forth along the arid mountain.

We changed horses four times and in three hours were at Mount Abu, a lovely valley in the center of the mountains. But at once our troubles began. We were not up here to see the lovely valleys tucked in among the mountains or beautiful little lakes, nor were we interested in the headquarters of the Rajputana administration, nor a near-by hot water resort and sanitarium for the Euroean troops.

Hard Climb to Dilwarra Temples.

What we wanted to see were the Dilwarra temples, said to be the finest Jain temples in the world, and one of the most remarkable sights in all India. Murray told us we would need a pass to see the temples, but did not tell us where we could obtain one. Our time was short, for we proposed to return to Abu road tonight. Leaping from our tonga, we inquired the way to the office of the magistrate. This was no easy matter, for the natives were all drunk in celebration of the same great festival which we saw yesterday in Ahmedebad.

The magistrate's office was locked; a legal holiday. After several vain attempts we found his house, explained the nature of our errand, and he frankly told us that it was not only too late to see the temples, but, even if we could see them, we could not make the mountain ascent after night, for no one was allowed on the road after dark.

We implored; he finally relented and wrote out the pass, but warned us that we might have difficulty in gaining admission, because it was not a legal form, but told us that if we were back by 5 he would grant us a permit to use the mountain road. Thus armed, we set out by a hard trail for the two-mile walk to the temples. Our unusual looking pass would not have admitted us, but Mr. Goll had thoughtfully provided us with a letter to the keeper of the temples whom he knew. This proved efficacious.

Jain Temple Most Beautiful.

We spent an hour in open mouthed and wide eyed astonishment and admiration at this marvel of white marble temples. The whole structure is of pure white marble and is most elaborately carved; and as for the ceiling or roof of the main temple, I am ready to admit that there is probably nothing in the world to equal it. One of the temples alone required fourteen years for its construction and cost many millions of dollars All the temples seemed in perfect order and are beautifully placed in a setting of great mango trees, while all about are fields of ripening grain, the whole inclosed by high hills.

It really seemed a crime to have to tear ourselves away with such a brief visit. The temples are worthy of the admiration of days, but back we started on a hard walk, secured fresh horses, and were off down the mountain side at a nine mile an hour pace.

The ride downward was even more thrilling than the ascent, and our big Mohammedan driver displayed great skill in his handling of the horses. From time to time he gave a long, semi-mucisal blast on his ancient brass trumpet, the call echoing back and forth among the hills, warning any laggards in front to clear the way.

Beautiful Moon Completes Day.

As we turned out of the mountain road into the long descent the full moon came out and the return left nothing to be desired. Both going and coming we passed innumerable monkeys as tame as crows, and great throngs of gayly painted Hindus with their faces bedaubed with caste marks and clothed in bright, thin robes.

At 8 o'clock sharp we were back at the station. We at once had a frugal dinner in the restaurant and are now awaiting the train for Jaipur, where we are to arrive tomorrow. It has been a day never to be forgotten and we have accomplished, by dint of refusing to accept a "no," in seven hours that which usually takes at least two days; but I am not proud of it; I should have preferred the two days.

SENATOR CULLOM GOES EAST.

Will Close Up Personal Affairs in Capital Preparatory to Indefinite Visit in New Jersey.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Following the burial of his wife in this city last Saturday, United States Senator Cullom, accompanied by his secretary and several friends, left at noon today for Washington, D. C. He will remain in that city long enough to close up personal affairs, and then go to the home of Frank Leonard in New Jersey, to remain indefinitely. Senator Cullom has not been in better health for several years.

TAFT TO HASTEN FIGHT OVER LAND

President to Ask Department About Things Told to Him by Louis Glavis.

BALLINGER SEEK TOGA?

Friends of Secretary Urge Him to Run as Successor to Senator Piles.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The officials of the interior department apparently are to have an opportunity to furnish President Taft with a complete statement concerning the negotiations in the department in connection with the Cunningham coal entry cases in Alaska.

It is definitely known that Louis R. Glavis, chief of the field division at Seattle, called at Beverly of his own volition last week and left with the president a statement of what he considered to be the serious state of affairs in connection with the handling of the cases by the department. The interior department is expecting to receive this statement from the president with his request that an answer to it be submitted to him. This, the officials say, will serve to bring the matters to a focus and it will not be long before there will be an official airing of the various stories and veiled charges that have been made against Secretary Ballinger.

The officials of the general land office were loath to believe Glavis had left his post at Seattle and presented himself, uninvited, at Beverly for the purpose of making charges direct to the chief executive concerning one of the latter's cabinet officers. It was learned today, however, that Glavis undoubtedly had called at Beverly last week and there is little left to assume except the fact that he considered he had things to lay before the president which should not be intrusted to the official channels in order to reach him.

Await Action of President.

Both Secretary Ballinger and Commissioner of the Land Office Dennett being away, there is no one in authority in Washington to say what is going to happen next, and whether the conduct of Inspector Glavis was to be investigated immediately or whether the department will await the reports of that individual to see what he was expecting to accomplish by visiting the president.

The land office people are anxious to know whether the next move is to be a peremptory request from Mr. Taft personally to explain the matters set forth by Mr. Glavis, or simply a reference of the Glavis statement to the department by the president's secrtary as a routine matter.

A daily report of his personal doings is made by Special Agent Glavis, just as they are by every inspector in the field and in charge of a division. These reports, although made up daily, are sent in for periods usually of a week or ten days. No batch of daily reports has been received from Inspector Glavis for some time. The next installment is expected to contain some items of interest.

Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office, will arrive at Washington tomorrow and is expected to commence an investigation of his own.

Ballinger Candidate for Toga.

It is current gossip here that Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger is the man who will be put forward in the state of Washington to succeed United States Senator Samuel Piles. Senator Piles now is serving the last congress of his first term. Secretary Ballinger's friends in Washington are reported to be importuning him to declare himself a candidate for the place.

The secretary of the interior has thus far asserted that he has no senatorial ambitions and therefore does not care to enter the campaign against Piles next year.

PLENTY OF MONEY FOR CROPS.

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Norton Reports Banks Are Glutted with Funds.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Norton said today that in his opinion the crop moving of this season will be easily handled by the government as far as the distribution of funds is concerned.

Mr. Norton reports that the banks are glutted with money at the present time and that there is apparently going to be no serious drain upon the present working balance in the treasury, which is in the neighborhood of $30,000,000. This working balance is expected to increase greatly as the new fiscal year grows older and the expenditures of the government become lighter.

At all events there will be no need for an issue of the 3 per cent certificates of indebtedness such as Secretary MacVeagh several months ago suggested might be used in case of money stress instead of issuing further Panama canal bonds.

CENSUS WORK CHIEFS CHOSEN.

Supervising Statisticians to Get Commissions Signed by Acting Secretary McHarg.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Commissions were signed today by Acting Secretary McHarg of the department of commerce and labor for the five men who will serve as chief statisticians of the census bureau. They are William C. Hunt of Massachusetts, Le Grand Powers of Minnesota, William M. Stewart of Michigan, Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur of Michigan, and Dr. Joseph A. Hill of New Hampshire.

SURE TO ASK

The Kind of Coffee When Postum Is Well Made.

See Below.

"Three great coffee drinkers were my old school friend and her two daughters.

"They were always complaining and taking medicine. I determined to give them Postum instead of coffee when they visited me, so without saying anything to them about it, I made a big pot of Postum the first morning, using four heaping teaspoonfuls to the pint of water and let it boil twenty minutes, stirring down occasionally.

"Before the meal was half over, each one passed up her cup to be refilled, remarking how fine the coffee was. The mother asked for a third cup and inquired as to the brand of coffee I used. I didn't answer her question just then, for I had heard her say a while before that she didn't like Postum unless it was more than half old-fashioned coffee.

"After breakfast I told her that the coffee she liked so well at breakfast was pure Postum, and the reason she liked it was because it was properly made, that is, it was boiled long enough to bring out the flavor.

"I have been brought up from a nervous, wretched invalid to a fine condition of physical health by leaving off coffee and using Postum.

"I am doing all I can to help the world out of coffee slavery to Postum freedom, and have earned the gratitude of many, many friends." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SCORE LAW STUDY BY USE OF MAILS

SAYS TRUSTS ARE DEAD.

In Their Stead, F. J. Lehmann Asserts, Have Sprung Up Holding Companies.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—Whether law can be successfully taught in correspondence schools and whether or not four years' preparation is necessary for admission to the bar furnished a heated discussion this afternoon at a meeting of the section on legal education of the American Bar association, which is in convention here.

Dean Harry S. Richards of the University of Wisconsin college of law and James Parker Hall of the University of Chicago law school were strong in their denunciation of the correspondence school. Mr. Hall classed it with mining scheme advertising. Both speakers also urged a three years' law school training and one year clerkship before a student be admitted to the bar.

Judge Francis M. Danaher of Albany, N. Y., speaking from the standpoint of the experienced lawyer, replied with scathing criticism of modern law school methods, and declared that the incompetence of many candidates for the bar after completing the course is appalling.

If law correspondence schools are bad, he asked Dean Richards and Mr. Hall, why do Wisconsin and Chicago universities conduct them in other departments.

Maintaining that at least one year's clerkship is essential to an applicant for the bar, he urged that the law school course be left at three years. A four year course, he declared, is too long for the student, enthusiastic about beginning his life's work.

Rules for Admission Adopted.

The report of the committee on standard rules for admission to the bar, as read by Lucian H. Alexander of Pennsylvania, was adopted, however. This calls for three years in an approved law school and one year in an office, or four years in either the office or school.

"In France the authority of the husband, the authority of the father are necessary consequences of the whole economical regime," stated M. Georges Barbey of Paris, advocate in the court of appeals of that city, in an address at night before the American Bar association upon the French family law, its many restrictions upon the individual and, to American minds, peculiar vesting of authority in the husband and father.

But modern industrialism, M. Barbey told the three hundred lawyers from all over the United States, is developing in France a new race of people to whom the laws of the code civil, upon which the French family law is based, are not suited.

The code civil was framed for a population of farmers and small landowners, he contended, while now an enormous fluctuating factory population is developing in France to whose needs the code seems out of place.

"Of what avail these old laws on succession when the homestead is abandoned," said M. Barbey, "of what avail the unit of the family when its members are scattered and dispersed by the hazards of work? Day by day the French code civil is being completed by new laws. Slowly French legislation is trying to adapt itself to the complexities of modern life."

Judge Mack of Chicago a Speaker.

Judge Julian W. Mack of Chicago was one of those who addressed the convention. He spoke on "Juvenile Law."

Judge Mack laid particular stress upon the value of probation officers in ways that are not outlined in their statute duties. He quoted extensively from the words of other authorities upon this subject to the effect that probation officers' value depends not so much upon the power wielded in their work as upon the interest they show in their charges. He also declared the probation officers should seek to interest settlement workers, friends of charitable organizations, and churches in the needs of the young people it is their duty to help.

Judge Mack said that more could be accomplished through this friendly interest than in any other way. He declared that the work of the state is not that of meeting out punishment for wrongdoing but in assisting in making good citizens of the young.

It is his belief that probation workers can do much in the way of impressing this fact upon those with whom they come in contact.

TAFT CONSENTS TO REVIEW G. A. R. PARADE IN BEVERLY.

Plea of Veterans Leads President to Break Resolution Not to Appear in Public During Vacation.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 24.—The pleadings of several sturdy veterans of the civil war broke down today the resolution of President Taft not to participate in any public function during his vacation, and 2,500 Grand Army men in Essex county learned tonight that the president would review them as they marched through the streets of Beverly on Sept. 11.

It will be the only time the public here will have a chance of seeing the president at a standstill. All Beverly and a greater part of Essex county have had fleeting glimpses of the distinguished visitor, but at the fall muster of the Grand Army of Essex county the president will ride up from his house to the entrance of one of the side streets, where he will sit in his automobile for half an hour while the old soldiers march by.

Myopia again was the scene of the president's golfing exploits today, but it was only a three ball match with Robert Taft, his eldest son, and Capt. Butt, his military aid, as his opponents. He lunched at the clubhouse and then motored back to Beverly, where he devoted an hour to his mail before accompanying Mrs. Taft on the customary afternoon motor trip.

FIBER BLANKETS' COST UP; NEW TARIFF LAW BLAMED.

Increase in Prices, to Be Effective Oct. 1, Announced from Worcester, Mass., on Printed Postal Cards.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—"The Tariff and Its Effect" is the caption on printed postal cards being sent out by the New England Fiber Blanket company of this city, announcing an increase in prices Oct. 1.

In explaining the advance the company says it is due to "the increased duty on some of the material that enters into the composition of our fiber blanket."

The increase affects all widths from twenty-two to eighty inches.

THREE MEET VIOLENT DEATHS.

Teamster and Engineer Killed by Trains, While Aged Man Is Run Down by Street Car.

Albert Halverson, a teamster, suffered injuries from which he died before he could be taken to a hospital last night when struck by a switch engine on the Northwestern railroad at Hoyne avenue.

Michael Kowalski, 80 years old, who was struck by a street car at Drake and Milwaukee avenues Monday, died in the Norwegian Lutheran Tabitha hospital. He lived at 1703 North Central Park avenue.

Thomas Murphy, an engineer, 347 Seventy-first street, was struck and instantly killed by a Michigan Central passenger train at the Seventy-third street crossing of the tracks yesterday morning.

He refused to make public any statement concerning whether or not he would make the race.

FUNERAL OF THE MACLEANS.

Obsequies for Father and Son, Killed in Automobile Accident, Will Be Held at Riverside Tomorrow.

Funeral services for George A. Maclean and his son, George A. Maclean Jr., whose deaths were caused by an automobile accident near New Brunswick, N. J., will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal church at Riverside by the rector, the Rev. Robert Cooper.

Mr. Maclean and his family were returning to New York from Princeton, N. J., where they had just ararnged for their son to enter the university, and were on their way to the train to return to Chicago when the accident ocurred.

Mr. Maclean was 52 years old. He was manager of the lace department of Marshall Field & Co.'s retail store, with which he had been connected for forty years.

OBITUARY.

HENRY HALLOFF, one of the oldest of Evanston's old settlers, died at his home, 1422 Greenwood boulevard, yesterday after an illness of several months. He was 64 years old. He is survived by a widow, Sophia, six children, and seven grandchildren, all living in Evanston. The funeral will be held Friday from the German Lutheran church, Evanston. Interment will be at Niles Center.

SAMUEL FRANKLYN WOOD, who had resided in Chicago since 1850, died on Monday at the home of his son, William F. Wood, 3616 Ellis park. He was an employé in the county recorder's office for twenty-seven years, and was a veteran of the civil war. The funeral will be held from Holy Angels' church tomorrow morning. Burial will be at Mount Olivet.

COL. WILLIAM D. SHAW, famous as the originator of the "Hello Bill" phrase and who for forty years was connected with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway in Cincinnati, died in that city last night.

THREATS COME OVER PHONE

Woman Says She Is Warned Not to Prosecute Maj. Moore.

THE CASE IS CONTINUED.

Two Detectives Will Investigate the Mysterious Messages.

Threats against Mrs. Jessie B. Olmstead, who is prosecuting Maj. M. Moore for obtaining $600 from her by false pretenses, so alarmed her yesterday that she fled her home at 5439 Prairie avenue.

It was stated there that she has become extremely nervous over mysterious messages, several of which threaten death unless she drops the case.

Mrs. Olmstead appeared in the Englewood court in the afternoon with her daughter, Jessie. She declared that the messages have so frightened her that she does not dare answer the telephone. Maj. Moore, attended by Attorney Edward B. Morris, colored, was on hand early. He declined to discuss the charges made by Mrs. Olmstead.

May Have Been Hypnotized.

"I was hypnotized by Maj. Moore, I suppose," said Mrs. Olmstead. "He certainly had some sort of influence over me. Once, during a card game, he drew a revolver and threatened to kill one of the men playing with him. Since then I have always been afraid of him, and thought of that incident when putting the money in his hands.

"I am not the only one who has lost money. Since it was known that I intended to prosecute Moore I have received half a dozen calls from people who have suffered."

Peter Frieberg, a neighbor of Moore until the latter moved from 6349 Eggleston avenue, said he had given Moore $25 with the understanding that the amount would be invested and bring him a profit of $300.

Defends Moore's Deals.

Edward B. Morris, Moore's attorney, declared he has the proof that his client made all the deals agreed upon.

"Mr. Moore cannot help it if none of them panned out," said the defendant's counsel. "In each case it was understood that the money was to be used for speculative purposes. Mrs. Olmstead would have been happy enough if she had won."

The case was postponed by motion of Assistant State's Attorney Barnes pending an investigation by Detectives Dillard and Zink of the telephone threats. The officers in the meantime will communicate with authorities of Appleton, Wis., where Moore formerly lived.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING BOARD NOW HAS 3,261 WORDS LISTED.

Large Number of New Reforms Sought—Support to Movement Pledged by Many Teachers and Others.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The simplified spelling board, which started its spelling reform three years ago with a list of 300 words, now has published a list containing 3,261 words that the board thinks need reforming. The officers of the board are at work compiling a "manual of simplified spelling," dealing with 25,000 words.

The latest list contains in addition to the former list of words having -ea-, pronounced -e-, and so simplified as in hed, helth, spred, etc., the preterits and participles ending in -ed, pronounced -d, and so simplified as in armd, burnd, fild, livd, etc.; words ending in -ice, pronounced -is, and so simplified as in coppis, cornis, crevis, justis, etc.; words ending in -ve, pronounced -v, and so simplified when preceded by l or r, as in delv, solv, carv, and garv.

Dr. Scott says there are 259 periodicals in forty-one states and territories which have taken up the spelling reform to some extent. In the superintendents and college professors who have signed the agreement to use the shorter forms of spelling every large university and college is represented.

The Illinois State Normal university of Normal uses the full list of simplified spellings in its catalogues and other publications. Other normal schools in Colorado, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin use the simplified spelling to a greater or less degree.

CHURCH RITES FOR SUTTON.

Cardinal Gibbons Will Consecrate Grave—Satisfied Death Wasn't a Suicide.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The body of Lieut. James N. Sutton of the United States marine corps, is to be disinterred and examined by medical and gunshot experts to determine the nature of the wounds that caused his death.

Before reburial the ground in which the body now rests in Arlington National cemetery, near this city, is to be consecrated under the rites of the Catholic church. Cardinal Gibbons has sanctioned this plan, and it is to be carried out within a day or two.

The mother of Lieut. Sutton has deplored ever since the body of her son was placed in its grave that the ban of the church against suicides has served to prevent its resting in consecrated ground.

Cardinal Gibbons, it is said, considers that it has been established that Lieut. Sutton did not take his own life, at least not with suicidal intent.

Woman Dies in Hotel Explosion.

Elmira, N. Y., Aug. 24.—An explosion of unknown origin early today wrecked the Olympic hotel here and caused the death of Mrs. E. W. Roby, who was sleeping in an adjoining frame building.

STRIKERS BURY VICTIMS OF RIOT

Pressed Steel Car Company Operates Plant Steadily; Troops Guard Town.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 24.—Gloom covered the little village of McKees Rock today. Long funeral processions, pitiful in their attempt at proper decorum, wended their way at odd hours from the Greek Catholic church to St. Mary's cemetery, just outside Schoenville. The strikers and their families crowded in the van of these funeral trains, dressed in their finery, and bearing an air of deep grief. One band of eight musicians furnished the tunes to which the strikers tramped in dust and grime to pay their respects to the men they look upon as martyrs to a lost cause.

The finding late today of three more bodies of terribly beaten strike sympathizers also was horrifying in its ghastliness, for troopers, detailed to the work of searching for dead and wounded, made little effort to spare the feelings of the men who gathered about them when the bodies, two under a pile of railroad ties and one under a culvert on the tracks of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad, were pulled into sight. The corpses, hardly recognizable as those of human beings, were hastily piled into a morgue wagon and turned over to the county officials.

The total death list resulting from Sunday night's disorders now totals eleven, while two are in hospitals and expected to die within the next twenty-four hours. The less seriously injured are all reported to be improving slowly.

Meeting Avoided by Strikers.

With the burial of the dead strikers and the finding of additional bodies came a truce in hostilities. From dawn to nightfall not a pistol shot was heard, neither was an arrest made.

The strikers and their sympathizers during the day kept to themselves and even gave up a massmeeting planned for the late afternoon, as they believed any gathering of the workmen could do no good at this time. Eugene V. Debs, the Socialistic orator, was in McKees Rocks to address the strikers.

Eugene V. Debs tonight announced that tomorrow he would be at the Indian Mound to address the strikers.

"I have been threatened," said Mr. Debs, "that I will receive bodily harm if I attempt to speak, but I will be there if I am alive. No Pennsylvania troopers will prevent me from addressing these men. I have as much right to free speech as has Theodore Roosevelt and I intend to exercise it."

It is conceded by all that the strikers have lost their fight. The Pressed Steel Car company plant today was in operation with 1,000 men at work. These men, while not all skilled or finished workmen, turned out three steel cars, which were placed on view just outside the car plant gates. In a measure, President Frank Hoffstot of the car company has made good his word, given at the inception of the labor trouble, that he never would give in to the strikers if he was ruined financially.

Sixty-five Prisoners Shipped.

Martial law held sway in the strike zone today. With over 150 state and county officers patrolling the streets and the car company stockade, there was little chance for disorder to develop effective headway.

An official investigation of the conditions inside the stockade at McKee's Rocks will begin tomorrow morning. The federal district attorney, J. H. Jordan, late today received orders to move on the big plant and investigate the charges of peonage which have been made against President Frank H. Hoffstot in conjunction with Samuel Cohn, of the employment bureau. Attorney Jordan is empowered to take with him in his search through the plant those who may prove they have interest in the workings of the plant. It is understood the strikers will send a committee with Jordan.

RAND-M'NALLY PRINTERS OUT; ORGANIZERS ARE DISCHARGED.

Forty-five Obey Order and Leaders Declare Stubborn Fight Will Be Made for Ousted Men.

A force of printers employed by Rand, McNally & Co. yesterday went out on a strike. The trouble arose when officials of the company discharged several printers for "pernicious activity" in organizing a union in the company's printing shop.

Forty-five men obeyed the strike order and the leaders declared they will tie up the entire shop within a few days. The concern has operated on a nonunion basis since the printers' eight hour strike four years ago.

Recently organizers for the union have been busy among the men with the object of bringing the shop back to a union basis.

It was said by the union leaders that a majority of the men have signed the roster of the union and that a stubborn fight will be made unless the discharged men are reinstated.

E. A. Russell, treasurer of the Otis Elevator company, announced that it is extremely unlikely that the company will withdraw its force of machinists at work on elevator construction in the People's Gaslight and Coke company's new building on account of the strike called against Martin B. ("Skinny") Madden's alleged strike breakers.

Mr. Russell said the machinists are union men so far as the company is concerned and the officials would pay no attention to the new Building Trades council. Only six men were at work on the structure during the day.

RECRUITS 90 STRIKEBREAKERS

P. L. Bergoff Sends Force of Skilled Steel Workers and Riveters to McKees Rocks, Pa.

A force of ninety strikebreakers, said to be skilled steel workers and riveters, was recruited in Chicago yesterday and sent to McKees Rocks, Pa., to help break the strike in progress there against the Pressed Steel Car company. They are due to arrive at the plant late tonight or tomorrow morning. A force of ten guards accompanied the workmen.

The men were recruited by P. L. Bergoff, who declared he has furnished the strike bound concern at McKees Rocks with nearly 8,000 strikebreakers from various parts of the country.

Bergoff will remain in Chicago until this evening to watch developments in the street car negotiations. He said he has a large force of motormen and conductors in the east ready to come to Chicago at once in the event of a strike.

WARSHIPS GOING TO JAPAN.

Fleet of Eight Armored Cruisers Will Sail from Frisco Week from Sunday.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Another "peace" fleet is to be sent across the Pacific by Uncle Sam. It wil comprise eight of the strongest and fastest cruisers in the naval force and will leave San Francisco a week from next Sunday. It will be occupied with its mission, which is declared to be friendly, more than five months.

The vessels which have been ordered to prepare for the journey are the fully armored cruisers Tennessee, California, South Dakota, Washington, West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland, and Pennsylvania.

According to the navy department's schedule of their 28,000 mile journey, after making several side trips to Chinese and Japanese ports, the whole squadron will reassemble at Yokohama, and will sail for home Jan. 19, 1910.

CRAZED NEGRO SHOOTS 25 MEN

MOB BURNS HIS DEAD BODY.

Wounded Victims Include Mayor and Leading Business Men.

Monroe, La., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Shrieking in maniacal frenzy and firing at every person he met, as fast as he could reload the double-barreled shotgun he carried, Bill Way, a negro from Pine Bluff, Ark., wounded twenty-five persons today before he finally was killed by a policeman. Several of his victims are believed to be dying and others are so seriously wounded that they will be crippled for life.

After the negro was slain his body was hung to a pole for an hour and then was dragged to the public square by a mob, which placed it upon a pile of barrels and boxes and poured about ten gallons of kerosene on it. A match then was applied and the body was consumed.

Wounds Leading Citizens.

Among the slightly wounded are:

DR. A. A. FORSYTHE, mayor of Monroe; shot in right leg.

D. A. BREARD, banker and president of North Louisiana Shingle company; shot in face.

J. L. KENDALL, train master Iron Mountain railroad; shot in body.

D. G. TROUSDALE, secretary and treasurer Southern Grocery company; shot in body.

J. W. MERRYMAN, agent Wells-Fargo Express company; shot in hand.

Way is believed to have been crazed from overindulgence in whisky and cocaine, and as a result of his rioting a crusade will be started to prevent any more negroes getting either the liquor or the drug in Monroe.

Mayor Averts Race War.

For a time after the burning of the body the mob threatened to begin a general warfare on all negroes in Monroe, but this was averted by the eloquence of Mayor Forsythe, who pleaded with the mob in spite of his wound.

Way came to Monroe recently from Pine Bluff. He was accompanied by several other negroes, and they commenced to make trouble for the local police soon after they arrived. It was alleged they were members of a society in Arkansas which had for its object revenge for all injuries done the black race.

SECOMBE SAYS HE WILL SUE ANY WHO SLANDER HIS 'QUADS.'

Deposed Pastor Declares He Will Bring Court Proceedings if Any More Doubts Are Cast at Children.

Northampton, Mass., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The Rev. Samuel Howe Secombe, deposed pastor of the little Congregational church at Goshen, today issued a statement in defense of the claim that he is the father and Mrs. Secombe the mother of the quadruplets born on May 26, the birth of which aroused the curiosity of physicians throughout the country. Through a local lawyer Secombe today said:

"I will bring legal proceedings against any person who makes any statement which doubts or tends to lead to public doubt that I am the father of the quadruplets."

That there are four babies in the Secombe family is true, but the excitement of the controversy over the children has brought out many rumors. Secombe has been brought into such notoriety because of certain charges that he has been forced to resign his $500 pastorate. He still occupies the parsonage where he daily is receiving a flood of mail, some letters being from curious persons and others from doctors, and still more messages of sympathy. Secombe has four other children besides the quadruplets. Secombe said today he soon would move to Florence, near here, but did not say what he would do. He was a lawyer before becoming a minister.

CHICAGO RECORDS TELL LITTLE.

The Rev. Mr. Secombe, formerly of this city, may have difficulty in obtaining Chicago witnesses to substantiate his claim.

According to the eastern dispatches, Mr. Secombe married in Chicago late last year and the birth of the children in May, this year, was hurried on a bit through fright occasioned by the entry of a burglar at the family residence, 811 Fulton street.

Careful search of the records in the county clerk's office failed to reveal any record of a marriage license issued to Samuel H. Secombe and there is no record of birth of quadruplets or any smaller number of children to Secombe, so far as a reporter for THE TRIBUNE and a clerk in the county clerk's office could find.

Neighbors in the vicinity of 811 Fulton street said a couple, with four children, lived there for about a year previous to the middle of June last, when the mother with four children ranging from 5 to 12 years of age, and one infant only a few days old, moved to Goshen, the man having gone east a month previously.

WOMAN KILLED IN ATTACK BY A CARLISLE, IND., MOB.

Residence of Mine Superintendent Is Besieged and Whole Town Is Thrown Into Panic.

Carlisle, Ind., Aug. 25.—A mob attacked the home of Stephen Hart, superintendent of the Carlisle coal mine, early today, and Hart's wife was fatally shot. The town is in a panic. The miners had been threatening the superintendent for several weeks.

TWO MORE FIRES; FIREBUG SOUGHT

Similarity of Feed Store Blazes Causes Police to Look for Andrew Hanson.

LOSS IS PUT AT $55,000.

Burning Structures Endanger Lives of Scores of Persons in Flat Buildings.

Fires in two widely distant parts of the city, entailing a loss of $55,000 yesterday, and both of which started in feed stores, caused Fire Attorney Hogan and Marshal Seyferlich to instruct the police to redouble their efforts toward the apprehension of Andrew Hanson, the "firebug," who, two months ago, escaped from the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Elgin.

The similarity of the two blazes convinced the officials that they were not accidental. Both, according to the official reports, started through the ignition of bales of hay in the rear of the burned structures. Feed stores and engine houses are Hanson's favorite places of operation. The store of Seymour Brothers and adjoining buildings at Ohio and Noble streets were destroyed at noon with a loss of $30,000, and three hours later the store of Frederick E. Jahp & Co., 1020 West Lake street, and adjacent buildings were damaged to the extent of $25,000. Two horses were burned to death in this blaze and families were driven to the street in both instances. Each fire required special alarms and the department had a task in subduing the flames.

Fire Gains Headway.

The Seymour fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Before the department arrived the adjoining wooden structures were blazing, and the firemen had a difficult time preventing the occupants of the houses rushing back into the flames to rescue their property.

Mrs. V. Joy, 1420 West Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Neidhardt, 1682 Spalding avenue, and Mrs. Nellie Hassley, 1500 Fulton street, who were visiting her, became excited and jumped from a window, but escaped with a few cuts and bruises.

Sparks were carried to the roofs of the buildings at 321 and 323 West Erie street, a block away, and the Italian families fled in terror.

The loss to Seymour Brothers is estimated at $5,000. The dwelling the firm occupied at 363 West Ohio street was damaged to the extent of $3,000. Among the other losses were: Albert Taglio, 365 West Ohio street, $500; John Fletcher and Mrs. Charles Huntington, 359 West Ohio street, $2,000; Mrs. Mary Downing, same number, $3,000; and John Nelson and John Ornberg, at 357 West Ohio street, about $200 each.

Unable to Rescue Horses.

The fire spread with such great rapidity that his employés found it impossible to rescue all of the horses in the stable.

The principal losers were: Jahp & Co., $5,000; N. Mathy & Son, haberdashery, 1016 Lake street, $1,000; Bernard Fitzpatrick company, expressing, 7 Western avenue, $1,500; Curielli brothers, saloon, Lake street and Western avenue, $500; Mrs. L. Mulcahy, grocery, 5 Western avenue, $500.

All of the persons living in the apartments at 1016 and 1018 Lake street and at 3 and 5 Lake streets were driven from their homes and suffered more or less damage.

Charles McGorry, under arrest on the charge of breaking into the Austin Methodist church and setting it afire, will be tried at the Desplaines street station today. Attorney F. H. Brooke, who is the complaining witness, yesterday declared that the prisoner would first be tried on the burglary charge and then for arson.

CLEVELAND LOYAL TO PARTY, WRITES RICHARD GILDER.

Magazine Article Recalls an Instance of Defiance of Tammany by the Late Former President.

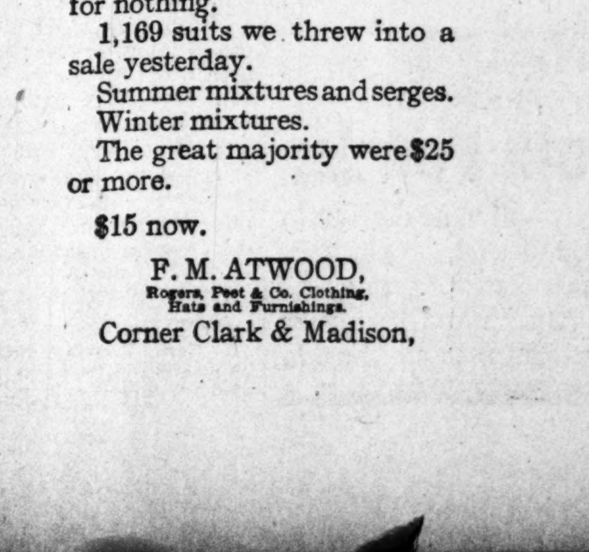
New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—"Mr. Cleveland was decidedly a party man. He believed every man should be active in politics, and he practiced this doctrine from early manhood," writes Richard Watson Gilder in the September Century in an article entitled "Cleveland's Reëlection and Second Administration."

"I do not believe he ever voted for a candidate outside his party, and yet inside his regularity he manifested singular independence and at times even detachment," Mr. Gilder says.

The writer then goes on to give his version of a dinner in 1892, at which Mr. Cleveland met prominent Tammany men after he had been importuned to give Tammany a pledge. He says:

"Mr. Cleveland never told me what happened, but I was told by one who was there that when a certain politician made a demand for a written pledge Mr. Cleveland flamed up and, bringing his fist down on the table with a crash, declared that rather than do what was asked of him he would suffer damnation. At this one of Mr. Cleveland's leading supporters turned pale, thinking that it was 'all up.'"

"After this remarkable declaration of independence, Mr. Cleveland calmed down and subsequently said that if he ever was president again he wouldn't divide the party into personal friends and personal enemies, but would regard all alike and without partiality."



To get these values at $15 is the nearest legitimate approach to getting something for nothing.

KEPT PRISONER BY AWFUL HUMOR

Whole Body Covered and Head So Bad She Could Not Comb Hair—Sight Affected—Neighbor Begged Her to Use Cuticura—It Cooled the Itching Flesh and

BROUGHT REST, SLEEP AND A PERFECT CURE

"Words cannot express the awful skin disease I suffered with. My whole body was covered with it. My head broke out so that I could not comb my hair. For a month or more I suffered with a terrible sore throat. When I should lie down at night my eyes would stick together and I would have to bathe them before opening them each morning. I scarcely could see for my eyes had failed me from the effect of the skin disease. I tried three doctors, but they gave me no relief and then I tried all kinds of things that I thought would do me good but I could find nothing. I was a perfect prisoner with the awful humor.

"One of my neighbors begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I made up my mind to try them but not thinking that I would ever be cured. I would take a hot bath with Cuticura Soap and then apply the Cuticura Ointment. I found relief in a few days and in a month you could scarcely see a spot on my face. I felt like a new person. When I first began to use the Cuticura Remedies they cooled the itching flesh and brought me real good sleep and rest at night. I had suffered fully two years with the skin disease but now I am a well woman and in good health. I beg every skin sufferer to use the Cuticura Remedies. I cannot praise Cuticura enough because I thought that I would never get well again. Mrs. Cordelia C. Pitts, Newborn, Ga., Nov. 24 and Dec. 21, '08."

Keeping the Hair

To prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove dandruff, allay itching and irritation and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, frequent shampoos with Cuticura Soap and occasional dressings with Cuticura are usually effective when all other methods fail. Special and full directions accompany each package of Cuticura.

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Cuticura Ointment (50c.) and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass. 32-page Cuticura Book, mailed free, an authority on the care and treatment of the skin and hair.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

Each Side Considers Other's Proposition and Will Confer Again Today.

MAY COME TO AGREEMENT

tions and return answers at 10:30 o'clock in the morning."

"There was no strike talk in the conference," said Mr. Fisher. "I should say the situation is approaching definiteness of understanding."

New Proposition by the Union.

Then the statement of the union upon which replies of the traction heads were based was given out. Formally, it was from the north and west side union and was addressed to President Roach of the Railways company, but it represented the general union demand. It follows:

"Dear Sir—Upon the part of our association desiring to reach a peaceful settlement of this dispute, we hereby offer the following as a basis of settlement:

"Whereas, the company has offered a scale of wages which grants to the men who have completed one year's service at 27 cents per hour, that they will grant them in the future 28 cents an hour for the following year and 29 cents an hour for the next year and 30 cents an hour thereafter.

"Now, if the company will complete this scale on this basis affecting all motormen and conductors and correct the wage section to read as follows:

"The company agrees to pay the following wage scale: All motormen and conductors who have been in the service of the company one year at 27 cents an hour shall receive 28 cents per hour from Aug. 1, 1909, to Aug. 1, 1910, and from Aug. 1, 1910 to Aug. 1, 1911, 29 cents per hour, and from and after the date of Aug. 1, 1911 they shall receive 30 cents per hour, and motormen and conductors now in the service under one year, or new men who may enter the service in the future shall receive for the first three months' service 24 cents per hour, for the next nine months they shall receive 27 cents per hour, for the second year they shall receive 28 cents per hour, for the third year 29 cents per hour and thereafter 30 cents per hour.

"And if they will change the agreement to expire on Aug. 1, 1912, we will recommend the same to our organizations for acceptance."

Replies by Traction Heads.

The replies of the traction heads perhaps were the most important statements made by the companies since the beginning of the entire controversy. They dwelt upon the responsibility of the companies to the public, and gave statistics as to the comparative liability to accidents of old and new men and the cost of accidents to the companies.

Mr. Mitten's statement, containing his new wage scale offer, gave figures showing the number of men of the various lengths of service who will be benefited at once if the proposed scale is adopted, and other specific data, was as follows:

"Gentlemen: Your communication of Aug. 23 has been given careful consideration. It is on its face a most unfair attempt to take advantage of concessions made by me as the representative of the Chicago City Railway company, and at the same time to ignore the considerations offered by you as the representatives of the union which my concessions were based upon. It is a repudiation of the agreement embodying these mutual concessions, which you, as the official representatives of the union, promised not only to report to the men, but to recommend for adoption.

High Wages Paid in Chicago.

"The company was desirous of securing the coöperation of its men who are members of your organization, and of having the wage question settled in such a way as to prevent its being brought up annually, for the reason that any question which serves to agitate the minds of the men is productive of accidents and is generally detrimental to the service and discipline of the company. Except for some such consideration there can be no justification for an increase in wages at this time.

"The company is now paying higher wages to its trainmen than are paid in any other city east of the Rocky mountains. It is your claim that the cost of living is greater in Chicago. This cannot be true as compared to the larger eastern cities, which are in the same class as Chicago, but even if the cost of living be greater in Chicago, the wages are already higher. It is said that wages paid in other employments are higher in Chicago than in some of the cities, but the wages paid to Chicago street railway trainmen are also now higher than in such cities.

Reasons for a Graded Scale.

"This company has insisted, and now insists, that its trainmen should be graded and paid according to their length of service and efficiency resulting therefrom. The professed reason for the opposition of your organization to the graded scale has been that the company might show favoritism by dismissing the older and higher priced men to make room for the newer men at a lesser rate. The company denies that this would be the case, and it is now taking this stand for a graded scale in favor of the men old in the service, first for the selfish reason that the older men are a better investment at a higher wage, due to their having fewer accidents than the men less experienced in the service, the records of the company showing that during the month of July 732 men over nine years in the service performed 26.33 per cent of the actual work and had only 12.78 per cent of the accidents; 2,041 men, including all men nine years and under in the service, performed 73.68 per cent of the actual work and had 87.22 per cent of the accidents; new men under one year in the service performed 8.41 per cent of the actual work, but had 29.62 per cent of the accidents; the percentage of accidents compared to the work performed growing less as the length of service and experience of the men increase.

Accidents Cause Heavy Loss.

"As a single accident often costs the company more than the entire wage which a trainman would receive during the entire period of this contract, it is evidently to the advantage of the company to retain its older employés. Second, much expense and trouble is caused to the company by the constant changes in the force found necessary in weeding out the undesirable element among the new men, the company record covering a period of three years shows that the changes have been less than 6 per cent in men over nine years in the service; changes in men nine years and under in the service being 94 per cent; changes in men from one to three years in the service being 77 per cent; the changes growing gradually less in number as the men are longer in the service of the company.

"In addition to the above, there remains the moral obligation of the company to see that its older men receive the maximum wage possible in order that they may be able to lay aside something against the time when they are no longer able to perform their present duties.

Objection to the System.

"Your committee conceded that the gradual scale was correct in principle, but objected to its application on the men that had already entered the service on a different basis of pay. It was therefore agreed that the system should be started with the new men hereafter to be employed, and that a graded increase to 30 cents should be given to the present trainmen during the life of a contract to run three and one-half years. You now state the discrimination between the new men and the old men is the chief cause of dissatisfaction with the settlement which you definitely agreed to advocate and support. Your proposal of Aug. 23, however, not only continues this discrimination, but would give the new men higher wages than the old men are to receive for the same length of service with the company.

"The company is entirely willing to wipe out all discrimination between new and old men, and to pay both alike the same pay for the same length of service, under a wage scale to go into effect at once, which shall give new men when they start 23 cents, and 30 cents to all men now or hereafter over nine years in the service, with corresponding wages to the men of less years in the service, according to the following plan."

Then follows the table of proposed wages printed above.

In conclusion Mr. Mitten's letter says:

"The period of the contract to be three and one-half years from Aug. 1, 1909, with the same working conditions as are contained in the contract which expired Aug. 1, 1909. It is my belief that this plan is fair and just and will serve to insure coöperation by proper recognition of efficient service.

"This company is prepared to discuss a contract upon the above terms or to submit all of the terms of a contract between us to any fair board of arbitration upon which we can agree."

Statement by President Roach.

The statement and offer of Mr. Roach, addressed to Mr. Mahon, follows:

"Dear Sir: In the negotiations in reference to wages that have been conducted for the last few weeks the Chicago Railways' company has never lost sight of the fact that it is a quasi-public institution and that it is under obligations to the general public, to the business interests of the community, and to its employés, and therefore was willing in making a wage scale to strain its financial resources to the limit. But it must not be forgotten that the company also is under obligations to the interests that have made possible Chicago's constantly improving surface traction system.

"When the new scale of wages was presented to the Chicago Railways company several weeks ago by the committee representing division 241 of the Amalgamated association the company took the position that it was unable for financial reasons to carry out its provisions. But the company had in continual mind the great inconvenience to which the public would be subjected in the event of even a temporary cessation in street car service. The company also was anxious to go to the furthest point in bettering the condition of its employés, notwithstanding the fact that even then it was paying greater wages than any other large city in the world.

Efforts to Avert Strife.

"With these thoughts in mind, the wage question was taken up at various conferences without reaching conclusions that were entirely satisfactory to some of its employés. As the negotiations proceeded the thought presented itself that it would be desirable to make some definite arrangements by which a recurrence of these negotiations, coming up every twelve months, could be avoided, thus eliminating that annual period of unrest wherein the minds of the men were disturbed from their attention to duties and causing conditions detrimental to the public and the company.

"The wage schedule was taken up upon the basis of a period covering three and one-half years, the scale presented being governed by the proposition that men who had been in the employ of the company fifteen years (later modified to ten years) should receive a certain scale of wages, and those in the employ of the company for a lesser period, down to three and one-half years, should receive a graduated scale of wages according to years in service.

"At the conclusion of this first period in the negotiations the position was taken by the official representatives of our employés that they preferred a scale which would benefit a greater number of trainmen. They objected to the proposition that older men in the service were entitled to a greater rate than comparatively new men.

Further Concessions Made.

"Still actuated by an earnest desire to do the best possible and proceed with the negotiations on the broad ground of public policy, further negotiations were entered upon and after a considerable discussion a definite and final proposition was made by myself, as representing the Chicago Railways company, to the employés, through its committee, which was as follows:"

Then follow figures given in table printed above.

"The committee representing the employés of the company urged long and fervently for greater concessions. I stated to them on behalf of the company that this was all our company could, under the circumstances, concede to them, and also that it was with the distinct understanding that the term should be three and one-half years, dated from Aug. 1, 1909, and that it would carry with it better service to the public and closer attention to their duties on the part of the employés. Assurance was given me that the committee would endeavor to see this passed if I would agree that the same conditions would apply to the Chicago Consolidated Traction company. After consulting with Mr. Forgan and Mr. Drum, coreceivers with myself for the Consolidated Traction properties, and after the sanction of his honor, Judge Grosscup of the United States Circuit court, I assured the committee that such would be the case.

Unable to Make Better Offer.

"It is with sincere regret that I am obliged to state that the financial condition of the Chicago Railways company is such that it is unable to grant any further increase in the wage scale beyond what has already been offered to employés of the company. With all due respect for yourself, allow me to suggest that, even if we were financially able to make greater concessions than those already offered directly to our employés, it would be a breach of faith on my part to do more for others than I would for the committee directly representing an organization of our own men.

"Believing that I have conceded to the employés all that our company can afford, and taking into consideration the equitable and fair treatment of employés, applying to all alike, I beg to suggest to you the acceptance of the graded scale for the old men as first proposed, or the subsequent proposition which was made and finally agreed upon with the committee who represented the employés of our company.

"In connection with this communication I would be neglecting a most pleasant duty were I to fail to recognize the courtesy and ability so generally shown by Mr. Walter L. Fisher, the official legal representative of the city in traction matters, at all our meetings."

Still Hopes for Agreement.

Late at night at the Briggs house, where the compromise proposition of the union was being formulated, President Mahon said:

"There is still plenty of ground to be covered. We haven't reached the end of negotiations by far. We are desirous of obtaining a contract that shall give all employés who have worked one year at 27 cents the maximum scale of 30 cents within the life of the contract."

LAWYERS SEE PLOT; M'CANN DERIDES IT

Attorneys Say Shot Fired as He Was Leaving Conference Was Meant for Him.

AUTO MADE THE NOISE?

State Strengthens Case Against Four Alleged Disorderly Saloonkeepers.

Despite the fact that his attorneys declare that a pistol shot fired at the Monroe street entrance of the First National bank building Monday night was meant for him, Edward McCann, the indicted police inspector, scoffs at the idea. He declares that had he been shot at he would have known it at the time. He says his attorneys are needlessly alarmed.

Just about the time McCann left the office of James Hamilton Lewis, one of his attorneys, in the building, Nelson Paulson, a night watchman, saw two men struggling on the sidewalk. One fired a revolver and ran into the hallway and told Paulson to take the weapon.

"I told him to get out, that I did not want the gun," Paulson said last night, "and the man ran out again and went west toward La Salle street. The other man stood at the entrance to the building for a minute and then ran east. The man who had the revolver was of good size, wore a dark suit, and had a small dark mustache. The other man was better dressed. He wore a brown suit, was shorter, and light complexioned. I did not see the person they tried to injure, but thought that one man shot at the other."

Thought Auto Caused Noise.

"I thought it might have been an automobile tire," he said. "I received a number of threatening letters, but they simply said that I would be sent to prison and such stuff as that. I have been warned not to go to the west side."

"I believe that there was an attempt on McCann's life," Col. Lewis said. "We know that he is being watched. He never comes to this office or takes a train but what he is followed. A man came here this morning who lives in another part of town and he knew that some one had shot at McCann. We are looking for the two men who were seen near the building when the inspector left for home and we have information as to who they are."

State Strengthens Case.

Preparations to strengthen the state's case against four keepers of alleged disorderly saloons on the west side were made when thirty women from the levee district were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Claude Smith. It is said he obtained further evidence against the four men who are to be tried today. They are:

Ellis and Abraham Marks, 275 West Madison street; A. Markovitz, 242 West Randolph street; and Michael Fritzel, 629 West Madison street.

A two hour conference between Inspector Lavin and State's Attorney Wayman led to the report that the graft probe was to be turned from the west side levee district. The inspector would not tell what occurred at the conference, but Mr. Wayman said it had only to do with the case of Thomas B. Keyes, who was brought back from Des Moines, Ia., on Saturday on a charge of obtaining money by means of a confidence game.

"Bathhouse John" Heard From.

The probability of State's Attorney Wayman stopping the annual First ward ball was a theme of further gossip when John J. Coughlin paused long enough in his pursuit of vacation pleasures in Colorado Springs to send word back to Chicago not to worry, for the ball would be held this year as usual.

State's Attorney Wayman, when told of the alderman's message, refused to make an answer.

"That's the word he sent is it?" he said. "Well, all right."

In Jail a Year; Freed.

After being held in the county jail one year on a charge of murder the state was unable to prove against him, Fred Gilton, 35 years old, a negro, was liberated yesterday by Judge Kersten. Two juries disagreed over the evidence. Gilton was charged with killing Dick Crawley, another negro.

CAMP ENJOYS ITS BEST YEAR

WONDERFUL BABY THERE.

So Hungry Is He Nurses Say They Can Almost See Him Grow.

The following contributions to "The Tribune" hospital and free ice funds have been received:

Previously acknowledged	$2,261.00
The Eight Cousins company, Green Lake, Wis.	8.00
"D. C."	1.00
"F. E. S., Adrian, Mich."	2.00
Total	$2,272.00

Contributions in aid of "The Tribune" summer charities may be mailed to the Tribune office. Checks should be made payable to F. H. Rawson, treasurer. Contributors should state whether their donations are intended for the hospital or free ice funds. All contributions will be acknowledged promptly.

Just two months ago tomorrow THE TRIBUNE hospital and summer camp at Algonquin was opened for its fifth consecutive season and took up the summer's work of caring for sick children and mothers of the city during the hot months.

During these eight weeks more than 1,000 children and women have been guests and patients of THE TRIBUNE, have been restored to health and strength. In these weeks, and with the summer season to continue nearly one month longer, more patients have been received at the camp than in any previous year.

When the camp closes for the season it is probable that its record of attendance will reach nearly 2,000, or twice as many patients as have ever been cared for in a single summer.

Seeks Continued Support.

With a view of continuing the camp as long as the warm weather prevails and endangers the lives of little children in the city, THE TRIBUNE asks the continued generous support of its friends. The cost of maintenance of THE TRIBUNE's summer charities, the Algonquin fresh air camp and free ice distribution in the city through the Visiting Nurse association, will approximate $8,000 for the present summer.

The distribution of ice in the city, where over a million pounds will be used, alone will cost several thousand dollars. Therefore, THE TRIBUNE bespeaks further generosity and coöperation from its friends. Will you help?

Out at the Algonquin hospital is a 6 months old baby which, the nurses say, can almost be seen to grow. The baby, which is about the size of a normal 1 month old infant, arrived several days ago. A nurse prepared a big bottle of milk, which soon was emptied.

Insisted on Another.

But when it came to removing the empty bottle the child hugged it with all its feeble strength and refused to give it up until another and a full bottle was substituted.

"It was a curious touch of infant sagacity," said the superintendent in relating the incident. "Ordinarily, one bottle of milk is enough for any baby, but this little one literally was starving. So we are giving it double rations and it is growing astonishingly—the nurses say they can almost see it grow."

There still are other children in the city to whom two weeks in the country may mean life and happiness. Will you help give them these greatest of gifts?

CAUSE ARREST OF CONTRACTOR.

House Owners Charge That Material Used in Buildings Was Not Paid For.

Nels Sundholm, a building contractor with offices at 145 La Salle street, was arrested last night, charged with obtaining building materials by false pretenses. Irving Daniels, 532 Humbolt street, and Alexander Dallman, 2646 Sawyer avenue, told the police that he had built houses for them, and after they had paid him they received letters from different concerns telling them that materials used in the construction of their homes were not paid for.

LIQUOR DRINKERS' "HARD LUCK"

Due to Loss of Will Power and Business Ability—Poison Deposit in Brain and Body Unfits Him for Achievement

The weakest part about a liquor drinker is his WILL POWER—the alcoholic poison KILLS that almost with his first drink.

But he believes that he has a STRONG WILL—much stronger than his fellow drinkers—because he THINKS that HE can quit whenever he wants to. That is the BRAIN—alcoholic delusion. He never stops to recall to mind the number of times that he has said that he was "going to quit." Unfortunate in everything he undertakes, he blames "hard luck"—not liquor.

The Gatlin treatment CURES the liquor habit in THREE DAYS—any case. Don't believe this impossible because by hypodermic injection methods of treatment of the drink habit four or six weeks' time is required in which to "sober up" the patient. We say "sober up" advisedly, because EIGHTY PER CENT of those treated by injections of strong drugs DON'T STAY CURED.

A cure in three days is not impossible because the Gatlin Institute CURES EVERY PATIENT who comes to it for treatment, and has been doing so for NINE YEARS. It is the ONLY treatment that will stand a legal contract, "CURE IN THREE DAYS OR NO PAY." It is the only treatment which will stand any and every test—the only one driving out the CAUSE of drunkenness instead of treating the EFFECT.

The CAUSE, that which creates craving and desire—that feeling of "I must have a drink"—is the POISON DEPOSIT in your system of years of liquor drinking.

Any man who cannot accept the Gatlin Institute's proposition to cure DON'T WANT TO BE CURED; if his family or friends will not accept it for him, he is not believed to be WORTH curing.

The contract to cure is legally executed in writing in each case, and if at the end of the third day of treatment there is failure to cure, or if the patient is dissatisfied with the cure we have delivered to him, he gets his money back. We can offer you nothing more than this. It should be enough.

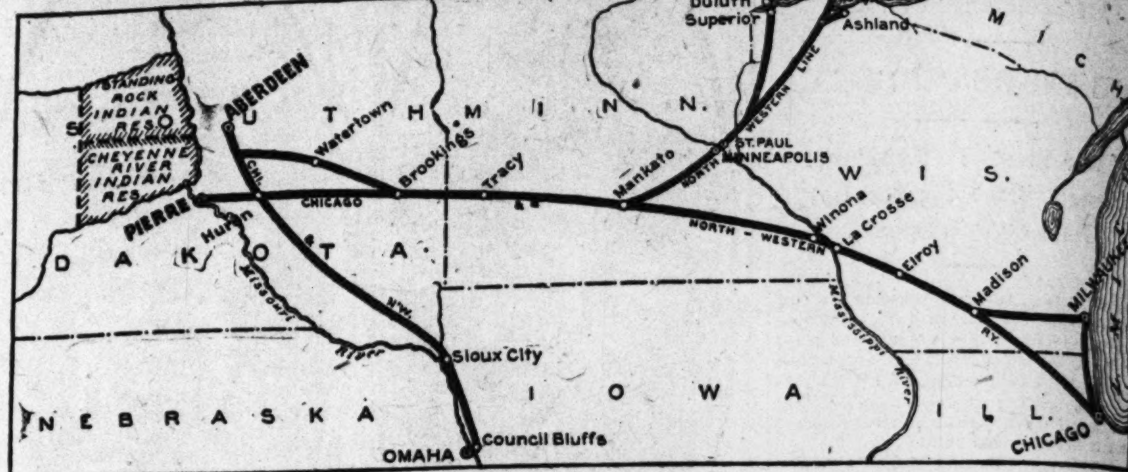
And YOU who need the cure, bear in mind that there are NO painful hypodermic injections—no cumulative, deleterious or SEX-DESTROYING DRUGS—just plain tonics and the KNOW HOW. We will guarantee to you that you will be STRONGER, MORE VIGOROUS, a BETTER MAN after the Gatlin treatment than since you first commenced to feel physical necessity for alcoholic stimulants.

If you can't spare three days at the Gatlin Institute, you CAN send for the Gatlin Home treatment. It is just as effective as Institute treatment and carries practically the same contract to cure, the only change being one to protect us from unscrupulous persons.

Call or write today for books of particulars and copies of contract to cure. Institute located at 1823 Michigan Ave., Chicago. On important business, not merely for information, use long distance telephone Calumet 4543 at our expense. Local telephone same number.

Physicians are invited to write for a new book on "Alcoholism," just published. Sent free, postpaid.

Government Homesteads



Over a million acres of farming and grazing land will be thrown open for settlement in Cheyenne River and Standing Rock Indian Reservations, October 4th to 23rd.

Registration at Pierre and Aberdeen, S. D.

Direct route to registration points is the Chicago & North Western Ry.

Two fast through trains daily via direct lines from Chicago to Pierre and to Aberdeen.

This land is well watered by the Cannon Ball, Grand, Moreau and Cheyenne Rivers and their tributaries. The soil is a light loam, fertile and makes good grain producing land. The land must be lived on and improved. A low valuation has been placed on the land by the Government, arranged in easy annual payments.

THE NORTH-WESTERN LINE

BLERIOT IS AGAIN SUPREME IN AIR

CURTISS' TIME IS BEATEN.

Paulham Makes Beautiful Flight, Going 500 Feet High in Stiff Wind.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

RHEIMS, Aug. 24.—As on the preceding day, the third day of the Rheims aviation meeting reserved its sensation for its latest hour. About 7 o'clock this evening Bleriot took out his eighty horse power monoplane and did a single round of the course of six miles in 8:54 2-5, averaging 74.318 kilometers, or nearly 46½ miles, an hour.

It must be remembered in making computations that the aeroplane only is credited with traveling the actual distance of the track, about six miles, but really covers a considerably greater distance, especially in rounding the four corners.

Glenn H. Curtiss made the distance yesterday in 8:35 3-5, so that Bleriot beat him by more than half a minute. These thirty-one and one-fifth seconds cut from Curtiss' record pleased the French spectators mightily, but it is safe to say Curtiss has not yet shown his highest speed.

Only French Brave Winds.

Previous to this day's record the Frenchmen had been elated over the fact that the French machines were the only ones that faced the high winds during President Fallieres' visit, although it was only common sense for the Wright machine operators not to take any chances with their biplanes, three of which hold the best time records in the speed race, as they have no reason to try again until some one has beaten their marks.

Paulham, who made a beautiful flight in his Voisin machine at about 5:30 o'clock, doffed his hat as he passed the box occupied by President Fallieres.

After he had rounded the turn and was racing down the backstretch a railroad train came along the track under him, moving in the same direction. Paulham gradually overtook the train and passed it.

Returning to the tribune he ascended to the dizzy height of 350 feet and passed over the tiers of seats at this altitude.

Waves Cap at Dizzy Height.

He waved his cap in response to the enthusiastic cheering of the spectators, who a moment later held their breath as Paulham's machine was caught by a gust of wind and he keeled over to a dangerous angle. But the intrepid pilot righted his aeroplane promptly and continued his flight. He made the round in 12 minutes and 13 seconds.

Without appreciably coming down from this great altitude Paulham completed his second and third rounds of the course. As he approached the finish he descended suddenly in a great curve. Many of the spectators thought he was falling, and cries of horror went up from the crowd, but when at a distance of twenty feet from the ground the biplane righted and crossed the line on even wings, and at once rose again in the air.

Is Most Remarkable Feat.

After a couple of spectacular circles in front of the tribune Paulham came to the ground in front of the tiers of seats amid thunders of applause. His was the most remarkable feat of aviation yet witnessed here.

At the end of the second round Paulham arose to the remarkable height of 500 feet. The spectators, spellbound, forgot to cheer, and many women turned their faces away as they saw the machine sway in the wind. Paulham continued at this height for some time.

Paulham's three rounds were completed in 38 minutes 12 2-5 seconds, almost ten minutes slower than Sunday's record. But the high wind and the magnificent height at which he flew were what made his flight remarkable. He was greatly delighted over his performance.

Simply Had to Fly.

"Epatant," he said gleefully afterward, "it was absolutely necessary to fly. The president was there. They (with a wave of his hand towards the other sheds) were afraid."

"Why go so high?" Paulham was asked.

"You must, for safety in the wind," he replied.

"Isn't it dangerous?"

"Not at all," replied the French aviator, "the higher you are the safer you are with a good machine, a good motor and a good ear to listen to the motor."

This all was said with the glee of a schoolboy who had outdared his fellows.

Latham, who is the keenest French rival to Bleriot, went out twice. The first time he failed to make a complete turn. On the second attempt he completed the three rounds, landing at 7:15 in the semi-darkness. His time for the three rounds was 30 minutes 2 1-5 seconds, almost two minutes slower than the record.

The resumé of the day's flights shows that only seven aviators made trials, of whom it may be said four succeeded in accomplishing what they attempted to do. Three failed entirely. The majority of the aviators considered the wind too high to attempt flights.

Zeppelin Ready for Flight.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—The Zeppelin III. is now ready for the flight from Friederichshafen to Berlin, which will start on Aug. 28. The big bag is to be inflated on Aug. 25 and a trial flight will be made the following day. The machine will carry twenty persons besides the crew, and it is announced that if the government does not buy the ship it immediately will be placed in the service of the new airship passenger company.

DICKINSON WANTS RESULTS.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—That the present aeroplanes, including the Wright type, are of no practical value to the army except as they demonstrate wherein improvements are needed, was the declaration made by Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson, who is in Detroit today to attend the thirty-second annual meeting of the American Bar association.

"It has not been demonstrated that aeroplanes are of value even for observation purposes as yet," said Secretary Dickinson. "None of the machines has reached a higher altitude than 400 feet, and the trials made thus far have been under favorable wind conditions. The use of aeroplanes still is in the experimental stage, and necessarily so. It is only by trying them out and determining what improvements are necessary that any progress will be made toward perfecting them. It may be that the aeroplane of today will be to the airship of the future what the first automobile was as compared with the high class machine of the present. There certainly is great room for improvement. Our present aeroplane would not cut much figure in modern warfare."

Wright Going to Washington.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Activity in aeronautics in and about Washington will be revived when Wilbur Wright comes here, within a week or ten days, to instruct Lieuts. Lahm and Foulois of the signal corps in the manipulation of the army's Wright aeroplane. The shed for the housing of the flying machine is being erected upon the field at College Park, Md., where the training flights are to be made, and the aerodrome is being cleared of all obstructions.

There may be flights by the Smidley monoplane prior to the instruction trials for the army officers. J. H. Smidley, who has been putting the finishing touches on a monoplane which he has constructed along original lines, is preparing to give his flyer a test at the Benning racetrack within a few days. H. A. Orme, another local aviator, who has a biplane, differing in design from that of the Wrights, also intends to make trial flights in the near future. The army field at College Park is to be put at the disposal of those aviators who desire to test their machines under the most favorable conditions.

Politics Leads to Marriage Tie.

Miss Ellen M. Falk

Application by Sidney Kahnweiler for a license to wed Miss Ellen M. Falk marks the culmination of a romance begun in the last aldermanic campaign when he was the Democratic candidate for alderman of the Sixth ward.

Miss Falk, who lives at 5 De Kalb street, organized a young woman's auxiliary in the interest of the young Sixth warder's candidacy. Her engagement to wed Mr. Kahnweiler was announced the day after the election, and the defeat of the young man in his political aspirations.

Mr. Kahnweiler is a member of the real estate firm of E. B. Wolf & Co. He lives at 4541 Indiana avenue.

FATE OF DYNASTY AT STAKE.

Protests Received as Result of Gross Outrages on Humanity.

MELILLA, Morocco, Aug. 24.—Gen. Marina, commander of the Spanish forces, hopes, if there is no unforeseen check to his preparations, to assume the offensive within ten days or a fortnight. It is evident that he feels keenly the responsibility resting upon him.

The event of the next few weeks here may decide the fate of the dynasty. A reverse might prove fatal. Dispatches from Melilla state that Gen. Marina has begun his advance, but the minister of war declares that he has received no advices of such a movement.

Melilla and the railway have been converted into a veritable fortress and it would require an army with a siege train and modern ordnance to capture these points. Everything now turns on the construction of the canal to Marchica. If this fails the Spaniards' task will be immeasurably harder, as all the supplies must be brought by land, subject to attacks by the Moors.

Protests Against Tortures.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Tangier says the British consul at Fez has protested against the barbarous tortures inflicted by order of Sultan Mulai Hafid on the followers of the rebel leader, El Roghi, who were captured in a recent fight and taken to Fez. It is stated that the teeth of the women prisoners were drawn, while the men's hands were cut off and their bodies slashed and salted. There were other atrocities. Even children did not escape torture.

Many Prisoners at Barcelona.

LISBON, Aug. 24.—A dispatch from Barcelona says at the last meeting the Spanish cabinet decided upon the most stringent measures against all those suspected of taking part in the recent revolutionary movement. In consequence of this many arrests have been made during the last few days, including all the members of the Patriotic Liberal association, "Casa de Poro." Whole families, men and women, and even young children, have been torn from their homes. The prisoners at Barcelona number 5,000, while large numbers have been arrested in other cities.

MRS. BELMONT OPENS HOUSE TO THE WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The first of Mrs. Oliver Hazard Perry Belmont's woman suffrage meetings was a crowning success this afternoon, both in number attending and financially, for there must have been a large amount realized from the tickets and photographs that were sold.

Marble house, the beautiful Belmont mansion, was the feature point of many that attended, and gathered inside of the marble walls that inclose the extensive grounds were fully 500 persons by the time the meeting began.

Among those taking part in the exercises was Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Although Mrs. Howe is in her ninety-first year, she drove to the Belmont mansion and took an active part. She made a short but interesting address.

This was the first time the gates of this villa ever have been thrown open to the general public. American flags and the standard of the women, a blue flag with four white stars representing the four states that have gone over to the cause of the suffrage advocates, were displayed.

The meeting itself, which was held under the tent, began promptly at 4 o'clock. On the stage at one end of the tent was Mrs. Belmont, who opened the meeting with words of welcome; Mayor Patrick J. Boyle of this city, who consented to act as presiding officer; Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, who was the principal speaker; Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, and Mrs. Catt, both of whom are well known in the ranks of woman suffrage workers. Mrs. Howe also occupied a seat on the stage.

Dr. Shaw talked for nearly an hour on the principles of the suffrage movement. She soon won the attention of all inside the tent, as it was her evident intention to interest those not in the present movement, but whether or not any conversions to the cause resulted from her interesting address is not known.

KILLS HER BABIES AFTER SHIPWRECK

Woman Fears That Survivors Would Practice Cannibalism and Commits Crime.

HAD SEEN HUSBAND DIE.

Five Survivors of Crew of Twenty-two Tell Horrors of a Disaster.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 24.—A tragic story of the wreck of the Norwegian bark Erral, which struck Middleton reef on June 18, was brought to port today by the steamer Makura from Australia.

Only five of the twenty-two men aboard the Erral were alive when the wreck was discovered by the steamer Tafu. These were taken aboard the Tafu, nearly dead from thirst and starvation.

Capt. Anderson and the second mate were drowned while building a raft. Anderson's wife and children saw him disappear.

After others had succumbed, and the remainder were weak from starvation, the captain's wife drowned her four children under the impression that the five survivors were planning a resort to cannibalism.

She followed the children into the waves.

Survivors Tell of Wreck.

The five survivors were too far gone to talk much of their sufferings. Patrick Palmer, an American, who joined the ship at Coquimbo, said:

"Five of us got away on a raft. We went all over the reef in search of water, but found none, and one of the party died there. We had some difficulty in building the raft and the captain and second mate both were drowned. The captain's wife stood within a few feet of him watching him and she saw him drown as she stood there wringing her hands. She had her four children, from the baby 1 year old to the 8 year old girl, standing beside her.

"We thought we would be able to find water on the reef and save the lives of those we had left on the wreck, but those sailing directions lie. They said there was water there, a lifeboat and food, and there was no food and no lifeboat. Ole died; he fell down on the reef and dropped his head on his chest. He was lucky.

Live on Shellfish Only.

"There was another wreck on the reef and we thought it was a store ship. We boarded it, but found nothing to eat. It was musty, old, and all it held was a bottle with about two gills of water that must have been there for years, by the horrible taste of it. We then decided to build a punt from the wreckage, and while we were working on this we lived on shellfish."

Another survivor said that when the sufferers were sitting on the sand the captain's wife asked them not to eat her children. Her mind was gone. Suddenly she ran into the sea and drowned her four children and herself.

The Makura also reported having spoken last Sunday the overdue Birtish ship Celtic Monarch, which left Glasgow on March 20 for Vancouver and Puget sound ports. The Celtic Monarch signaled: "All Well."

Missionary Boat Is Lost.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 24.—The loss of the missionary steamer, Hiram Bingham, and the death of its master, Capt. Alfred C. Walkup, were reported in a cablegram from Sydney, N. S. W., received today by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. The cablegram gave no details of the disaster.

LAKE STEAMER SINKS.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—The freight steamer Collingwood, 386 feet long, of Collingwood, Ont., was sunk tonight after a collision with the steamer George L. Craig of Toledo in the Detroit river.

The Collingwood reached the United States army dock at Fort Wayne in a sinking condition and went to the bottom in ten minutes. Several of the crew were in their berths at the time of the collision, but all escaped.

Steam Barge Is Wrecked.

Frankfort, Mich., Aug. 24.—The steam barge Robert C. Wente, 141 feet long, of Manistee, Mich., was reported wrecked tonight on Platte Bay reef off Point Betsy, and in danger of going to pieces unless the wind subsides. The Frankfort life saving crew has gone to the rescue of the crew.

TWO CLAIMS NEAR DECISION WITH LATIN-AMERICAN LANDS

United States Succeeds in Urging Venezuela and Nicaragua to Treat with Financial Interests.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The United States government is rapidly bringing about settlements in two claims which American concerns have brought against two small South American nations. They are the differences between the Emery company, a Boston concern, and the Nicaraguan government, growing out of the cancellation by the latter of a mahogany timber cutting concession, and the celebrated case of the United States and Venezuela company against Venezuela, known as the Crichfield case.

It now is believed a compromise will be reached in the Nicaraguan trouble, thus avoiding the necessity of sending the issue to arbitration. Nearly $3,000,000 is involved.

The Crichfield case arose out of a confiscation by the Castro government of a railroad and mining concession held by the United States and Venezuela company. The state department has received a cable from Minister Russell at Caracas in which he states the settlement of the case was signed Aug. 21. Venezuela is to pay $475,000.

STEAMERS MEET; SCORES DIE.

Women and Children Pleasure Seekers Are Victims of Disaster in Montevideo Harbor.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 24.—Between 150 and 300 persons, mostly women and children, were drowned at the entrance to Montevideo harbor today when two local excursion steamers collided and one sank.

The vessels were the Argentine steamer Colombia, carrying passengers from Buenos Aires to the festival at Montevideo, and a German steamer. It was the latter which sank and only the captain and a few of the passengers were saved. The boat sank so rapidly that there was no time to man the boats.

The captain of the German steamer, after he had been rescued, had to be confined to prevent him from committing suicide.

NEW CRISIS FOR TURKEY.

Situation in Albania Assumes Threatening State—Clans Are Arming.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SALONIKI, Aug. 24.—The Turkish government again is in trouble with the northern Albanians, who are now in open revolt. One report says there has been severe fighting between Turkish troops and rebels. The latter have fortified themselves in the mountain strongholds and have issued an appeal to other Albanian clans to join them. The situation is declared to be critical.

Lightning Kills Two in Church.

LUCCA, Italy, Aug. 24.—The village church at Gello, a neighboring hamlet, was struck by lightning. The roof of the building collapsed, killing two of the worshipers within and injuring fifteen others.

Colombians Wound American Vice Consul at Cartagena.

DUE TO BITTER FEELING.

Washington Government Makes Demands for Reparation.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Steamship passengers arriving from Colombia report the attempted assassination and serious wounding by two Colombians of William B. McMasters of New York, United States vice consul at Cartagena. The attack was the outgrowth of anti-American feeling there.

Attacked in His Home.

McMasters was at his home in Cartagena on the evening of July 24 when Lara Cendoba, editor of an anti-American newspaper in Cartagena, accompanied by a friend, broke in on him. The two were armed with knives and revolvers. McMasters put up a brave defense, but was badly wounded in a dozen places and left for dead. A bullet grazed his forehead, and he was stabbed in the head and abdomen. It is hoped despite the severity of his wounds that McMasters will recover. His assailants were not arrested until the next day. They are both in prison.

An official account of the outrage has been sent to the state department at Washington, and it is understood that the United States legation at Bogota has demanded satisfaction.

Anti-American Feeling High.

It is learned that several days before the attack some one fired several shots at McMasters from ambush. Anti-American feeling is running high in Cartagena, and more trouble is feared if sharp measures of repression are not taken.

The revolution in Colombia is at an end and Gen. Gonzales Valencia is president. Seventeen lives were lost in the attempted revolt.

GOMEZ STOPS CUBAN GRAFT; CANCELS ILLEGAL CONTRACTS.

President Takes Final Step in Promised Crusade for Reform—Supplies Bought Without Asking Competitive Bids.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—President Gomez took the first step in his reform movement today when he issued a decree annulling all government contracts illegally awarded by various departments without public bidding.

The decree orders that all materials furnished, or services so far rendered under these contracts, shall be paid for and the contracts canceled. It appears there has been considerable crookedness and venality in awarding contracts for department supplies.

President Gomez has invited various editors to confer with him personally, with the apparent purpose of ending unfriendly criticisms of his administration.

A West Indian cyclone which had been raging two days passed over Havana this afternoon, but caused no damage.

SAYS ALL IS QUIET IN MEXICO.

Ambassador Thompson Wires Washington That Disorders Are of Little Consequence.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—David E. Thompson, the United States ambassador to Mexico, has telegraphed the state department that there is no danger of serious trouble in Mexico. He says the elements of disorder practically are confined to the northern states of Mexico, and may, as heretofore, cause local disturbances, but that the Mexican government is prepared to take care of any condition that may arise. He adds that no hurt can come to any foreign interests in Mexico.

In a dispatch to the state department upon the reported disturbances in the state of Sonora, Louis Hostetter, United States consul at Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, states that the reports recently issued as to the disturbances in Sonora are misleading and incorrect.

He adds that some arrests have been made of persons who, while under the influence of liquor, have created disorder by yelling in the streets for some of the political candidates, but that, other than these few instances, the conditions are normal.

SWEDISH UNION MAKES COUP.

Compositors' Organization Transfers Assets, Expecting Order Sequestrating Funds.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 24.—Anticipating a court order sequestrating its funds pending the trial of the suit for damages begun by the newspapers of Stockholm in connection with the recent strike, the Swedish compositors' union has transferred all its possessions to private hands.

A petition signed by women from all classes of society has been presented to the king, begging him to intercede to bring about arbitration of the dispute between the laborers and their employers that resulted in the strike now almost a month old.

The ministry of the interior has sent telegraphic instructions to all local governors to take drastic measures to protect the laborers who have returned to work.

SON OF EARL IS FOUND DEAD.

Gunshot Wound Killed Lord Eliot, Officer in Coldstream Guards, Crack British Regiment.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Lord Eliot, the eldest son of the earl of St. Germans, was found dead today at Port Eliot, the family residence. His death had resulted from a gunshot, but whether by accident or design is not known. Lord Eliot, who was an officer in the Coldstream guards, was recently invalided home from Khartoum.

CHINA AND JAPAN FEAR WAR?

Report from St. Petersburg Says These Nations Are Planning Secret Convention.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 24.—It is reported from Harbin that China and Japan are settling the details of a secret convention, drawn up in view of the possibility of the breaking out of war in the far east. It is also reported that the garrisons of the Chinese fortresses near the Russian frontier are being greatly strengthened.

CHICAGO TRACTION PLAN IN GOTHAM?

DELAY IN FINAL DECREE.

Court Declines to Sign Record in Frank Gould Case Owing to Technicality.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Aug. 24.

Chicago Traction Plan to Be Suggested.

Stone & Webster, Boston traction experts, will suggest that the committee representing the junior bond issues of the Metropolitan street railway of this city be let into the partnership affairs of the reorganized company on the principle now being worked out in Chicago. The Boston firm finds the admission of a city partnership as the only alternative of the complete alienation of the property that even in the event of the entire reconstruction of the surface lines as planned the company with its present earning capacity could not pay more than 5 per cent. What proportion of revenue will go to the city under the suggested arrangement is not announced. In Chicago the municipality gets 55 per cent net, deducting 5 per cent for appraisal and value of the plant.

Among the advantages of having a city partnership, it is understood, a good deal of stress is laid on the fact that traffic is facilitated by a stricter enforcement of the traffic regulation, thereby rendering the long haul of passengers more attractive, for the reason that greater speed is attainable. It is also considered likely that a reduction of the transfer abuse might result. On the other hand, it is pointed out there is a difference between the situation at Chicago and in this city in that the Chicago partnership arrangement was made at a time when franchises generally were expiring, whereas in this city the franchises for the most part are perpetual.

Final Decree Not Signed in Frank Gould Case.

Supreme Court Justice Giegerich declined today to sign the final decree of divorce for Helen Kelly Gould from Frank J. Gould on the ground that the papers were not properly submitted. The case was on Justice Giegerich's calendar on Monday and Herbert C. Smyth, counsel for Mrs. Gould, was there to submit the papers, there being no opposition. He found at the last moment that his papers were not complete and after remedying the defect, left them with the clerk, understanding that they would be submitted as a matter of course when the case was called today.

When the case was called no one responded and the case was marked in default. The justice thereupon ruled that counsel for Mrs. Gould should have been there to submit the papers and refused to receive them.

Big Liners Barely Escape Collision at Sea.

Capt. Rott and passengers arriving today on the steamer Grosser Kurfurst told a thrilling story of how the liner narrowly averted a head-on collision with another big steamer, name unknown, while off the banks of New Foundland on the night of Aug. 20. The night had been clear up to 11 o'clock, when a thick fog suddenly settled over the water, and a few minute later the outline of a large steamer loomed up scarcely 100 yards ahead.

"I gave orders for full speed astern," Capt. Rott said, "and as I did so I saw the lights of the big liner bearing down upon us. In less time than it takes to tell it the big ship glided by us, and so closely that I could hear the officer on the bridge shouting his orders. The fog was so dense that it was impossible for me to make out the funnels of the stranger. It was the closest call I ever had in all my experiences at sea."

Sale of Railroad in South Announced.

The sale at Decatur, Miss., today of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad to the representatives of a committee of bondholders was announced in this city by President L. S. Berg. The company operates 400 miles of railroad in Alabama, Tennessee, and Mississippi. The bondholders' committee takes over the property and will reorganize it. It is stated that the name of the road probably will be changed to the New Orleans, Mobile and Chicago railroad and that it will be conducted as an independent road.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

The Speed Boys from Boston came along yesterday and disturbed our winning streak, beating the Sox 5 to 2.

The visitors won their game in their own peculiar way. No one knew why they won it, but they did. They played baseball of the variety that may be in vogue when Louis Fiene is a manager. They were far in advance of anything we have witnessed. They hit when they ought to have bunted, but that didn't seem to make any difference as far as general results went. They started out with Pitcher Hall, the gent who beat the Sox 2 to 1 in Boston. He lasted until he was almost fatally injured by a blow in the little finger, and that gave Boston's only real pitcher, Señor Arellanes, a chance to come in and work out of his turn. It's hard to tell when Arellanes' turn is, but he took one yesterday and finished what young Hall had started.

Injury Helps Red Sox.

Perhaps it was a good thing for Boston that the little finger of the St. Paul kid went wrong, for the Sox were hitting him high and far away even if they were not getting them safe. One run they had scored off him before his withdrawal, and they were threatening some more when Manager Lake jerked him. It is safe to say some of those Chicago drives would have counted if Hall had gone the full route.

The Sox used the same number of pitchers as did the Speed Boys. Bill Burns started and was discouragingly ineffective. He stuck there until the Red Hose had tallied five times, then was let out to make room for H. Sutor. The latter checked the Speed Boys, and they didn't come close to landing safely during the three rounds he worked. But they had made enough runs to render the tying up task impossible before Sutor went to the rudder.

The Bostonians fielded like a lot of prairie dogs. McConnell and Lord appearing worse than anything that has been claimed for them. Others of them, notably Harry Niles, made up for it, however, and saved both Hall and the Mexican from many trials.

The Speed Boys started in on Burns early and often. They had two tallies before our prides got started and might have had many more if Heine Wagner had not run wild on the bases. This Dutchman—no relation to Honus—drove in the first Boston tally and had something to do with the next two, but his game was not perfection for all that.

Some Sox Hit Ball.

Off Hall the Sox made one doubtful hit, Dougherty getting it in the fourth inning. Pat and Izzy contributed clean ones off Arellanes, and Jakey Atz came forward and produced a more or less scratch two bagger, so that Chicago's total of hits was not far behind that of the easterners.

The game was almost as uninteresting as that of Monday. The Bostonians scored twice before the Sox had tallied once, and never were in danger of losing after the third round. Burns didn't appear to have anything on what he pitched, a lot less, anyway, than was shown by Hall and Arellanes. When the Speed Boys got too strong against him, Manager Sully jerked him and gave Harry Sutor a chance to work. Harry went nicely during the last three innings, and the chances are the contest would have been closer if he had started in place of Burns.

After a fruitless first inning on both sides the Speeders got busy in the second and used their new system for one run. Gessler was hit in the costume by a pitched ball. Wagner, instead of bunting, banged a double into left field, and Harry the Doc scored easily. There was still a chance to bunt, but Stahl didn't try it and succumbed on three strikes. Small McConnell then hit to Atz and was tossed out. Gessler thought this was his turn to score and he was doubled up a mile off the plate.

One was down in the third when Hall singled to center. Niles grounded to Atz, who fumbled long enough to allow the Michigander to get on, but finally pegged to first, and Altizer, seeing Hall skating for third, flagged him with a nice throw. Niles went to second while this was going on and counted on Lord's single to right, Hahn making it doubly sure by fumbling the ball. Speaker ended it by forcing his captain.

Sox Find Hall in Fourth.

Held in check for three rounds, the Sox opened on Hall with two out in the fourth and came within one of tying it up. Dougherty's life was prolonged when Capt. Lord muffed his foul. Then he beat out a hit to McConnell and reached second when Ambrosia tossed past Stahl. Hahn slapped one at the noble captain, who promptly threw it to the right field bleacher, Dougherty scoring and Eddie going to third. Tannehill broke up the combination by flying to Wagner.

It was easy for Boston thereafter. Stahl tried to start something by doubling in the fourth with two out, but couldn't get past second base. Carrigan opened the fifth by beating out a grounder to Parent. Hall sacrificed and Niles drove in the tally with a clean single to right.

Burns' last appearance was made in the sixth. Gessler greeted him with a double to left center. The doctor reached third on a wild pitch and counted easily on Wagner's poke to center. Honus junior led off so far that he finally compelled Burns to balk and was beckoned to second base. Stahl bunted a sacrifice and McConnell produced the other kind, a fly to right. It scored Wagner and gave the Speed Boys a large lead.

Ex-St. Paul Hurler Hurt.

Hall made his exit during the Sox part. One down, Parent hit a terrific one at the ex-St. Paul youth and was thrown out after Hall had counted all his fingers. He became wild in his fingerless state and walked Cole and hit Dougherty with a pitched ball. In this crisis, Arellanes appeared, and Gessler made a nice running catch of Tannehill's drive.

Sutor started working in the seventh, and he held the Red Hose at bay until the finish. A two bagger, an error, and a base on balls put Arellanes in a ditch in the Sox seventh, but nothing came of them. There was another Chicago run in the eighth. Dougherty opened with a single to right and went all the way to third on it while Gessler was attempting to get the sphere back into the diamond. Pat scored while Wagner was pegging out Tannehill and completing a double play. The Speed Boys were harmless against Sutor thereafter and the Sox didn't do a great deal with Arellanes. Score:

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

Jim Scott will try it today.

President Comiskey was not on hand to see the defeat of his second division leaders.

The Speed Boys have brought along their own mascot and bat boy, the small son of some Mr. McCarthy.

Jake Stahl had a funny day at bat. Against two left handers he struck out twice, sacrificed once, and hit a two bagger.

Harry Sutor looked good while he was facing the Red Sox and may get a chance to work against them in the last game of the series tomorrow.

Frank Isbell has been called in as pinch hitter twice since his bad leg compelled him to retire from active service. He has delivered a hit on each occasion.

Cole met the ball more or less squarely every time he appeared at bat, but failed to get one safe. He walked once. In the field he accepted his three chances nicely.

The Sox expect great things of young Collins, the outfielder secured from the Springfield, Mass., club. The youth bears a striking resemblance to Larry Lajoie. He was discovered by Ted Sullivan.

Pat Dougherty put in another great day. He faced the Boston pitchers four times. He fanned the first time, but came back with an infield single and a real one. He was hit by a pitched ball on his third appearance at the plate. Pat scored both of Chicago's runs.

FIELDER JONES DECLINES TO DIVULGE BASEBALL PLANS.

Finds Time, However, to Say Neither St. Louis Nor Boston Is Being Considered—May Take Senators.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—"Guess I'll be buying a club in every one of the big leagues before the season is over," remarked Fielder Jones when asked if he was negotiating for the Boston National league team, "but you can say for me that I have no intention to interest myself with the Boston club."

Jones was emphatic in his denial that the Boston club was the one he is after, though it is practically certain that he is negotiating for some major league team. At present he will not divulge the name of the club or clubs, but says that neither Boston nor St. Louis is being considered, and neither is Cleveland, if Jones' denials are to be taken for anything.

From a close friend of Jones it has been learned that he would not be averse to taking a chance with the Washington American league franchise, though he himself will not admit it.

"Why don't you pick out all the tail enders for me to buy?" countered Jones when asked if he was considering Washington, and when told that a second division club, if made a factor in the race, would probably pay him the better he only smiled and said, "Wait and see."

If Comiskey would give Jones half a chance to buy into the Chicago club he would not be out of baseball any longer than it takes to draw up the papers, for Chicago is foremost with Jones, and he watches the career of the White Sox with as much interest as if he still handled the reins.

Many Fields for Jones?

New York, Aug. 24.—Negotiations are pending, it is announced here, whereby Fielder Jones, former manager of the Chicago American league baseball club, who retired from the game last fall to go into the lumber business in Oregon, is likely to figure as the manager and part owner next season of one of the three major league clubs.

Jones is said to have made a definite offer for the purchase of the Boston National league club. It is also said Robert L. Hedges has made him an attractive proposition to assume management of the St. Louis team.

In reorganizing the Washington American league club, which involves the release of Manager Cantillon, President Ban Johnson is reported to be anxious to have Jones assume the control of that team at a big salary and with a slice of stock in part payment. The Washington club is said to be ready to close with Jones at once, allowing him to name his own terms.

KRAUSE KNOCKED OFF SLAB.

Heavy Hitting Marks Long Heart Breaking 7 to 6 Contest.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—After the Philadelphians apparently had the game won, scoring four runs before Detroit counted, the locals knocked Krause off the slab, doubles by Cobb and Delehanty and a single by Crawford, coming after an error and a base on balls, and resulting in four runs. The game ended 7 to 6 in Detroit's favor, and was a free hitting contest, with considerable loose play on both sides.

An opportunity for the visitors to win the game was offered in the ninth inning, which closed with the bases filled. With one out in this inning, Heitmuller singled cleanly and Hartsel got a scratch safety. Murphy doubled, scoring a run and putting men at third and second. Donovan was called in to replace Summers and walked Collins, filling the bases. Then he struck out Baker and Davis lifted an easy fly to Crawford, ending the game.

Detroit's play was loose in the first two innings, but fast after that. The visitors did not give their pitchers the best support towards the finish. The batting of Hartsel and the timely hitting of Crawford, Cobb, and Murphy were notable features. Delehanty made one wonderful stop and throw that cut off a run. Score:

WANTS COMMISSION ENLARGED

President Murphy Believes Supreme Baseball Body Should Include Minor Representation.

President Murphy of the Chicago Cubs has some ideas regarding the government of baseball that he hopes to see carried out before another year is over. He believes the membership of the national commission should be enlarged, and that the minor leagues should have representation on the ruling body.

"Baseball is a big thing," said he yesterday; "a much bigger thing than it was six years ago, when the national commission came into existence. I believe the present members of the body work as hard as they can, but I believe there ought to be four more members, and that the minors ought to have some voice in the rulings handed down.

"It seems to me it would be a good thing to have the presidents of both major leagues and the presidents of class AA minor organizations on the commission. I think Powers, O'Brien, and Sexton ought to have voices in the highest court of organized baseball, and I would suggest that President Johnson and C. W. Somers of the American league and President Heydler and Garry Herrmann of the National be the other four members.

"Furthermore, I believe that all the meetings of the commission ought to be open to the public, and that a ball player who has or thinks he has a grievance should be allowed to appear before the commission or be represented by an advocate for the purpose of having his case stated properly.

"I don't think the major leagues have any right to keep the minors off the ruling board, and I am backed up in this opinion by some of the most experienced men in baseball, John T. Brush among others. Baseball has grown wonderfully in the last six years, and there is no reason to believe it will not grow just as much more in the next six. I think we ought to prepare for the growth to come by making the national commission a truly representative body."

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Overall and Hofman won the opening game of the Cubs' final series of the year here and Archer saved it when nothing else could have enabled Chicago to gain half a lap on Pittsburg by trimming the Phillies by the narrowest possible margin of 1 to 0.

But for Mary Jane's Pa, who came to the rescue with a three base hit in the eighth inning, the best Overall could have got for all his magnificent endeavor would have been a drawn battle with McQuillan, who was working some himself to accomplish the downfall of the world's champions. Not until Hofman's triple shot off Deininger's shin in the eighth could the Cubs count a tally, as then it required only an infield out to let Artie home.

But in the Phillies' eighth, when Manager Murray sent Bates to bat for his hurler, the sub sticker started something which looked highly explosive when he let loose a two bagger with nobody out. Here it was that Archer played the rôle of life saver, for he caught Bates napping so far off second base that Tinker shoved the ball in the runner's face as he dove back to the bag. That clever bit of trickery was followed by a long, ringing single by Grant which would have tied the score just as surely as death and taxes, but because of Bates' violent demise the single cut no figure except in Grant's swat dope.

Chance Back in Game.

Chance was feeling so much better today that he went out to the ball lot and warmed up with his men, and when he had boiled a few minutes in the hot sun all the grip germs were roasted out of his system and he took up the old burden at first. The Cubs were an entirely different outfit in consequence from what they looked in the final game at Beantown.

Although outhit and outfielded, the world beaters won because they could see more clearly and think a lot faster than their local opponents. Two errors on the Cub defense were not allowed to infringe on their pennant chances because everybody knuckled down and played desperately when things looked dark. Overall was tighter than an overstretched kettledrum in pinches, and several of his seven strikeouts came when that was the safest way to dispose of a batsman.

The Cubs would have won the battle in the earlier rounds but for two tough breaks against them. In the fifth inning Tinker was deprived of the honor of scoring Artie Hofman with a vicious drive to right because Titus tore in and caught the ball sensationally, converting a budding tally into a double play which retired the side.

Hoffman's Single Is Triple.

These tough luck spots were a counterbalance to the good fortune when it did come our way, for it required poor headwork on Deininger's part to convert Hofman's drive in the eighth from an ordinary single to a three bagger, and Artie himself would have been nailed at the plate if Ward had not made an instantaneous fumble of Tinker's hit.

The Cubs could get only five hits off McQuillan, and they made no two of these in the same session, but as already related it was due to superb and lucky defense that they did not get two safety shots together on two different occasions. Overall allowed seven hits and in the eighth two of them were bunched, but Archer sandwiched his brainy play between swats and prevented damage. And it is just possible Archer would have saved some worry in the ninth if Klem had called the play correctly when Magee stole third, for it looked as if Archer threw him out also.

After Evers had blown open the combat with a single to center and had been caught stealing there was not much to disturb the serenity of Quakerdom's siesta until well toward midbattle. Not until the third did Overall allow a single off him, and then the swatter was caught stealing.

Evers came up first in the fourth and this time worked McQuillan for a pass. Sheckard sacrificed and almost beat out his bunt to Grant, but Chance and Steinfeldt could not score John of Troy.

Hofman essayed to produce a run in the fifth by beating out a single toward third with only one out. Tinker followed with a line soak over into short right, and the drive apparently was safer than government bonds, so Mary Jane's Pa scorched around the bases.

But Titus hustled in and pinched that drive a foot from the ground and could have completed a double play unassisted if he chose, for Hofman was over on third base before he stopped in utter amazement at silent John's feat.

In the home team's fifth the first Cub slip produced a small opening in the defense. Bransfield singled to center with one out and Overall, after grabbing Ward's bounder, made a wild throw to second trying to force Kit. But that cost nothing, for Doolan popped to Hofman and Sheckard gathered in Dooin's drive.

The sixth saw another slip which, happily, was inexpensive. With one out Grant poked a hot one close to first. Chance stabbed it brilliantly back of the bag and tried desperately to toss the ball to first in time to retire the runner, but in vain. Moreover that toss went over Overall's head and Grant kept right on to second in safety. Here Overall repaired the breach himself by striking out Deininger. Titus worked him for the only pass Jeff had, only to be forced at second by Magee.

The Cubs missed another chance by the double play route in the seventh. Schulte beat out a safe bunt along third base line with one out and caught Chance's single for a hit and run. Schlitz ran all right and Chance hit ditto, but as the ball was sailing out to right center Ward lifted himself in the air and pulled it down, easily doubling up Schulte and retiring the side.

How the Tally Was Made.

In the Phillies' half Ward singled to right with one out and stole second, but Doolan struck out, and once more Sheckard pinched Dooin's fly. That was the way things were going when, with one out in the eighth, Hofman stung a liner straight out to short center. Deininger tore in with visions of beating Titus' spectacular catch, but the hit was too short for him to reach and the ball shot against his shins on the bound and caromed so far out of reach that Mary Jane's Dada reached third base on it. Tinker hit sharply to Ward, who set himself for the throw home, but fumbled just long enough to miss the chance to stop Artie, and had to peg Tinker out instead. Archer then fanned.

But it was Archer's turn to shine in a few minutes. Bates, batting for McQuillan, opened the local eighth with a double into left center. The Cubs did some thinking, for one hit now would wipe out their one tally and the score board showed a chance to gain on Pittsburg. It was up to Grant to sacrifice Bates to third, so Overall pitched one that Grant couldn't reach, and quick as a flash Archer shot it to second, where Tinker was waiting to grab it. Bates was so anxious to get over to third on the expected bunt that he was caught by yards and ran his face into the ball in Joe's hands as he ducked back. Grant followed that with a clean long drive to left, but Deininger and Titus flied out.

Magee Scares the Cubs.

In the ninth Magee gave us a lot more heart disease by beating out a high bounder to Steinfeldt at the start. Bransfield helped some by bunting an easy pop fly to Steiny, but a wild pitch let Magee to second and he stole third, according to Klem. That was where the Cubs tightened every bolt in their defense, for a long fly would ruin everything. The best Ward could do was to pop a fly to Chance, and Doolan rainbowed one to Hofman, ending the battle. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS

Philadelphia again tomorrow and Thursday.

The gap is only four and a half games wide tonight.

The Cubs need only thirty-five more victories, or this is a mighty poor guess, and they have forty-four games in which to win them.

The crowd was the smallest the Cubs have played to in this town for several seasons, the official count being less than 4,000.

Reulbach is in line for tomorrow's battle, but Chance has not figured out his pitching plans definitely, and probably will not disclose them to the enemy when he does.

Corridon began the ninth on the slab by passing Overall, but Evers forced his big pal at second, and after Sheckard had popped out John perished in his second attempt to steal second.

The two halves of the third were almost duplicates. In the Cubs' half Tinker was thrown out by the shortstop, Archer singled to center, Overall fouled out, and Archer was caught stealing second. In the Phillies' Doolan was thrown out from shortstop, Dooin singled to center, McQuillan struck out, and Dooin was caught stealing second.

RUBE WADDELL TO THE MINORS

Twirler Said to Have Outlived Usefulness with Browns and Goes to Louisville.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—It is rumored persistently that George Edward [Rube] Waddell, the famous left handed pitcher of the Browns, formerly of Athletics, Pittsburg, Columbus, Louisville, and other teams, will be relegated to a minor league. The Louisville club of the American association has, it is said, secured the services of the erratic twirler, who has been the most wonderful left handed pitcher baseball has ever known. Mr. Hedges, owner of the Browns, is said to be financially interested in the Louisville club, which recently was purchased by a close friend of his, William Grayson of St. Louis.

WISCONSIN TEAM AT SEATTLE.

Badger Baseball Squad of Sixteen Men Arrive at Western City—Leave for Japan on Aug. 31.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin party of sixteen men arrived tonight over the Great Northern on its way to Japan to play with the Keio university team. The men are all in excellent condition. They are stopping at the Washington Annex while here. Arrangements for games with the Washington university have not been completed, but games will be played. The team will sail Aug. 31.

Mathewson Saves First Contest; Raymond Gets Good Trouncing, Losing 11 to 3.

New York, Aug. 24.—New York and Pittsburg divided a double header, the home team victory being by a 4 to 3 score and the visitors winning 11 to 3.

In both games the Pittsburgs hit the ball hard, Raymond getting a particularly severe drubbing. Pittsburg probably would have taken both games but for the fine relief work of Mathewson in the ninth inning of the first contest.

This game had a sensational finish. The visitors entered the ninth three runs behind. Wagner hit the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run, and Miller, Abstein, and Wilson followed with singles, netting another tally. Mathewson relieved Wiltse with no one out and two men on bases, and halted the scoring. Gibson hit into a double play, and Hyatt, batting for Leever, struck out.

Willis, who started to pitch for Pittsburg, lasted only one inning, New York getting three runs on Doyle's triple, Seymour's sacrifice fly, bases on balls to McCormick and Devlin, and Bridwell's double. The winning run was scored in the eighth inning on Seymour's two bagger and McCormick's single, Leever then being the Pittsburg pitcher.

In the second game Pittsburg batted Raymond almost at will, six of their eleven hits being long ones. Scores:

Gib- hit into a double play, and Hyatt, batting for ever, struck out.

Villis, who started to pitch for Pittsburg, lasted y one inning, New York getting three runs on yle's triple, Seymour's sacrifice fly, bases on lls to McCormick and Devlin, and Bridwell's uble. The winning run was scored in the eighth ning on Seymour's two bagger and McCormick's gle, Leever then being the Pittsburg pitcher. n the second game Pittsburg batted Raymond most at will, six of their eleven hits being long s. GOOD RACE CARD AT JOLIET TRACK

Gov. Searles and Dulce Jay Win Two of the Three Harness Events.

RUNNERS GET AN INNING.

Giles and Uncle Jim Gray, Favorites in Handbooks, Gallop Home on the Bit.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Chicago horses won two of the three harness races at the Joliet fair today, Gov. Searles, from the McMahon stable, taking the last three heats of the 2:07 pace after the first heat had gone to Spill in 2:07¼, while Dean's trotter Dulce Jay was victorious over a fairly strong field in the 2:21 purse. His only serious opponent was the 3 year old filly Bertha C., which forced him to step the first heat in 2:12½ and was first home at the end of the second mile in 2:12¾, the roan making a break when close to the wire.

The most exciting incident of the afternoon was the terrific fall taken by the pacer John Brydon while scoring for the third heat of the 2:20 class. The horse made a break just as the word was given, and as Al Sweet, his driver, took Brydon towards the pole the nag seemed to strike a soft place in the track and fell headlong, the driver sailing over his head, but fortunately was uninjured.

Runners Get an Inning.

The two running races, a mile dash, and one at five-eighths, brought out good fields in point of numbers, and, while there may not have been much quality on parade, there was quite a little handy speed, the mile being done in 1:41 by the even money favorite Giles, while of the seven that started in the five furlong dash Uncle Jim Gray, held at 3 to 5 in the half dozen handbooks which did a small business, was much the best. Both winners outclassed their fields and needed no encouragement save a little hand riding in the homestretch to win by a comfortable margin.

It was figured that the running races would bring to the track a strong contingent of the Chicago sporting fraternity, and a sprinkling of them was on hand. Talk that betting would be on a large scale helped this part of the matter, but nothing of the sort eventuated. The handbooks necessarily were conservative ventures as to odds, as everybody had the tip Uncle Jim Gray and Giles would win.

It has been usual at the Joliet trotting meetings to sell auction pools, but nothing is doing in that line this week. There was subdued talk that Saturday, when the runners will have the entire card, great doings are to occur, and dark hints were not wanting that the meeting is to continue thirty days as one for runners, but no official sanction for that sort of talk could be had.

Bertha C. Shows Well.

Horsemen were greatly interested in the work of the 3 year old trotter Bertha C. in the 2:21 class. She is owned by D. D. Palmeter of Chicago and was bred by him. She is full sister to Ed Custer, a great 2 year old trotter of a few seasons ago, and by her work against aged horses has shown herself to be a 2:10 trotter, which means she will have a chance in the Kentucky Futurity and other rich events for her age.

Today Bertha C. trotted the first heat in 2:14, coming second, won the next in 2:12¾, was second the third mile in 2:14¾, and third the next time in 2:18¼. The time of this mile was slow because of breaks by both Dulce Jay and Bertha C. The stallion broke directly after the word was given, and in order to catch his field was obliged to trot the middle half of the mile in 1:04. Just as he came up to Bertha C. on the third turn the filly made a break, and from there the stallion jogged home at his ease, the last quarter taking :38½.

Chicagoans Have Hard Luck.

A couple of Chicago pacers not favored by luck were Richard Grattan in the 2:07 class and Crit Audubon in the 2:20 trot. The Grattan horse is troubled with a bad corn, and for this reason it was impossible to set him down and drive him at the end of the miles. He was beaten only a neck in 2:07¼ the first heat of his race.

Crit Audubon, which is one of the best looking horses being campaigned, is green at the racing game, and two breaks in the opening heat put him behind the flag. Under the conditions of the racing any horse not standing for money at the end of the third heat went to the barn. Summaries:

BELMONT'S FAIR PLAY ARRIVES.

Famous Speeder Returns from England After Unsuccessful Season on the Foreign Turf.

New York, Aug. 24.—August Belmont's race horse, Fair Play, which was the best 3 year old racer on the American turf last season, has arrived from England.

The animal, which had an unsuccessful season on the English turf because of the heavy weights with which it was handicapped, will be put into training at once for the fall races in this country.

John E. Madden has arranged for the return from France of the stallion Plaudit, one of his most successful race horses and sires. Plaudit will be sent to the Madden farm, Hamburg Place, Ky., where Mr. Madden believes that his services will be more appreciated than they were in France.

Germans Buy Thoroughbreds.

Arrival of Mitchell Ranger at South Shore Country Club.

NEGRO MATCHED FOR BATTLE

ARRANGE FOR 10 ROUND GO.

Only Matters Undecided Are Purse Division and Referee.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Jack Johnson and Al Kaufmann, the California heavyweight, were matched tonight to fight in this city on Sept. 9.

The match was framed up by Coffroth for Kaufmann and Jack O'Brien, and all details had been arranged for the contest. The men were to meet tonight and sign articles. Promoter and fighters came together about 8 o'clock, and a hitch developed. Then Jack Johnson was called in, and quickly agreed to take the place of O'Brien.

The big negro and Kaufmann will fight ten rounds in the open air at the Mission street arena. Sept. 9 is a state holiday, Admission day. The only matters left undecided at tonight's conference were the division of the purse and the referee, but it is not thought there can be any trouble over either issue, as both men are anxious to get into the ring.

PLANS TO FIND DANE'S RIVAL.

Matchmaker of Pittsburg Club Arranging Elimination Matches to Secure Nelson's Opponent.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Jimmy Dime, the matchmaker of the National Sporting club, has formed a unique plan for picking the right man to meet Battling Nelson in this city. He is arranging matches with a view of a process of elimination. Ad Wolgast and Harlem Tommy Murphy meet here tomorrow night. Following this will be matches in which Packey McFarland, Cyclone Johnny Thompson, and Frayne will be the principals. McFarland and Thompson have been trying to get together for some time, and this will probably be one of the first opportunities offered, though a bout between Wolgast and Packey may precede it. Then Frayne will be brought in to meet the winner, and so on until the best man is chosen to meet Nelson.

CUBANS AND QUAKERS IN MIXUP.

Islanders and Philadelphians Come to Blows During Game—Former Win by Score of Sixteen to Six.

The bad blood that exists between the Cubans and the Philadelphia Giants was spilled yesterday at Logan Square park, when a small riot occurred between the two teams in the seventh inning of the game. Duncan, the left fielder of the Giants, was on first base and Smith hit a ball to Hernandez. Hernandez threw to Bustamante, trying to make a double play, and to prevent this Duncan ran into Bustamante at second and knocked him down. Padron threw his glove at Duncan and the two players started to mix things. Others joined and a half dozen policemen stopped the riot before any serious damage was done. Umpire Conley ordered Padron and Duncan off the field. The Cubans won the game easily, as they batted two pitchers all over the lot, the final score being 16 to 6. The same teams will play the third game of the series today. Score:

EBBETS AFTER WILLIE KEELER.

Brooklyn Owner Wants Farrell to Let Little Right Fielder Go to Manage the Dodgers.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club said today that if he could induce the New York Americans to part with Willie Keeler he would make the little right fielder manager of the Brooklyn team. "I am afraid President Farrell will be opposed to such a deal," said Ebbets, "but if he is thinking of replacing Keeler next season I know Willie would jump at a chance to manage Brooklyn. Keeler is a Brooklyn boy and always has been popular with the fans of Washington park. He knows baseball from every angle and is well fitted to handle a team of players who need an experienced leader."

Dismiss Brooklyn Protest.

New York, Aug. 24.—The board of directors of the National league, by a telegraphic vote, has decided that there is no merit in the Brooklyn club's protest of the game with Cincinnati on July 8, which Cincinnati won by a score of 9 to 8, and has dismissed the protest.

WHITNEY WINS AT YORK RACES.

American Owner's Horses Score Two Victories in Prince of Wales and Badminton Events.

YORK, England, Aug. 24.—The Nunthorpe selling stakes of 5 sovereigns each, with 200 sovereigns added, distance five furlongs, was won by Pie Man. H. P. Whitney's Oversight was second, and The Spider third.

The Prince of Wales plate of 1,000 sovereigns for 2 year olds, distance five furlongs, was won by H. P. Wihtney's Whiskbroom. Galatine was second, and Woolacombe third. Whitney's Sallie of Navarre colt was among the ten starters, but did not get a place.

The Badminton plate of 150 sovereigns was won by H. P. Whitney's Top o' the Morning. Photime was second, and Sister Anne third.

Establishes 3 Year Old Mark.

WAR DISPATCH AUTO IN CITY

SAN FRANCISCO IS THE GOAL.

Easterners Hope to Deliver Message on Coast by Sept. 15.

Many hours ahead of the schedule arranged for it, the Mitchell Ranger war dispatch car, running from New York to San Francisco, arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon, escorted from South Chicago by a cavalcade of automobiles.

In charge of Malcolm E. Parrott, Tenth regiment, New York National guard, the Mitchell Ranger had an official running time mark of fifty-five hours from Columbus circle, New York, only seven hours behind the intercity record, notwithstanding the fact that Private Parrott and party stopped for the night at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Utica, N. Y., Elyria, O., and Ligonier, Ind.

Accompanying the representative of the Empire state National guard on this transcontinental run, the first of its kind ever attempted, are Frank X. Zirbies, expert driver and mechanician, and Lieut. B. B. Rosenthal, veteran of the Spanish war service. Bearing official dispatches from Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood, commanding the department of the east, to Maj. Gen. John F. Weston, commanding the department of California, Private Parrott expects to deliver the documents in person at the Presidio, San Francisco, Sept. 15.

"We left New York Thursday, Aug. 19," said Driver Zirbies, "and made no effort to set a record, yet by the original schedule we are booked for Toledo, O., tonight. The car has not had an adjustment nor a moment's delay from tire trouble. Except for detours on account of road repairs we have followed the New York-Paris racers' route, and have found the roads in excellent condition. We purpose leaving in the morning at 9 o'clock. Clinton, Ia., will be our stop tonight."

JACKSON AUTO AFTER BIG CUP.

Owners of Car Leading When Indianapolis 300 Mile Race Was Stopped Claim Trophy.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—The executive committee of the American Automobile association probably will be called upon to decide the ownership of the Wheeler-Schebler trophy cup offered for the winner of the 300 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis speedway last Saturday, which was called off in the 235th mile because of the accident resulting in the killing of three men. The Jackson Automobile company has entered claim for the trophy. The company's representative sets out that a Jackson car, Lynch driving, had a safe lead when the race was called off.

"MARATHON" SWIM ON TONIGHT

Field of Ten Stars Will Compete in Two and One-Half Mile Event—Three Cracks Out of It.

A field of ten of the best local long-distance swimmers will compete in the moonlight "Marathon" tonight, which will be held in the lake off Wilson avenue beach.

Only three of those who were extended invitations by the Chicago Swimming club to take part in the event have declined the issue. Michael McDermott, the Central Y. M. C. A. champion, could not secure the consent of his parents, who believe that two long distance swims in one season are enough for the La Salle street star. W. S. Merriam of the Marion club of Indianapolis, who won the first long distance race of the season, which was held over the same course, has written the officials that he will be unable to compete on account of sickness. R. B. Foster of the C. A. A., who was extended a special invitation in the hope of getting him into another race with Handy, had not accepted up to last night, but the committee feels reasonably sure that he will be on hand at the start.

The entry of Fred Bye of Pittsburg was accepted yesterday. Bye is a nonresident member of the Chicago Swimming club and therefore eligible to compete, as the race is open only to members of the organization. The easterner has quite a reputation as a long distance swimmer and may be counted upon to be well up in the list of finishers.

Because of Handy's easy victory in the river swim last Saturday, in which he established a new record, followers of the swimming game look for him to hang up a mark in tonight's event that will stand for a long time.

The contestants will leave Wilson beach tonight at 7 o'clock, and those in charge of the event hope to start the race at 8 o'clock so that the finish time will be around 9. Several powerful searchlights have been placed on the clubhouse so that the spectators can get a good view of the race from start to finish.

The following are sure starters: H. J. Handy, S. C. Jensen, C. Weber, G. A. Johnson, A. Jaeger, F. M. Bye, L. Chiville, G. M. Pulver, E. C. Johnson, and F. M. Elliott.

GOLFERS OFF TO LAKE GENEVA.

Qualifying Rounds for Geneva Cup and Bonny Brae Trophy to Be Played at Eighteen Holes.

Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The annual golf tournament at Lake Geneva is the distinctive classy affair of this aristocratic resort. Tomorrow the qualifying round for the Geneva cup and the Bonny Brae cup will take place at eighteen holes.

The players arriving this evening for the qualifying round are: "Chick" Evans, Edgewater; Robert Hunter, Midlothian; Stewart Stickney, St. Louis Country club; Robert Gardner, Hinsdale; Mason Phelps, Midlothian; Addison Stillwell, Midlothian; Albert Seckel, Riverside; Willie Howland, Skokie; William Egan, Exmoor.

The women will give teas each afternoon of the tournament. Wednesday a tea is given by the Misses Jones. Thursday Mrs. S. H. Wheeler entertains at luncheon and tea. The Friday afternoon tea is given by Mrs. R. T. Crane. The last entertainment is given by Mrs. J. J. Mitchell Saturday.

Clark Winner at Roque.

Norwich, Conn., Aug. 24.—In the playoff for second place in the national roque tournament on the courts Edward Clark of Springfield, Mass., beat Tracy Rudd of this city in three straight games. The series was three out of five.

Lancaster Gives Up Franchise.

Lancaster, O., Aug. 24.—The Lancaster baseball team gave up its franchise in the Ohio State league yesterday. Marion came here to play, but as there was no contest Umpire Hart awarded the game to the visiting team.

NAVY STILL LEADS IN SHOOT

BAY STATE TEAM IS SECOND.

Massachusett's Riflemen Pushing Top-Notchers Hard.

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 24.—The record of the three days' rifle contests of the national trophy, which brought the forty-eight teams almost perfect conditions so far as wind and light were concerned, but which nearly scorched the field this afternoon on the thousand yard range, ended with the United States navy still steaming in the van of the race with 2,202 points to its credit.

Massachusetts, which was second this morning, is second tonight, four points in the rear, two points nearer the jack tar team, than when the contestants took the 800 yard butts this morning.

The United States infantry, which was sixth last night, is now third; New York fell from third to fourth; Ohio pulled up from ninth to fifth; the United States Naval academy fell from fourth to sixth; Wisconsin made seventh from fifteenth; Iowa driven from fifth to eighth and Pennsylvania from eighth to ninth; and the United States marine corps jumped from eighteenth to twelfth. The leaders scored as follows:

United States navy	575	546	2,202
Massachusetts	580	543	2,198
United States infantry	570	535	2,168
New York	551	543	2,164
Ohio	566	534	2,160
Wisconsin	570	546	2,153
Iowa	570	513	2,151
Pennsylvania	561	513	2,136
United States marine	554	536	2,135

The prospects for an international match with Canada this fall are slight. The National Rifle association has just received word from the Canadians that they do not see how they can send a team.

Interest in rifle shooting has spread to the Panama canal zone. Col. George Goethals, the chief engineer, has written to Lieut. Albert S. Jones, secretary of the rifle association, that a rifle club is being formed there. To arm it he asks that forty-five rifles be sent and with them 5,000 rounds of ammunition.

The chief honorary visitor to the range today was Brig. Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordnance, United States army.

SLOW YACHT RACES AT TOLEDO.

Four Races Finished Are Taken by Local Boats—Spray Back of the Time Limit in Class F.

Toledo, O., Aug. 24.—Slow races marked the first day of the regatta under the auspices of the Interlake Yachting association, three of the races being unfinished within the time limit.

The four races finished were won by Toledo boats. The wind was light, varying from four to seven miles an hour, generally southwest. The outside course was twelve miles, triangular, and the inside course was six and three-quarter miles, triangular, three-quarters of a mile to a leg, the yachts sailing three times around.

Classes A and F, in which there was a three hour limit, were unfinished, Enright, T. Y. C., made the best time in class A, 3:04:45, and Spray, C. Y. C., made the best time of the twenty-one footers, 8:03:25.

Possum, owned by Arthur Davies, T. Y. C., won the first heat of the series for catboats, which was sailed on the inside course. Billy Taft, J. M. Grasser, T. Y. C., was second, and Number 23 was third.

MINNEAPOLIS VICTOR IN 12TH.

Down's Pilfer of Home in Overtime Battle Downs St. Paul in Close Three to Two Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 24.—Downs stole home with the winning run in the twelfth inning of an exciting game and Minneapolis went back into first place again. Laroy had the better of a pitching duel, but Patterson was steady with men on bases and his support was excellent at the critical times. Block was struck in the face by a thrown ball and Gill was injured in trying to steal home in the tenth. Score:

Dixon Browns Release Six Men.

Yearling Goes Fast Mile.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Hunter C. Moody drove the yearling pacing colt by Cochato out of a mare by Sam Estes a mile in 2:22¾ this morning. He is sure he can beat Belle Acton's world's record of 2:20¼. Brook Curry drove the 3 year old trotter Shawby a mile in 2:12¼. He looms up as a futurity possibility.

Refuses $50,000 for Racer.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 24.—Upon his arrival here from Saratoga, Charles Hughes, trainer for Henry M. Zeigler of Cincinnati, said a New Yorker whose name is withheld had just made an offer of $50,000 for the great racing stallion, Hermis, now at Zeigler's farm here. The offer was refused, Hughes says.

TRAFFIC GOLF CUP TO B. C. STEVENSON

Engineers His Clubs with Good Eeffct and Pulls In with 160 Card.

GAME IS TOO STRENUOUS.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Benjamin C. Stevenson, traveling like a fast freight and stopping at few sidings, won the golf championship of the Traffic club, played yesterday at the Exmoor Country club. Mr. Stevenson, who is with the Chicago and Alton, stopped at thirty-six stations, arriving at the terminal point with a score which, after the rebate had been taken off, gave him a classification of 160. He will have his name inscribed on the championship trophy.

The gathering was the second outing of the season of the Traffic club, fifty members competing in the golf event, while others who found golf too strenuous took part in a scrub baseball match, and the real athletes pitched quoits.

N. M. Holcomb of the Burlington road won the first flight prize in the golf tournament with a score of 175. Second flight honors went to W. S. Howell of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul with 166, while the third division emblem went to T. O. Jennings of the Rock Island. T. B. Montgomery of the Soo line won the eighteen hole handicap with a net of 82.

Westward Ho.

Up to last night fifty entries had been received for the junior open championship at Westward Ho, which will start tomorrow morning with the qualifying round for the Championship, Members', and Westward Ho cups. As Western Champion Charles Evans Jr. and Robert Gardner of Hinsdale are playing in the Lake Geneva tournament the contest will be more open. Among those entered are Paul Hunter and Donald Edwards of Midlothian, Fraser Hale of Skokie, and Gordon Yule of Kenosha. Entries have been received from Joliet, Milwaukee, St. Joseph, Mo., Elgin, and Rockford. Between eighty and one hundred players are expected to start.

Calumet.

Mrs. S. J. Chadwick led the field in the qualifying round for the club championship at Calumet yesterday with a score of 99. Mrs. C. C. Ingraham was second with 101, while Miss Florence Wikoff and Mrs. F. W. Ellis tied for third place with 104 each.

Miss Madeline Chadwick, daughter of Mrs. Chadwick, who is chairman of the woman's tournament committee, made her first appearance in a competition yesterday and qualified for the third fight trophy.

The pairings for the first match round today follow:

Second flight—Miss Florence Ellis vs. Miss R. Dugan; Mrs. C. A. Hardy vs. Mrs. C. E. Johnston.

South Shore.

Fine golf by G. Springer, a 17 year old lad, featured the first match round of the caddies' championship at the South Shore Country club yesterday. In his match with M. Quarley, Springer made the first nine holes in 35, coming within two strokes of the professional record. His card was as follows: 6, 3, 4, 4, 4, 3, 3, 4, 4—35. Summaries:

Championship flight—J. Lyon beat J. Bird, 1 up, 19 holes; C. Olson beat A. Kelly, 2 up; G. Springer beat M. Qualley, 9 and 8; J. Smith beat E. Olson, 8 and 7.

Second flight—J. Larkin beat N. Carlson, 3 and 2; R. Lageran beat C. Peterson, 2 and 1; J. Fitzgerald beat C. Miller, 1 up, 20 holes; J. Parker beat M. Whanen, 4 and 3.

Third flight—J. Dirkin beat R. Moddle, 8 and 7; D. Hagman beat A. Byrnes, 5 and 4; N. Ijmes beat J. Short, 1 up, 21 holes; W. Carlson beat W. Pimmons, 6 and 5.

Fourth flight—R. Thomas beat J. Wolf, 7 and 5; A. Bergeson beat H. Withington, 8 and 7; F. Thompson beat T. Sheehan, 7 and 6; J. Casey beat C. Pimmons, 4 and 3.

Windsor.

Miss Inez Adams and Mrs. Burke won the two ball foursome at Windsor yesterday afternoon with a net score of 144. Summary:

Plan Twelve Mile Race.

The Gaelic Athletic association announced last night they have decided to put on a special twelve mile race in connection with their first annual open athletic meet to be held at Gaelic park on Sunday. This race will be open to any amateur, and entry can be made with Dieger & Clust, 614 Schiller building, and John T. Cahill, 302 Dearborn street.

McCloskey Draws Vacation.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24.—Manager John McCloskey of the Milwaukee American association baseball team was suspended for three days beginning today by President O'Brien for using abusive language to Umpire King during the game at Kansas City last Sunday.

Runner Entered for Gaelic Meet.

P. J. DODD
QUARTER MILER

Patrick J. Dodd, running under the colors of the Seventh regiment team, is one of the choices to capture the 440 yard dash at the Gaelic meet on Sunday. Dodd came to this country from Ireland about a year and a half ago, and has made :50 2-5 on a cinder track and :51 on a grass track. At the British Isles championships two years ago Dodd took second place in his dash. Coach Delaney is after the youngster and he may join the C. A. A. squad.

GAELS AFTER C. A. A. ATHLETES.

Entry List for Big Track Meet on Sunday to Be Kept Open Until Sunday.

The Gaelic Athletic association has decided to extend the time limit for the closing of the entries for the big Gaelic meet, which will be held next Sunday. The action was taken in the hope of getting the entries of the Cherry Circle athletes, who are now on their way home from San Francisco, where they participated in a triangular meet last Saturday. The entries will close Saturday. Among the C. A. A. men who are expected to compete are: H. Blair, R. C. Taylor, J. Dwyer, and H. Larson in the 100 yard dash; C. French, H. Ramey, and J. C. Ryan in the 440; H. Ramey, J. Blankenship, and C. French in the mile run; F. Irons and George Schobinger, running broad jump; J. E. Hooker and F. Degenhart, 56 pound weight event.

ENGLISH SOCCER MEN COMING.

Pilgrim Team Will Arrive on Sept. 30 and Start on Long Tour—Match Is Arranged for This City.

Secretary J. H. Evans of the Hyde Park Football club yesterday received word from Thomas W. Cahill of St. Louis, who is arranging the tour of the Pilgrim soccer team of England, that the visitors are expected to arrive on the S. S. Mauretania at New York Sept. 30 and play their first match Saturday, Oct. 2.

Matches have been arranged for New York City, Newark, Baltimore, Washington, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Gillespie, Ill., Chicago, Coal City, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Fall River, Boston, and Toronto.

Capt. Fred Milnes of Sheffield is the only player who was with the team on its last trip to America, but it is hoped Vivian Woodward, the English international center, may make the trip again.

Six English amateur international players are billed for the tour, as follows: H. M. Lemoine of Shepherd's Bush; A. K. Campbell of Southampton; W. O. Cleminson of Darlington; G. R. Hoare of Woolwich Arsenal; C. E. Dunning of Norwich City; and Fred Milnes of Sheffield. T. T. Fitchie of Woolwich Arsenal, who will come, is a Scottish international. Other players are: H. J. Eastwood of Ilford, H. C. Littlewort of West Norwood, J. J. Bayley of Clapton. Four other players have been invited, among them being G. H. Barton, the Everton outside left.

Smallwood Hits Fast Pace.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 24.—Percy Smallwood, the middle distance champion runner of the United States, tonight at Forbes field made the remarkable time of 24:29 in a five mile relay race against two Oakland Athletic club runners.

PLAY SEMI-FINALS FOR TENNIS TITLE

Clothier vs. Bundy and McLoughlin vs. Touchard Today's Newport Card.

INTEREST IN COAST STAR.

Californian Wins All Matches, Except with M. H. Long, in Straight Sets.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 24.—The east will meet the west in the semi-finals of the national lawn tennis tournament on the Newport Casino courts tomorrow.

From today's play in the sixth round there emerged victorious William J. Clothier of Philadelphia, winner of the national title in 1906; Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles; M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, holder with G. J. Janes of the Pacific coast doubles championship, and G. F. Touchard of New York. Tomorrow Clothier will meet Bundy and McLoughlin will oppose Touchard.

All but one of today's matches were decided in straight sets, Clothier disposing of E. H. Whitney, the young Longwood player and Harvard interscholastic champion; Bundy defeating W. B. Cragin Jr., the New York militiaman, who yesterday surprised the gallery by winning from T. R. Pell, and McLoughlin putting R. H. Palmer, the New Jersey champion, out of the tournament.

The fourth match between Touchard and F. C. Inman of New York, the metropolitan champion, was hotly contested and went full five sets. Among the gallery the chief interest in the game today was the triumphal progress through the various rounds of McLoughlin, the speedy Californian. In only one of the five matches he has played in this event has he failed to win in straight sets, the exception being his five set match against his fellow Californian, Melville H. Long, which stands out as the best contest of the tournament thus far. Summaries:

W. J. Clothier defeated E. H. Whitney, 6—1, 7—5, 6—1.
T. C. Bundy defeated W. B. Cragin Jr., 6—1, 7—5, 6—2.
M. E. McLoughlin defeated R. H. Palmer, 7—5, 6—2.
G. F. Touchard defeated F. C. Inman, 6—4, 4—6, 4—6, 8—6, 6—2.

LOCALS STAR IN NET GAMES.

Warfield and Gardner of Chicago Put Up Feature Contests in Tennis Tourney at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 24.—The first round of doubles in the Missouri valley tennis tournament was completed today. A feature was the work of Warfield and Gardner of Chicago and R. Hoerr of St. Louis. Afternoon scores:

Doubles—Tritle and Sherman, Kansas City, defeated Thompson and Forrester, Kansas City, 6—0, 7—5; Williams and Dalton, Kansas City, defeated Sellers and Sellers, Lexington, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4; Warfield and Gardner, Chicago, defeated Cannon and Tynor, Kansas City, 6—4, 6—4; Jones, Kansas City, and Jones, St. Louis, defeated Welhener and Lanning, Kansas City, 6—2, 6—1.

Singles—Al Welhener, Kansas City, defeated James Chandler, Kansas City, 7—5, 6—3; H. V. Jones, Kansas City, defeated H. Copeland, Kansas City, 6—4, 6—1.

Morning scores—Drummon Jones, St. Louis, defeated O. R. Sellers, Lexington, Mo., 6—2, 6—3; Paul Gardner, Chicago, defeated "Jack" Cannon, Kansas City, 6—2, 6—2.

MISS STALKER WINS AT TENNIS

Miss Lewis Beaten for Title of Washington Park Girls' Tennis Club in Straight Sets.

Miss Amanda Stalker captured the second annual net tourney of the Washington Park Girls' Tennis club by defeating Miss Lena Lewis, last year's champion, in three straight sets, 6—4, 6—0, 6—4, at Washington park. The first and final matches were hard contested and Miss Lewis on two occasions led by a fair margin, but the superior service and return work won for Miss Stalker. The victor had an easy time in annexing the second set.

Play in International Tennis.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Aug. 24.—Play was resumed this afternoon in the international tennis tournament. Summaries:

Women's singles, second round—Miss Moyes, Toronto, beat Miss Johnson, Philadelphia, 6—5, 6—2; Miss Sutton, Pasadena, beat Miss Summerhayes, Toronto, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Moyes, Toronto, beat Miss Steever, Chicago, 4—6, 11—9, 6—4; Mrs. Hammell, Toronto, beat Miss Rotch, Boston, 6—4, 6—0.

CANADA IS CRICKET CHAMPION.

Americans Are Defeated at Montreal in Annual International Match by 143 Runs.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 24.—Canada won the annual international cricket match, completed this afternoon, by 143 runs. The match was scheduled for a three day affair, but the low scoring of the two innings enabled the game to be finished in good time on the second day. Going to the wicket first, Canada put together 156 runs for their first inning, responded to by the American side with 85. Going in a second time, the Canadians made 194 and the United States 122.

CHIEF STEWARD AT WORK.

The new chief of police creates a favorable impression as he begins his responsible duties. It is not the sort of impression attendant upon the application of the old saying about a "new broom." For there is to be no "clean sweep." There is not even a "shakeup" in mind at present. The impression gained from the chief's manner of handling the details of his first office day is that another public position has passed into the hands of a business man who intends to perform its duties in a business way.

First of all, a good example is to be set. The chief will wear his uniform while at his post of duty. So doing, he will be justified in requiring other police officers to follow the same rule. That will be a distinct gain in the direction of efficiency. The chief will get to his office early in the morning and stay late. Earning his own salary fairly, he will be in a position to demand longer hours from some who have taken things easy without being held to account. The chief will hold his subordinates responsible for what their subordinates do or fail to do. That is the only sensible way to handle a large force of men of varying rank. Such a rule inflexibly followed will put an end to the miserable evasions sometimes noticed in former years.

The proposal to introduce an efficiency marking system throughout the department is still another indication of the intention to apply business methods to the management of the police. In every great industrial establishment the efficiency of the workers is carefully studied. The application of the principle to public servants is a hopeful proposition. Too many citizens have the idea that the police do nothing, and that "pull" rather than faithfulness determines advancement. It will be helpful all around to banish this thought from the public mind.

The chief has started well. He has a great opportunity. That he may succeed in making the police department what it should be will be the cordial wish of every citizen who wants to see Chicago administered in a businesslike way on business principles.

TAFT AND THE MACHINE.

No man ever spoke with greater determination and courage regarding a political machine and the duty of the intelligent voter than did William H. Taft at Akron, O., on Oct. 21, 1905.

The situation which existed in Chicago in the days of the old bi-partisan, politico-business organization which had its head in John R. Walsh's defunct Chicago National bank, with William Lorimer as the chief lieutenant in charge of the Republican end, was identical with that which President Taft described in his famous speech. For Cox read Lorimer; for Hamilton county read Cook county in the portion of the speech which we print in this column. There are references to a gubernatorial campaign which in Illinois today are unimportant in the consideration of the principle. But the candid utterances of the president at that time should be carefully considered by every citizen of Chicago and of the state of Illinois who does not want to see the restoration of the same rule which throttled public opinion in Chicago and in the state of Illinois for many years prior to 1905. Said the president:

"The Hamilton county machine is the result of from fifteen to twenty years' labor by George B. Cox, a man of great executive talent and political sagacity. Beginning with the politics of a ward, he has created a political organization in the city of Cincinnati and county of Hamilton, founded on the cohesive power of public patronage, which operates as smoothly to control nominations and elections in city and county as a nicely adjusted Corliss engine. The whole government of both county and city are absolutely under his control, and every Republican political convention nominates men whom he dictates. Organization is carried far beyond mere preparation for conventions and embraces the strictest discipline among the cohorts in bringing out the full vote on each election day.

"Government under machine is constantly described as a very corrupt one. Such government generally begets corruption. But if it exists in Cincinnati it seems difficult to secure legal or practical proof of it sufficient to convince voters. In a direct contest between the machine and the most popular candidate, who was the candidate both of Democrats and dissenting Republicans, somewhat more than two years ago, the machine was triumphant by the majority of nearly 15,000. It is impossible that with an electorate like that of the city of Cincinnati, on an issue directly made, bold, naked dishonesty and stealing could have been successful at the polls. There is probably not more corruption in Cincinnati than in many other cities not particularly well governed. The importance of suppressing open and notorious graft in order to prevent defeat at the polls is known to the engineer of the machine, and he has perhaps exercised his power to suppress the inevitable tendency in such a machine. But the power secured by the boss and his assistants under the machine is undoubtedly for their pecuniary benefit, and it is seen in the large fortunes which they now have. How their money was made has not been disclosed.

"Large public utility corporations seem to regard a boss as a conserving influence and are content to have the control of the machine continue as it is, because they regard themselves as thus insured against disturbance in their franchises.

"The condition is one of absolute helplessness on the part of any independent Republican seeking to take part in politics and to act independently of the machine; and the distressing effect upon all young men ambitious politically is now seen, as it either drives them out of politics and deprives the public of their probable valuable services, or if they go into politics they must subordinate themselves to the tyranny of the boss.

"It is a condition of affairs—a local despotism—much to be deplored, and if I had thought that by speaking and supporting Gov. Herrick tonight I should be doing anything for the perpetuation of the power of the Cox machine in Cincinnati, or if I thought that Gov. Herrick had entered into a corrupt bargain with Cox as charged, I should not be here. But the truth is, my fellow citizens, that this machine, if it is to be broken up, must be broken up by the voters of Cincinnati and Hamilton county themselves. This is an end, devoutly to be wished, but it will take the hardest kind of work in the city itself.

"The machine cannot be defeated from the outside. Cox and his subordinates represent the regular Republican organization in Hamilton county. No one else can lawfully claim to do so, and they must be admitted in every Republican state and national convention as such representatives until lawfully defeated at the primaries in Hamilton county. Now, the fact that they may support a particular candidate for governor is no more to be taken as indicative, without other evidence, that they will assist the machine in maintaining its power in Cincinnati than was the fact that the same machine supported Theodore Roosevelt indicative that Theodore Roosevelt is a Cox man. This same regular Republican organization has supported every Republican candidate that has been upon the state, congressional, or federal tickets for the last twenty years, and there is no more ground for connecting Gov. Herrick with the growth, maintenance, and success of the Cox machine in Hamilton county than there was to make the same charge against every governor and every senator that has been elected on the Republican ticket in Ohio in the last twenty years.

"I cannot be driven from the Republican party when it has a candidate whom I regard as an honorable man and a man who has shown himself fit to discharge office by what he has done.

"If I were able, as I fear I shall not be, because public duty calls me elsewhere, to cast my vote in Cincinnati in the coming election, I should vote against the municipal ticket nominated by the Republican organization and for the state ticket."

AERIAL TRANSPORTATION.

The aeroplane races and other aviation spectacles at Rheims during the last two or three days are worthy of note as epochmaking events. A great essayist of the nineteenth century said that man could never wholly fulfill his destiny as a world ruler because he could never fly or navigate the air. Yet here are men sailing over seas, journeying from one country to another, maneuvering for war possibilities, carrying passengers on pleasure outings, racing for records and prizes, and all in the air. Half a century ago he would have been set down as a mad prophet who declared the time would come when half a dozen airships would career about, as at Rheims, for an hour or more without collision or injury to any one. Yet the feat has been accomplished and already the world is beginning to cease its wonder.

Man has already well nigh subjugated the earth. He is running his cog roads to the summit of the Alps. He is utilizing the deserts and fertilizing the waste places. Byron said of the ocean and man, "his control stops with thy shores," but with the wireless telegraph and the modern ocean liners he is holding all the Seven Seas subject to his will. The air remains and still stubbornly defies him, however. If the aeroplane is to be anything more than a toy it must float not merely for one hour or two hours or any given number of hours, it must have no time limit to its aerial endurance. It must not wait for pleasant weather or light winds, but must go flying all abroad on the wings of the mightiest winds. Travelers cannot wait for pleasant days nor freight for light winds. The aeroplane must sail every day on schedule time or as near it as possible before man can be said to have conquered the air.

And yet the aeroplane in its incipient stages compares more than favorably with Watts' steam engine and the original locomotive and steamboat. It has made steady progress since its first ascent and there is no doubt now that it has come to stay. It would be rash to affirm in this era of overcoming seeming impossibilities that aerial transportation will not become as fixed a fact as land transportation, and that the airship will not be as safe and comfortable as the railroad train, the ocean liner, or the automobile—possibly safer than the latter.

Helping Him Out.

Algy (nibbling his pencil)—"Deah boy, what is that famous quotation, 'See—something—and die,' or words to that effect?"

Percy—"I think it's 'See the foolkiller and die,' Algy."

Negatively Speaking.

"Yes," said Clarence, "I proposed to her on shipboard while the steamer was going twenty knots an hour."

"What was her answer?"

"Well, it was brief, but it was—er—at the rate of about sixty 'nots' a minute."

From a Real Girl.

This was written on the picture postcard sent by little Phyllis from the Michigan lake resort to the home folk:

My dear mother—Forgot to tell you Stump they killed and now they have a $50.00 colly name Queen. She had 11 pubs had to kill three, four died of too much corn meal four little beauties living. Lovingly, P. F.

Twin Terrors.

"From what I read about living in a great city," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "a fellow must have to spend about half his time dodging automobiles and the other half dodging hatpins."

Success of Her First Effort.

Young Husband (helping himself a second time)—"Bertha, where did you learn to scramble eggs like this?"

It Wouldn't Do.

Returned Traveler—"By the way, Mr. Mann, your daughter, Miss Etta, is married, isn't she?"

Old Resident—"No; she could have married a fine young fellow once, but she threw him over on account of his name. She said it was bad enough to be Etta Mann, but she drew the line at Etta Knox."

Among the Ancients.

Briareus was boasting of his hundred hands.

"They've been with me ever since I started in business," he said, "and never have gone on a strike."

But this may have been merely because he never laid any of them off.

These Eggs Were Hard Boiled.

[Statesville (N. C.) Mascot.]

We have often heard of snakes eating eggs—hen eggs—but never knew until Saturday, when we learned the secret from an eyewitness. It was in Rowan county, where a blacksnake swallowed four hen eggs. He found the nest under an apple tree, and although the eggs were larger around than the snake's head, his neck or even his body, he had no trouble in getting them pushed down the narrow passage. You could see them go without any trouble, and when the four eggs were in the snake you could see the four knots on the snake.

But how did he digest them? Well, that was an easy question for Mr. Blacksnake. He crawled up the body of the apple tree, wrapped himself around it, and tightened himself until pop, pop, pop, pop—and all the eggs were broken.

Still an Optimist.

The best we can hope for now is that Walter Wellman will send along some picture post cards.—Louisville Times.

WHAT will become of Temple Bar? For hundreds of years it constituted the western entrance and gateway to the city of London, and on the spikes by which the arch was surmounted the severed heads of executed traitors were spitted until the effects of time and weather sent them tumbling down into the street below. The building of the great law courts on the border line of the city some five and twenty years ago necessitated the removal of Temple Bar. Lady Meux then induced her multimillionaire husband, the late Sir Henry Meux of brewing fame, to purchase it and to have it reërected, stone by stone, at the entrance of their country place, Theobald park, where it looks extremely picturesque among its rural surroundings, framed as it is with a setting of superb trees at least its equal in age.

When Sir Henry Meux died he bequeathed to his wife all his estates, his stock in the Meux brewery, and ready money amounting to several millions of dollars. There were no children of the union. The property was left at her free disposal. She now is lying dangerously ill of congestion of the lungs—may, indeed, have breathed her last ere this letter appears in print—and as she has no legal heirs there is much speculation as to who will become the possessor of all her properties.

At one moment it was expected that she would bequeath it to the earl of Essex, whose mother, Viscountess Malden, was a sister of the late Sir Henry's father. Lord Essex, therefore, is a first cousin of the late Sir Henry. But Lady Meux and the Countess of Essex, who is an American, daughter of Beach Grant of New York, quarreled, and it now is doubtful whether either her husband or her stepson, the present Viscount Malden, will benefit under the terms of the will of Lady Meux.

Lady Meux is an eccentric woman, who formerly figured in the corps de ballet of the Gaiety theater and on the stage of the London and provincial music halls under the name of Valerie or Susie Langdon.

On her honeymoon, which was spent in Egypt, she achieved considerable note by her efforts to purchase from the Egyptian government, no matter at what cost, the obelisk at Heliopolis, the only one of the so-called needles of Cleopatra which still remains standing upon its original site where it was erected thousands upon thousands of years ago. Though she was unsuccessful in her attempt, and took her failure much to heart, yet she always retained a predilection for everything Egyptian, and, taking advantage of this, Ernest Budge, the famous Egyptologist and curator of the Egyptian department of the British museum, managed to persuade her to furnish the relatively large sum of money needed for the publication of his remarkable studies drawn from ancient documents and inscriptions in the possession of the museum treating of Egyptian life under Alexander the Great.

These studies are embodied in a couple of magnificent volumes, splendidly got up and illustrated, and dedicated in big letters to Lady Meux. They shed a new light on the career of Alexander the Great, are of surpassing interest and importance to historians and students of Roman and Grecian times, and will remain as a lasting memorial to Lady Meux, who, possessed of much native wit but of little culture or education, never dreamed, when as Susie Langdon she was dancing in the London music halls, that her name would become celebrated throughout the scientific world in connection with that of Alexander, of whom she probably never had heard.

I may add that she also furnished to Dr. Budge the money needed for the publication of the so-called Book of Paradise, containing the histories and sayings of the monks and hermits of Egyptian and Lybian deserts during the first three centuries of the Christian era, comprising the writings of Palladius, Hieronymus, and others. The work is a mine of information not only for the theological critic but also for the students of the folk lore, the magic, and the social conditions of Egypt in the early Christian times. Part of the Coptic, Ethiopic, Syriac, and Arabic manuscripts and parchments given in the volumes belong to the British museum, while others form part of the splendid collection of Lady Meux herself.

Lady Meux also has achieved a considerable amount of fame on the turf, where for many years her horses were run under the name of "Mr. Theobald," and bred the famous racer Volodyovski, which won the Derby for the late William C. Whitney in 1901. Indeed, if I am not mistaken, the horse in question merely was leased by Whitney at the time when it ran and still was the property of Lady Meux, who previously had leased it to the late Lord William Beresford.

Lady Meux also gave evidence of patriotism of a useful order during the Boer war, when she armed, equipped, and horsed an entire battery of Armstrong guns for use in the field for the imperial yeomanry, at heavy expense. She has a number of country seats, including one in Wiltshire, one in Surrey—namely: Sheen house at East Sheen, a château in France, and a London mansion in Park lane. But her favorite home is Theobald park in Herts, a magnificent country place, which is portrayed by Sir Walter Scott in his novel entitled "The Fortunes of Nigel." The house there occupies the same site as King James I.'s Theobald palace. She is beloved by the poor people of the district for her charity, but has managed to quarrel with nearly all her well-to-do neighbors.

Among the stockholders of the Meux brewery, of which she is the principal owner, are the duke of Roxburghe, Lord Aylesbury, Lord Tweedmouth, who still is under restraint near Dublin, and Lord Essex.

The brewery, which two years ago was moved from Tottenham Court row to the suburb of Wandsworth, was founded before George III. came to the throne, and reached the height of its fame at the beginning of the nineteenth century, when Henry Meux, a cousin of the great Lord Brougham, with a genius for advertisement, made a striking appeal to popular attention and to popular thirst by constructing a colossal vat nearly thirty feet high, holding 3,600 barrels of "Meux's Entire." The idea that a million people could have marched in single file past the vat and each take from it a pint of porter before the contents were exhausted struck popular fancy.

In 1814 the vat burst and the mighty flood of porter, rushing out into Tottenham Court road and Oxford street, made tenement walls collapse, swept people off their feet, drowned eight fortunate mortals, while hundreds were rendered hopelessly intoxicated by their immoderate drafts from the tidal wave of beer. The catastrophe was the talk of the town for weeks, and parliament actually took cognizance of the matter by passing a vote authorizing the return to Henry Meux of the whole amount of internal revenue duty which he had paid on the beer thus lost. In 1831 William IV. conferred a baronetcy upon Henry Meux, thus inaugurating the many nobiliary titles which since have been conferred by the crown upon what is known as "the beerage."

Yakima Valley to Send Apples.

[Yakima (Wash.) Morning Herald.]

The Yakima valley has arranged to send several carloads of apples east this fall for advertising purposes. A part of the money for defraying this expense has already been raised in connection with the publicity fund for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. In the middle of November occurs the annual live stock show in Chicago, which brings thousands of visitors to that city. At the same time a land exposition is to be held, exploiting the irrigated areas and the reclamation and conservation problems which have been undertaken by the United States government.

This is the proper time for the Yakima valley to land two or three cars of choice apples in Chicago. The people there are going land crazy already because of the publicity that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has given to the land exposition. It is all a part of the national movement now on foot which finds its expression in the old time worn slogan, "Back to the soil." The irrigated sections are the first to reap the advantage, as every one is well aware.

Felt Quite at Home.

Dr. Dorsey's Itinerary.

Aug. 21, 1909.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am reading with great interest Prof. Dorsey's letters, having taken that trip several years ago. I hope to go again. I think it a great mistake that the letters do not give the date of the months and year, as in the Orient, and especially up the Nile, it makes a great difference as to the time of year the trip is taken. Can you not ask him to please date his letters for the benefit of future travelers? Very truly yours, Musical Educators of Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—In your issue of last Sunday you published an interview with Mr. Walter Damrosch wherein he is reported as "telling of his labors to give Chicago a musical education." The article is quite astonishing, in view of the fact that the real educator of the musical tastes of our city was and is our own Theodore Thomas orchestra. Mr. Thomas was not only during his life time the prime mover in everything relating to the higher forms of musical art in Chicago, but admittedly did more for the elevation of musical tastes in the whole United States than any other personality. Without the great labors of Mr. Thomas and Mr. Stock and the splendid technique and efficiency of our own orchestra Ravinia park would not have been possible.

It is a splendid institution, and Mr. Damrosch is entitled to the fullest credit for the work he has done to popularize and maintain the classical standard of musical art at that resort, but a feeling of justice suggests that the real center of musical education in Chicago is the Theodore Thomas orchestra.

Cross Walk Dangers.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Anything that will lessen the danger to pedestrians on the streets of Chicago ought to receive some consideration from the powers. Teamsters occupying the track in advance of a moving car when near an intersecting street invariably turn off the track at about the center line of the intersecting street and the consequence is that the wagon and the car cover the cross walk at the same moment. Persons wishing to take the car are compelled to vacate the cross walk or be run over or crushed between the wagon and the car. The remedy for this is to make the teamster follow the track to a point about eighteen feet from the cross walk and there make his turn out. This arrangement would, in most cases, leave the cross walk clear. W. A. HICKEY.

Applied Christianity.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—Permit me to call attention to one great improvement that I have noticed in Chicago. When I came here in 1884 to try and nominate Mr. Cleveland I was in town over Sunday. I went to Grace church. I found the church closed. In front was a basin for a fountain with the inscription, "If any man thirst let him come unto Me and drink." Unfortunately there was no water in the basin. The whole was very discouraging. Today I went again to Grace church. The church was open, it was filled with people; there was a hearty and beautiful service; the fountain was flowing and a sanitary cup invited the passerby to drink. It seems to me that this is an instance of applied Christianity that is worth noting. EVERETT P. WHEELER.

Views on Traction Wage Question.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As a citizen of Chicago I want to protest against the plan to give half the earnings of the city toward the street car men's wages. If the companies can find good men who are willing to work for the present wages they have the right to employ them, and every support should be given to the companies by both city and state. We have put up with this thing long enough, and if we have not now in office a mayor who will use every means at his command to put down lawlessness then we have made a serious mistake in electing him. This thing must stop or our flag is not worth the cloth it is made from. Under what law can the city be made to give up what rightly belongs to it? How do we know that in six months they will not want the other half? Last fall these same men voted against Taft and for Bryan on the issue that Taft was not willing to trample the law underfoot, and Bryan, through Gompers, was ready to declare there was no law. We must meet this issue, and just as well now as later on. Let them quit their jobs and then if the companies can run let them find another job. If the companies cannot find men then these fellows win.

Problem for Woman Growing Deaf.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The "problem of stenographer," over signature of "Anxious," suggests another problem, which I trust some of THE TRIBUNE readers will solve. A dear woman friend is threatened with deafness; she will have her living to make. What trade or business can this woman learn even if a reasonable amount has to be paid for tuition? She is considered capable and intelligent and will do anything within possibilities. INTERESTED.

Humane Treatment of the Horse.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I hope every one will read in your Sunday editions (Worker's Magazine) those fine articles on the care and humane treatment of the horse. I wish they could be printed on the first page of every newspaper in the land.

A LOVER OF JUSTICE TO DUMB ANIMALS.

WILL APPEAL TO GOVERNOR IN INCUBATOR BABY FIGHT.

Foster Mother, Under Arrest as Kidnaper, Asks Attorneys to Request Hadley to Dismiss Habeas Corpus.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 24.—Gov. Hadley probably will designate the method of deciding who is entitled to little Marian Bleakley, the St. Louis world's fair incubator baby, who was kidnaped in Topeka Saturday and is held here pending court action.

Mrs. James G. Barclay of Buffalo, N. Y., the child's foster mother, under arrest here as the admitted kidnaper of the child, tonight asked her attorneys to obtain a dismissal of the habeas corpus proceedings set for tomorrow, under which her return to Kansas for trial is prevented.

Late tonight Mrs. Barclay was notified that Gov. Hadley had granted a rehearing on the requisition secured by the Kansas police. The matter was set for hearing at Jefferson City next Friday morning.

If the governor decides to recall the requisition Mrs. Barclay and J. M. Gentry, who helped her bring the child to Missouri, will go free. Whatever action the governor may take, however, the contest for the child in the Missouri civil court will go on.

Mrs. Barclay was greatly cheered tonight by the news that her husband would be here before morning to help her in her fight. She declared she would use every effort to get possession of little Marian, holding that the child was rightfully hers.

To Play Benefit Ball Game.

The two leading teams of the Masonic league, the Lake Views and Orientals, will play a benefit game at National league park Saturday, Aug. 28, for the benefit of the Gil W. Barnard Masonic hospital. Owing to the closeness of the race for the championship in the league, the game should be hotly contested.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Maclyn Arbuckle, the new star, Imogene, the new soubrette, and the company which will present "The Circus Man," the new play by Eugene Presbrey at McVicker's theater Saturday night, arrived in Chicago on Monday and began active rehearsals yesterday on the McVicker stage. Imogene came on ahead of the other players, occupying a berth half the length of one of the baggage cars. Joseph Brooks, under whose direction the production is being made, will reach Chicago tomorrow, leaving rehearsals of "The Sins of Society" in New York, to be here for the première of the new comedy. An incident of the opening and one which doubtless will be welcomed by the McVicker clientèle, will be the disclosure of a new and elaborate drop curtain.

The Philippine Constabulary band comes to Riverview for one day only, Sept. 7, when it will occupy the band shell and be heard in a series of four concerts. The organization is one composed of nearly four score players and when heard at Orchestra hall last winter created a most favorable impression.

Charles Frohman's second production in New York this season will be the much talked of detective-thief play, "Arsene Lupin," which will be brought out at the Lyceum theater tomorrow night. The play has had a lengthy and prosperous run at the Athenée, in Paris, and is from the pens of Francis Croisset and Maurice Leblanc. Mr. Frohman will not present a star in "Arsene Lupin," but the cast engaged gives promise of a creditable performance. William Courtenay and Sidney Herbert will enact the leading male rôles, while two Chicago girls, Miss Doris Keane and Miss Virginia Hammond will head the feminine contingent. Miss Hammond's entire stage career, up to the present, has been confined to appearances with the E. H. Sothern company.

With no decision in the Askin-Singer litigation having been reached, both litigants are going ahead with the preparation of attractions, one of which will be presented at the La Salle theater by the winner of the contest. If the chance to control the future policy of the house falls to Mr. Askin he will present a musical played called "A Mountain Girl," with a cast headed by Mabel Hite. Mr. Singer meanwhile makes bold to reveal the actual reopening date of the La Salle the evening of Oct. 4. The piece chosen by him is another musical entertainment, as yet unnamed, arranged by the prolific Hough-Adams-Howard combination. Rehearsals are announced to begin next week. By that time Mr. Singer and his producing corps will have finished the labors connected with the preparation of the road companies to be seen in "The Golden Girl," "The Prince of Tonight," "A Stubborn Cinderella," and "Honeymoon Trail," and now being rehearsed at the La Salle, Princess, and Illinois theaters and the Chicago opera house.

"Wildfire," the Broadhurst racing play, in which Miss Lillian Russell exerted her charms for two seasons, will come to the Great Northern next Sunday afternoon for an engagement of a fortnight.

It is a fact bordering on the singular that in all the fourteen characters in "The Third Degree," Charles Klein's latest play, about to be shown at the Illinois, the playwright has written but two parts calling for women players. Miss Helen Ware and Miss Lida McMillan, well remembered as one of the Dearborn theater stock company players, are the exponents of the feminine rôles. The unusual condition brought about by this singular behavior on the part of Mr. Klein obliges Manager Harris to pay salaries and transportation expenses to two tourists, whose accounts on his books simply read "understudy."

The St. Vincent's Lyceum Dramatic and Glee club will give its third performance of the comedy drama, "A Soldier of the Plains," at the College theater on Friday evening. T. Edward McGillan, the author of the play and a former stage manager at the Bush Temple theater, will play the titular part, and Miss Katherine E. Gannon will be the heroine.

The board of governors of the South Shore Country club announces a fortnight season of concerts to be given by Walter Damrosch and the New York symphony orchestra, beginning on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 5. The course will serve to inaugurate the new concert and ball room just completed. Afternoon and evening programs will be given each day, concluding with the concerts scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 18. The engagement will follow immediately that now being played by the orchestra at Ravinia park, and will bring Mr. Damrosch and his players within easy range of the many south side residents forced to forego the charms of Ravinia by the long journey entailed.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY."

—Shakspeare.

John T. Sweetland, one of the oldest insurance men in Chicago, celebrates his sixtieth birthday anniversary today. He was born in Cazenovia, Madison county, N. Y., and has been a resident of Chicago for forty-three years. He is secretary of George Herrmann & Co., insurance, in the National Life building.

James C. Brooks, president of the Bay Noquet Lumber company and the Oconto company, is 72 years old today. Mr. Brooks started his business life down east measuring lumber. He was born in Salem, Mass., and has lived in Chicago since 1856. He lives at 120 Lincoln Park boulevard. Mr. Brooks is now sojourning in the east and will return about Sept. 1.

Joseph D. Hubbard, president of the Chicago Exploration company, reaches the half century mile stone today. He is a mining operator and was president of the company that discovered and opened up the Goldfield mining district in Nevada. He was graduated from Princeton when 22 years old and began the practice of law. Soon after he came to Chicago. His home is in Lake Forest.

Former Chief of Police Francis O'Neill is 51 today. He joined the police force in 1873. He now lives at 5448 Drexel boulevard.

Julius V. Piazza, a fruit importer, 1363 Sheridan road, is 46 today. He came to Chicago in 1893 from the west, where he was engaged in the fruit business.

John P. McGoorty, former Democratic member of the legislature, candidate for the nomination for governor a year ago, and a candidate for the Circuit bench in June, is 43 years old. His home is at 6204 Kimbark avenue.

Richard Henry Little, newspaper writer and well known as a war correspondent in the Cuban and Russian wars, is 40 today.

Charles E. Yerkes, son of the late traction magnate, Charles T. Yerkes, will celebrate his forty-sixth birthday in Montague, Mich., where he is on a vacation. He is head of the firm of Charles E. Yerkes & Co., bankers, 135 Adams street, and lives in Evanston. He started his business career in his father's banking office in Philadelphia and came to Chicago in 1898.

PROF. BURTON ENDS HIS TRIP

SENT BY THE UNIVERSITY.

Finds Friendly Feeling for America in Oriental Countries.

Prof. Ernest De Witt Burton, who one year ago left, under a commission from the University of Chicago, to make a study of educational conditions in China and other oriental countries, arrived in Chicago yesterday from the Pacific coast after a journey around the world.

Mr. Burton was accompanied in his journey by his wife and daughter and his secretary, Mr. Horace G. Reed.

Mr. Burton's journey and investigations included Turkey, Egypt, India, China, Corea, and Japan. He reports having found a keen interest in questions of education in all of the countries visited.

Eager for Education.

In India the British government is endeavoring to carry out those reforms and improvements in its educational system which were inaugurated in Lord Curzon's administration. There is a great desire for education on the part of the young Indians, but chiefly with a view to obtaining the salary and prestige of a government office.

In China the old education has practically passed away, and the government is making remarkably successful efforts to build up a system of education modeled on that of Europe and America. In all the larger cities of China buildings have been erected, teachers, and pupils gathered, and schools of the modern type organized.

In Corea likewise the old education has passed away, but the government having as yet made but little progress in supplying education of the modern type, the large majority of the schools now in existence are those established by missionary societies.

Conditions in Japan.

In Japan government education is thoroughly organized and efficiently carried on. Elementary education is compulsory, and over 95 per cent of Japanese children attend school at least from four to six years.

Political affairs lay outside of the scope of the commissioners' investigation, but the commission could not but form some definite impressions as to the situation. In all the countries of the farther east there is friendly feeling toward America, and a seemingly general conviction that the United States has no partisan end to serve in her dealings with these countries.

ADVOCATES HAVING SERMONS PRECEDE SUNDAY BALL GAMES

Son of Oak Park Pastor Says Clergymen and Major League Club Owners Favor Plan.

A sermon would be a fitting opening to each major league baseball game played on Sunday, according to Bruce Barton, son of the Rev. William E. Barton, pastor of the First Congregational church, Oak Park. He declared last night that, although he did not favor Sunday baseball, he thought the plan feasible.

Barton said he had mentioned the matter to some of the prominent ministers of Chicago, and also has set the facts before persons connected with the management of major league teams, and that in all instances his suggestion had been approved. Barton says that the matter has been approved by both President Charles Murphy of the Chicago Nationals and Charles Ebbets of Brooklyn.

"President Murphy told me," Barton said, "that he felt that such a message would be received with respect by the fans, and that he was willing to coöperate and maintain order that the preachers might have a respectful hearing."

"I wouldn't want the preaching to delay the game, and suggest that the sermons be short and accompanied by sacred music. Some clergymen to whom I have spoken, although they don't hold the plan as ideal, admit it is in accord with more advanced evangelism, and that the immense audiences at Sunday ball games, as a rule, would afford a splendid opportunity of preaching to many who do not attend the churches on a hot day."

CHICAGOANS INVENT MACHINE WHICH UNCLE SAM MAY BUY.

Among more than 1,000 devices which have been submitted to the postoffice department for simple and effective methods of tying bundles of mail, there is one which was furnished by Louis J. Behan, assistant county attorney of Chicago, and Ernest P. Priddat, an insurance agent, which is prominently in the running.

Some time ago the postoffice department declared it would welcome a device that would effectively tie the mail and save Uncle Sam some $250,000 which is now wasted in the department in twine. Behan and Priddat had an idea which they worked out into a model and submitted to the proper authorities. Nine hundred and ninety-nine other devices were also submitted, but it is reported that the committee assigned to the work of determining the winning device, has so far failed to eliminate the Chicago model.

The Behan and Priddat tier consists of a small square of patented material resembling hard rubber, in which slits are arranged in such a manner that an attached cord may be quickly passed around a bundle of letters and its ends made fast by a simple tug and twist.

"Our device is intended to keep a check on the amount of tying material used," said Mr. Behan last night. "It will fix things so that each man is responsible for the string he uses and will do away with the waste."

BIG BREWERIES MAY MERGE.

Report from Toledo Says Chicago and Milwaukee Plants Are to Be Joined.

Toledo, O., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—As the result of a merger of two Chicago and one Milwaukee breweries this city may become the home of another beer making plant.

The new brewery probably will be built by a consolidated company which will have a capital of at least $10,000,000. The new concern likely will be called the Brand Brewing company, and will be a merger of the Brand brewery and the Globe Brewing company of Chicago and Dick Brothers Brewing company of Milwaukee

The Globe property is owned by Norman B. Ream, the street car magnate, who will be the financial power behind the scheme. Details of the merger are now being worked out.

NO DETAILS IN CHICAGO.

Neither Virgil Brand, president, nor Philip R. Brand, secretary of the Globe Brewing company, was in Chicago last night, and nothing definite concerning the merger could be learned. The Globe company is a consolidation of the old Brand Brewing company and several other smaller companies. The plant is located at Union and Forty-first streets, and is one of the largest breweries in Chicago.

F. BURTON ENDS HIS TRIP

es Year Studying Educational Conditions Abroad.

s Friendly Feeling for America in Oriental Countries.

f. Ernest De Witt Burton, who one ago left, under a commission from the ersity of Chicago, to make a study of ational conditions in China and other ntal countries, arrived in Chicago yes- y from the Pacific coast after a journey nd the world.

. Burton was accompanied in his journey is wife and daughter and his secretary, Horace G. Reed.

r. Burton's journey and investigations uded Turkey, Egypt, India, China, Corea, Japan. He reports having found a keen rest in questions of education in all of countries visited.

Eager for Education.

India the British government is en- voring to carry out those reforms and im- vements in its educational system which e inaugurated in Lord Curzon's admin- ation. There is a great desire for edu- on on the part of the young Indians, but efly with a view to obtaining the salary prestige of a government office.

China the old education has practically sed away, and the government is making arkably successful efforts to build up a tem of education modeled on that of rope and America. In all the larger cities China buildings have been erected, teach- , and pupils gathered, and schools of the dern type organized.

n Corea likewise the old education has sed away, but the government having as made but little progress in supplying ucation of the modern type, the large ma- ity of the schools now in existence are se established by missionary societies.

Conditions in Japan.

n Japan government education is thor- ghly organized and efficiently carried on. ementary education is compulsory, and er 95 per cent of Japanese children attend hool at least from four to six years.

olitical affairs lay outside of the scope of e commissioners' investigation, but the mmission could not but form some definite pressions as to the situation. In all the untries of the farther east there is friendly eling toward America, and a seemingly eneral conviction that the United States s no partisan end to serve in her dealings ith these countries.

DVOCATES HAVING SERMONS PRECEDE SUNDAY BALL GAMES

on of Oak Park Pastor Says Clergymen and Major League Club Owners Favor Plan.

A sermon would be a fitting opening to ach major league baseball game played on Sunday, according to Bruce Barton, son of he Rev. Willim E. Barton, pastor of the First Congregational church, Oak Park. He leclared last night that, although he did not favor Sunday baseball, he thought the lan feasible.

Barton said he had mentioned the mat- er to some of the prominent ministers of Chicago, and also has set the facts before persons connected with the management of major league teams, and that in all instances his suggestion had been approved. Barton says that the matter has been approved by both President Charles Murphy of the Chicago Nationals and Charles Ebbets of Brooklyn.

"President Murphy told me," Barton said, "that he felt that such a message would be received with respect by the fans, and that he was willing to coöperate and maintain order that the preachers might have a respectful hearing."

"I wouldn't want the preaching to delay the game, and suggest that the sermons be short and accompanied by sacred music. Some clergymen to whom I have spoken, although they don't hold the plan as ideal, admit it is in accord with more advanced evangelism, and that the immense audiences at Sunday ball games, as a rule, would afford a splendid opportunity of preaching to many who do not attend the churches on a hot day."

CHICAGOANS INVENT MACHINE WHICH UNCLE SAM MAY BUY.

Among more than 1,000 devices which have been submitted to the postoffice department for simple and effective methods of tying bundles of mail, there is one which was furnished by Louis J. Behan, assistant county attorney of Chicago, and Ernest P. Priddat, an insurance agent, which is prominently in the running.

Some time ago the postoffice department declared it would welcome a device that would effectively tie the mail and save Uncle Sam some $250,000 which is now wasted in the department in twine. Behan and Priddat had an idea which they worked out into a model and submitted to the proper authorities. Nine hundred and ninety-nine other devices were also submitted, but it is reported that the committee assigned to the work of determining the winning device, has so far failed to eliminate the Chicago model.

The Behan and Priddat tier consists of a small square of patented material resembling hard rubber, in which slits are arranged in such a manner that an attached cord may be quickly passed around a bundle of letters and its ends made fast by a simple tug and twist.

"Our device is intended to keep a check on the amount of tying material used," said Mr. Behan last night. "It will fix things so that each man is responsible for the string he uses and will do away with the waste."

BIG BREWERIES MAY MERGE.

Report from Toledo Says Chicago and Milwaukee Plants Are to Be Joined.

Toledo, O., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—As the result of a merger of two Chicago and one Milwaukee breweries this city may become the home of another beer making plant.

The new brewery probably will be built by a consolidated company which will have a capital of at least $10,000,000. The new concern likely will be called the Brand Brewing company, and will be a merger of the Brand brewery and the Globe Brewing company of Chicago and Dick Brothers Brewing company of Milwaukee

The Globe property is owned by Norman B. Ream, the street car magnate, who will be the financial power behind the scheme. Details of the merger are now being worked out.

NO DETAILS IN CHICAGO.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

WAITING FOR INVITATIONS.

Girl Ushers at Greek Play Will Select Their Own Assistants.

One hundred lads from Oak Park's first families are having a taste of what their sisters have endured for ages—they are standing upon one foot and then upon the other waiting to be "invited." Incidentally twenty-seven young women, also from the first families, are having a moment of enjoyment seldom accorded femininity. This condition of affairs was caused by the decision of the managers of the Greek play, to be given on the Henry W. Austin lawn at Oak Park Saturday afternoon, granting the twenty-seven young women ushers the privilege of asking an equal number of young men to serve as assistants. Young men of the particular age—high school and college—are not scarce in Oak Park. It has been noted that there are some 100 of them, and every member of the 100 is standing in line hoping to be chosen as one of the twenty-seven varieties.

When the choice is made the young men will wear their lady's colors in true Greek fashion, the colors in this instance to be the green and white of the Fine Arts society. The young women are Miss Ethel Updike, Miss Winifred Webster, Miss Ruth Wood, Miss Florence Updike, Miss Margaret Wood, Miss Helen Butler, Miss Dorothy Charlton, Miss Eloise Erwin, Miss Althea Erwin, Miss Frances Jones, Miss Almo Jones, Miss Bertha Meade, Miss Emily Meade, Miss Ethel Keefe, Miss Evelyn Morgan, Miss Lillian Mallen, Miss Estelle Hebard, Miss Margaret Webster, Miss Ruth Scott, Miss Nettie Mallen, Miss Crete Skinner, Miss Grace Stoehr, Miss Ruth Macomber, Miss Elvira Charlton, Miss Emily Johnson, Miss Ruth Keefe, and Miss Sadie Ray.

In keeping with the atmosphere of the play—"The Ladies of Athens"—the grounds will be decorated with Greek statuary, the mythological gods to be loaned by the Art institute.

The folk of the western suburbs are waiting impatiently for the formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Bartelme, niece and namesake of Chicago's public guardian, and Robert Cutting, son of Judge and Mrs. C. S. Cutting of Austin. Miss Bartelme is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bartelme of 330 Baird avenue, Austin, and although formal announcement has not been made the truth of the betrothal is acknowledged by both families. Miss Bartelme has taken several automobile trips this summer with Judge and Mrs. Cutting and their son. They returned this week from a tour of the east. The wedding, it is said, will be an event of the early fall.

At the marriage of Miss Carolyn Weaver and Raymond E. Herman, to take place at Lake Geneva on Saturday, the bride's sister, Mrs. Michael Wells of Milwaukee (Vivian Weaver) will be matron of honor, and the bridemaids will be Miss Irene Warner, Miss Katherine Waldo, Miss Clara Hageman, and Miss Katherine Weaver of Lockport, N. Y. Little Barbara Wells, the bride's niece, will be flower girl, and Earl Herman will be his brother's best man.

Miss Mary Nye, whose wedding to Walker G. McLaury will take place Sept. 2 at Harbor Springs, Mich., will have her sister, Mrs. Ralph W. Webster, for matron of honor, and M. C. McIntyre will be the best man. Dr. Ralph W. Webster and the groom's brother, Donald McLaury, will be ushsers. Miss Nye left last night for Harbor Springs. The wedding is to take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Willis Rice, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Reinach, 1238 North Clark street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lilly, to Dr. Frank C. Dickinson of Galesburg, Ill. At home informally on Thursday, Sept. 2, afternoon and evening.

Surprises now and then have a way of turning upon the surprisers, and as a result of such a condition of affairs the friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barbour of Oak Park are having a laugh at their expense. Mr. and Mrs. Barbour have two sons, Hoyt and Clyde, who now are residing in Portland, Ore. They decided to pay the boys a visit this summer and thought to add to the enjoyment by making it a surprise. About the same time Hoyt Barbour telepathically hit upon a similar form of amusement for the summer and decided to drop in upon his parents at Oak Park without warning. Young Mr. Barbour arrived in Oak Park the day after his parents had left for Portland. Finding he had passed them on the way he immediately returned to Oregon.

The Chicago alumnæ of Alpha Phi will picnic today at Ravinia park and will attend the Damrosch concert afterward.

CHICAGO PIONEER TO MARRY COUSIN OF HIS FIRST WIFE.

George Granger Custer, Auditor of the Board of Education, Will Wed Miss Alice G. Hatfield of Madisonville, O.

George Granger Custer, auditor of the board of education, will marry Miss Alice Gertrude Hatfield on Sept. 8 at her residence in Madisonville, O., a suburb of Cincinnati.

Mr. Custer is 70 years old and is a pioneer of Chicago. He has been an employé of the board of education for twenty-three years. Prior to that he was in business in South Water street. During the civil war he was assistant commercial editor of the old morning Post.

Miss Hatfield is 57 years old. Her father Col. John P. Hatfield, was killed in the civil war, and the daughter, instead of marrying, took upon herself the duty of supporting her mother. She is a cousin of Mr. Custer's late wife, Mrs. Sarah Custer, who died two years ago, having been an invalid ten years.

A wedding trip will be made to Seattle and down the Pacific coast. Mr. Custer was in the gold fields two or three years after the discovery of gold in California in 1848. The trip in the west will consume a month, after which the couple will return to Chicago.

WIFE NAMES THREE WOMEN IN HER SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Anna Connelly Also Charges Cruelty and Says She Was Kept Out of Her House for Three Hours.

Anna D. Connelly named three women in her suit for divorce against her husband, William A. Connelly, filed yesterday in the superior court. She charges that in December last year her husband was unduly intimate with women in St. Louis, New Orleans and Chicago. She also charges her husband with cruelty and says he frequently slapped her face. Once, she avers, he forced her to stand outside the house three hours.

Walter L. Tisdelle began suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Virginia L. Tisdelle, on the charge of cruelty. He alleges that she slapped his face, refused to prepare his meals and threw books at him.

TAKE MAN WANTED IN CHICAGO.

New York Police Arrest Albert Weistrat, Who Is Under Indictment on an Embezzlement Charge.

Albert Weistrat, for whom the Chicago police have been searching for more than a year on a charge of embezzlement, is under arrest in New York. Weistrat, while in the employ of Marquardt & Scott, jewelers, in 1907, is alleged to have embezzled $3,000. He fled, it is said, and an indictment charging embezzlement was returned against him. Detectives will leave with extradition papers to bring him to Chicago.

Household Hints

IN THE PARLOR

After the Announcement.

It would be ridiculous to say that a girl should be more careful of her manners at one time than at others, but nevertheless it is perfectly true that a girl's actions are more likely to be scrutinized and criticised on certain occasions than on others. Perhaps a girl is more apt to be criticised during the early part of her engagement than at other times. Every small act of a girl is under the severest inspection by the family and friends of her future husband, and especially if she has not been known to them before. It is an exceedingly wise young woman who conducts herself so that even the most critical could find no fault.

It would seem unnecessary to say that a girl should not accept any attentions from any young men, yet there are many young women who make the foolish and seemingly harmless mistake. It is not the place of a young girl to make any advances to the family of her fiancé, except under exceptional conditions. The theory is that a girl should wait to be welcomed into the family to which she will belong in the future, and it is for that family to receive her graciously and kindly. Girls should remember never to allow any demonstrations of affection except in private.

In the DINING ROOM

Musical Luncheon.

A musical luncheon can be made into a most charming and interesting affair with but little trouble and expense. The invitations must be written on plain note paper and may have at the top a few notes of music with the sign of the treble clef cleverly drawn in ink. The invitations may be formal little notes asking the guests to a "Musical luncheon." A pretty color for decorating the dining room and the table, and one which is not used a great deal, is green. The wall coverings of most dining rooms have a touch of green in them somewhere and the green will look well in the room.

For the center piece, one might have a guitar. The body part of the guitar might be made of tin (a tinsmith would make it for almost nothing) and should be covered with moss and in the center of it may be placed any kind of flowers that one might prefer. Violets look well in a thing of this kind. The handle of the guitar may be made of wood and colored black or gold and the strings may be of fish cord. The guitar should not be more than a foot and a half in length. From the handle to each place should extend little green ribbons. It is a pretty conceit to tie a tiny nosegay of violets to the end of each piece of ribbon. Near the bouquet should be placed the name card, on which should be written the name, the date, and an appropriate quotation. In front of each place, or if there is not enough room on the table, on the back of each chair should be placed some musical instrument. Mouth organs, tin trumpets, tambourines, and castanets may be the instruments given.

After luncheon nothing will afford more fun than an impromptu concert given by all the guests together and with "solos" given by each guest on her particular instrument.

Another interesting half hour may be provided by the hostess if she will secure the pictures of twelve famous musicians and place them in the different parts of the room. The guests must guess who the musicians are from their pictures and must write the names on cards which they have been provided with by the hostess. The one guessing the greatest number correctly may be given as a prize a bust of one of the musicians or a framed picture of the twelve musicians.

IN THE SEWING ROOM

Sewing Screen.

Get two soft wood boards, thirty-seven inches long, eighteen inches wide. Cut one end in any fancy shape, cover both sides with fancy denims, drawing tight and smooth, tacking on edge. Conceal edge of goods with guimp and brass tacks. Fasten together with hinges. You have a two section screen. A small castor on each bottom corner. Three gathered pockets with elastic in top extending across one side—the top one not so long—leaving space on one corner for pin cushion. For other side two shelves of thin boards six and five inches wide, cover with goods, fasten to screen with small hinges. Have wider shelf at bottom seven inches from floor; the other shelf is eleven inches from top. Chain on corner of shelves with hook in screen holds them up. Between and above shelves put hooks for shears, keys, etc. Also make small bags for articles of value. Shelves will hold thread, hook, eye, and button boxes. Outside of screen one or two large pockets for patterns. One cannot realize the convenience of this screen until used, especially if room is limited. Any woman can make one except preparing the boards.

When Sewing Sleeves.

When sewing sleeves in a waist this is a good rule to take for a guide: Measure back from the shoulder seam one inch, crease the armhole at this point and the spot exactly opposite will be the place to put the underarm seam of the sleeves.

Saving Strength.

In sewing make the arm motion downward instead of upward or sideways as the thread is drawn through the cloth. Much less energy is required.

TESTED RECIPES

Mustard Pickles.

Put one-half peck of small cucumbers, two quarts silver skinned onions, and two heads of picked cauliflower to soak in water to cover and a cupful of salt over night. In the morning drain. Mix one dessert spoonful of tumeric powder with three-quarters of a pound of best mustard. Wet with sufficient vinegar to mix without lumps. Put three quarts of vinegar over the fire, add 5 cents worth of mixed pickling spices, one-half ounce celery seed, one-half ounce white mustard seed, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves, one pound of brown sugar. Carefully stir in the mustard and tumeric paste and let boil up well Then add the mixed pickles, two red peppers chopped with the seeds of same, and stir all together. After it begins to bubble let boil well for five minutes. This amount will fill a two gallon jar.

This is the best recipe I have ever used for mustard pickles. Nine out of every ten recipes for same call for tomatoes, either green or ripe. Tomatoes do not improve either the appearance or the quality of the pickles sufficiently to compensate for their general sloppiness, and the seeds are tasteless or bitter.

Pineapple Pie.

Peel and grate one large or two small pineapples, add two cupfuls of sugar, yolks of three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one and one-half cupfuls cold water. Bake with one crust; use white of eggs with two tablespoonfuls of sugar for top; brown in oven. If canned pineapple is used one can of pineapple chunks and use the juice instead of water.

CHEER CHILDREN AT GAMES

Special Park Commissioners Make Trip of Inspection.

VISIT CITY OF PLAYGROUNDS.

Athletic Contests Were Arranged at Four Stopping Places.

Athletic games at four of the city playgrounds were witnessed yesterday by members of the special parks commission on an annual tour of inspection. At one of the playgrounds the commissioners saw races and at another they arrived in time to see a crowd of girls under 15 years old climb up a pole as easily as boys.

Inspect New Sites.

The contests at the playgrounds included dashes, broad jumps, and pole climbing. For the girls prizes were awarded for raffia and needle work.

Applause by Crowd.

Scores of youngsters entered each event and the contests were applauded by crowds. There were special contests, such as sack and potato races, and those in charge managed to ararnge each event so that the competitiors would be boys or girls of the same age.

In the evening there was a festival at the Commercial club playground in which groups of children from that ground and from the McLaren, Adams, and Orleans grounds drilled and played games to show the playground activities.

HAS FORMER FIANCE ARRESTED AS THIEF FOR TAKING RING.

Miss Mae Quinn, a telephone operator at Gary, yesterday caused the arrest of her former fiancé, Richard McKinley, 9630 Ewing avenue, South Chicago, on a charge of larceny. Miss Quinn charges that McKinley, who gave her a diamond engagement ring a year ago, visited her a week ago at her home in Gary and by a ruse obtained possession of the ring.

McKinley, who is a telegraph operator employed at the station of the Lake Shore railway in South Chicago, was released on bonds of $300. The girl demands the return of the ring.

Miss Quinn and McKinley became acquainted "by telephone" on an occasion when the telegraph operator transmitted a message over the telephone. McKinley called on Miss Quinn a week ago and asked to see the ring. While looking at it he asked the girl for a glass of water and during her absence from the room hurried from the house.

Later Miss Quinn called on McKinley in South Chicago and demanded an explanation. McKinley told her he wanted the ring back and that he never had had any serious intentions with her. McKinley will be given a hearing next week.

Municipal Band to Give Concert.

A concert will be given at Lincoln park Wednesday evening, Aug. 25, by the Municipal band of Chicago. Director C. H. Cook has arranged a program of ten numbers.

SECURE PROPERTY IN STATE STREET

ADDITION TO EVANSTON.

Northwestern University Plans to Place New Subdivision on the Market.

Max Teich and Carl Roessler, proprietors of the Kaiserhof hotel, have acquired from Charles E. Greve, manager of the Lehman estate, the building and leasehold interest at 398-404½ State street, on the west side of the street about 250 feet north of Polk street, for $65,000. The lot has a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 108 feet to an alley and is improved with a four-story and basement building which was valued by the board of review at $39,600.

The ground lease originally was acquired from Marcus Stearns in 1888 and runs until Feb. 1, 1975, at an annual rental of $6,000, or 4 per cent on $150,000. The board of review valued the land at $198,380. Mr. Greve acquired this leasehold interest and building recently from Loyd L. Smith, and also secured 50 feet adjoining on the north. The Bowes Investment company represented the purchasers in the transaction and Newton B. Lauren represented Mr. Greve.

The proposed new passenger station of the Western Indiana road at Polk street and the new Blackston hotel and theater on Hubbard court have made the property along this street much more desirable.

Earlier in the year Teich and Roessler sold the property at the southeast corner of State street and Hubbard court making a handsome profit in the transaction. They acquired the property in December, 1907, for $89,000, and early this year sold the same to Herbert E. Bucklen for $125,000, their profit being $36,000.

Offer of Long Lease.

A short time after this sale it was reported that Mr. Bucklen had received an offer for a long term lease of the property on the basis of 5 per cent on a valuation of $175,000. It was also stated that a substantial offer was made for the building on the premises.

Edward I. Bloom has sold to Louise C. Hoyt Wilson the property at the southwest corner of Calumet avenue and Forty-eighth street, improved with a new high grade three story and basement apartment building on a lot with a frontage of 107 feet and a depth of 128 feet. The consideration is a nominal one in the deed, but the actual price is said to be about $75,000 and the sale is subject to an incumbrance of $37,000.

In part payment Mrs. Wilson conveyed to Mr. Bloom the property in State street 148 feet north of Fifty-seventh street, 100x161 feet, west front, and the property in Woodlawn avenue 290 feet south of Fifty-fourth street, 80x175 feet, west front, both parcels being put in at nominal considerations.

Record was made yesterday of the conveyance by Alice Morgan Carter and J. Ridgely Carter, both of London, England, to the Northern Trust company, trustee for the Chicago and Northwestern road, of an undivided half interest in the property in Canal street 159 feet south of Lake street, 39¾@150 feet, east front. The consideration is nominal and the conveyance is subject to a ground lease for ninety-nine years and to a judgment of condemnation secured over a year ago in the condemnation proceedings instituted by the railroad company to acquire land for its new depot site.

Sells Residence Property.

John H. Londrigan has conveyed to Frederick H. Wolff the property in Kenmore avenue 163 feet south of Catalpa avenue, 62½x150 feet, west front, with residence improvements, for $10,500, subject to an incumbrance of $6,000.

John W. Sweet has given a trust deed to Theodore W. Smith to secure a loan of $30,000 for five years at 6 per cent, secured by the property at 3801-3803 Grand boulevard, 66x330 feet of ground, west front, with brick improvements.

The Northwestern university is about to place upon the market a new subdivision known as the Lake Shore addition to Evanston. The property is located on the lake shore at the head of Sheridan road where it turns west into the grounds of the Evanston Golf club. It is stated to be the purpose of the university to expend about $20,000 in improvements upon the property.

Sheridan road will be macadamized and oiled, water and sewer stubs will be carried into each lot, underground conduits are to be laid for the purpose of carrying electric light and telephone wires, the intention being to have no overhead wires in the subdivision.

Work is now in progress on a new building recently given by James A. Patton to the Evanston Hospital association. It will be located just west of the other buildings of the association at 2650 Ridge avenue. H. B. Wheelock is the architect and E. P. Strandberg company have the contract for the masonry and carpenter work.

Ready in Five Months.

It is expected that the building will be completed in about five months and will cost about $60,000.

A four story garage to cost about $100,000 is to be erected by Bryan Lathrop for the occupancy of the Tennant Motor company upon a part of the property recently acquired by him at Michigan avenue and Twenty-fifth street. It will occupy a lot 75x100 feet and the plans are being prepared by Jenney, Mundie & Jensen. Mr. Lathrop is also to erect a two story salesroom and garage building, 35x180 feet, in Michigan avenue, near Twenty-fourth street. It will cost about $25,000.

The Lake Shore Country club, the Jewish organization which has secured a large tract of land just north of Glencoe, has accepted plans for the clubhouse submitted by Architect Howard Shaw. The building will be in English Tudor style, two stories high, and is to be 375 feet long with an average width of sixty feet.

There will be living accommodations for about fifty guests, the guest building and garage being distinct from the main part of the structure, although attached to it. Work on the grounds is progressing rapidly and indications are that everything will be completed by June 1 next.

OFFER TO REWARD BURGLAR IF HE WILL RETURN WATCH.

Women Advertise That They Will Pay $75 for Family Relics and Ask Robber No Questions.

If the burglar who broke into the home of Misses Rose and Ruth Rosenthal, 6116 Aberdeen street, last Monday morning will return the gold hunting watch to the young women he or they will receive as a reward for theft, in the first place, and honesty, in the second place, $75.

The watch is a keepsake of a deceased brother of the young women—a present from him to their father and mother on the anniversary of their silver wedding, Jan. 22, 1906.

The reward is contained in the following "lost and found" advertisement in THE TRIBUNE:

LOST—$75 REWARD AND POSITIVELY NO questions asked for return of gold box case hunting watch and chain, 21 jewels, Crescent St. Waltham; from 6116 Aberdeen-st., valued as keepsake from dead son. Address C T 163, Tribune.

Miss Rose Rosenthal says she dreamed the robbery in every detail as it was committed, but being convinced it was only a dream she made no attempt to cry out. She now thinks that instead of dreaming, she was awake and saw the robbery as it took place.

"I feel certain that if the burglars only knew of the associations connected with the watch they would gladly return it," said Miss Rose Rosenthal yesterday.

MAPS OUT WORK FOR JUDGES.

Chief Justice Olson Announces Assignment of Cases to Magistrates of the Municipal Court Benches.

Assignment of cases to the various judges and also the semi-annual assignment of judges to the various criminal branches, to take effect Sept. 13, was announced yesterday by Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court.

Judge McKenzie Cleland, who is now hearing contract cases entirely, will hear also suits for damages for injuries received in assaults, trespass, libel, and the like. All cases for violation of the city ordinances will be heard by Judge Himes in room 501. Supplemental proceedings also will be heard by Judge Himes.

Following are the assignments of judges to the various criminal branches:

Harrison street, No. 1	Judge Fake
Harrison street, No. 2	Judge Beitler
Desplaines street	Judge Newcomer
Maxwell street	Judge Eberhardt
W. Chicago-av. and Shakspeare-av.	Judge Uhlir
South Chicago and Hyde Park	Judge Stewart
Thirty-fifth street and Englewood	Judge Fry
Chicago avenue and Sheffield avenue	Judge Crowe
Criminal court	Judge Going

Judges Olson, Gemmil, Dicker, Heap, Cottrell, Wells, Blake, Torrison, Walker, and Scovel will hear the September and October jury call.

NEW THEATER FOR ROCKFORD.

Lyman Glover Looks Over Sites, but Says Arrangements Are Not Complete.

Word was received in Chicago yesterday that Kohl and Castle are about to build a new theater in Rockford to cost $75,000.

It was said that Lyman Glover, manager of the Majestic theater of Chicago had been in Rockford for the purpose of closing negotiations. Mr. Glover said last night in this connection:

"It is true that I was in Rockford today and looked over several sites for a theater, but nothing has been decided yet. We will have a theater there some time, but what the site will be or when it will be built is something that has not been decided."

ARMY AUTO BEATS SCHEDULE.

Col. Parrett Makes the Run from New York to Chicago in Fifty-five Hours.

Col. M. E. Parrett in a military automobile, carrying dispatches from Maj. Gen. Wood, commanding the department of the east, in New York, to Maj. Gen. John F. Weston, commanding the department of California, arrived at the Congress hotel at 3 p. m. yesterday, forty-eight hours ahead of schedule. He is accompanied by Maj. B. B. Rosenthal and Capt. F. F. Zirbes. The record from New York to Chicago is forty-eight hours. Col. Parrett's car made it in fifty-five hours. It will start for Clinton, Ia., at 9 o'clock this morning.

NEW DIRECTORY REQUIRES STUDY

SHOWS GROWTH OF CITY.

Added Names Indicate That the Population Has Increased 37,600 in Year.

If you are a frequent user of the city directory of Chicago you had better take a course in cross indexing within the next two or three days. The new directory, nearly 300 pages larger than that of last year, will be ready for distribution Friday.

Nearly 200 pages will be devoted to a supplement made necessary by the change in residence numbers which will become effective on Sept. 1.

The supplement is a unique feature of the volume. In it the streets of the city are listed alphabetically and under the street name in opposite columns marked odd and even numbers are the old residence numbers and the new. The order of the city council for a change in house numbering went into effect after the work of compiling the new directory was well along.

To do the work all over again would have delayed the issue of the volume until New Year's, and it was decided to compile it on the basis of the old house numbering and to add a supplement showing the changes in street divisions and numbers.

Must Use Supplement.

"There may be considerable difficulty in people using the new directory until they become accustomed to the new street divisions and number," said Manager E. J. Dillon yesterday. "But the supplement has been compiled carefully and verified from the data of the city water bureau and the map department. As soon as people learn to use the supplement there should be little trouble, for the new volume is more carefully compiled and far better in general than ever before"

The total number of names in the directory is 768,600, an increase over 1908 of 10,500 names. The estimate of Chicago's population, based on the United States census of 1900, is 2,462,600. This estimate records the increase in Chicago population within the last year as 37,600 people.

Humorous features in the matter of names appear. The first name to appear is Aaberg, Christopher, and the last name is Zyzik, Mrs. Josephine. The name of Johnson easily leads all others in point of numbers. It is repeated 7,086 times, and its nearest competitor is the Smith family, with 5,153 members. The longest name in the directory is—take a long breath for a running start—Michael Christophilopanagiotopulos, 182 North Peoria street.

Birds, Beasts, and Fish.

In the new volume the three kingdoms of the world are fitly represented. In the animal branch, as compiled by Manager Dillon, there are 497 Foxes, 666 Wolfs, 27 Bears, 40 Coons, 8 Sables, 30 Badgers, 16 Beavers, and one or more representatives of other families.

Now for the birds. There are 208 Cranes, 34 Crows, 122 Birds, 29 Eagles, 57 Peacocks, and 34 Partridges. Among the insect division there are 6 Bees, 4 Beetles, 1 Bug, and 4 Gnats.

Supporters of local option may take hope in the liquor division. There are 36 Sherrys, 7 Beers, 1 Ales, 2 Champagnes, 12 Seltzers, 3 Wines, 15 Ports, and 2 Clarets. But there is only 1 Water and 91 Waters. There are 80 Brewers, 311 Steins, 2 Gallons, 4 Pints, 80 Glasses, and 2 Goblets.

And there are names denoting many kinds of trees, flowers, and fruits. There are names of royalty, such as King, Prince, etc. There are "jewels" of names and the whole gamut of grains. In fact, there is a name for about every object you every heard of in Chicago's new directory, and that name betokens a resident.

Get a Government Farm

Before They Are All Gone

320 ACRE FARMS FREE

The U. S. Government is now offering over three million acres of homestead lands in eastern Wyoming, along the Burlington Route, under the new Mondell homestead law permitting settlers to take 320 acres instead of the usual 160 acre homestead. These lands are ideal for dry farming and hundreds of farmers have made a success of this method of farming in the locality where these lands are located.

IRRIGATED GOVERNMENT LANDS IN THE BIG HORN BASIN AND YELLOWSTONE VALLEY where rich productive lands with perpetual water right may be purchased for about one-half the cost of land in the central states and where the water can be turned on and off the land to suit the convenience of the farmer, and where you are not bothered with rain during harvest; where a single crop can be made to pay for the land; where 50 bu. of wheat and 75 bu. of oats commonly grow to the acre.

Don't Wait Longer, but Get a Home Today

These lands are being rapidly taken up and ere long all of the Government lands will be gone. Thereafter land will be possible of acquirement only at prices phenomenally high compared to those of today.

CUTTING AND THRESHING

The Limitless Resources of Oregon

Oregon has a population of half a million and over. She has a welcome for thousands more and a royal welcome, too. Nature has heaped her gifts (of climate, scenery and soil, of forest, mine and farm) on this daughter of the West and, in gratitude, Oregon is stretching out a beckoning hand to the struggling masses of the East. There is in Oregon an "embarrassment of riches"—an almost bewildering variety of choice before the prospective settler. For this State is "resourceful" in more senses than one. He who would make his home in Oregon, should ponder well the question: "which section?" Land may be purchased for a few dollars and there is land valued at thousands of dollars per acre. There are opportunities for many.

On the Pacific Slope

About one-fourth of Oregon's area of 94,560 square miles, lies West of the Cascade Mountains, and embraces some choice garden spots—the Willamette Valley, including nine of the most productive counties in the state—the Umpqua Valley, known far and wide for its high quality fruits—the Rogue River Valley, home of fine apples, pears and grapes—the Hood River Valley with its perfect strawberries and unexcelled apples. Western Oregon, though possessing a considerable rainfall, is applying irrigation to produce higher results in fruit growing.

Irrigated Lands

Many irrigation projects are under way in Oregon, the acreage of land under irrigation so far amounting to about 500,000—about one-twentieth of the total cultivated area. In the valleys of the Deschutes River, in the central part of the state—in Umatilla County—in the Klamath country and elsewhere, thousands of acres will be added to the most productive of the farm lands of the west. But even then the irrigated land in the State will bear only a small proportion to the total cultivable area, and though fruit-raising is "in the lime-light" to the almost complete obscuration of other products, yet Oregon's grain and grazing lands should not be overlooked by the farmer.

Wheat Lands

Wheat is the great grain crop of Oregon, and for quality ranks at the top. Prices rule high, largely on account of the foreign demand—Oregon being the principal source of Oriental supply. The immense wheat farms—1,000 to 6,000 acres—are tilled and harvested by steam power, and one of the most wonderful sights that the farm world of Oregon and other Western States can offer is that of a big side-hill combined harvester and thresher, drawn by 20 to 30 head of mules or horses, heading, threshing, cleaning and sacking grain, finally dropping the sacks securely tied along the field. Wheat growing is profitable if engaged in by wholesale, even where, for the sake of added moisture and fertility, every-other-year-cultivation is necessary.

Apples for Epicures

The golden apples of the Hesperides—if they really were apples—were not half so famous as the apples of Oregon. Here in a number of districts the very choicest are being raised at such profits as make the Eastern orchardist shake his head incredulously. For flavor, color and keeping quality, they are famous the world over and prices as high as $3.25 a box are on record. While the trees are growing to the point of bearing, it is common to raise strawberries between the rows at a good profit.

Pears, Peaches and Cherries

Pears—the delicious Bartlett and Comice—bring big profits, those of the Rogue River having broken all records for high prices in carload lots. And probably a large portion of the State is capable of growing pears profitably. The peach is at home in Douglas County and in favorable locations in Willamette Valley. Cherries and other fruits are successfully grown in a number of places in both Western and Eastern Oregon.

What About the Walnut?

The walnut industry of Oregon has excited considerable attention. In fact there is in the Willamette Valley quite a walnut-planting boom, conditions there having been found peculiarly favorable. Extraordinary profits have been actually realized, and still more extraordinary ones promised. Individual trees are said to have yielded $40 in a season—an acre $1,000. The tree does not yield till it is 6 to 8 years old. It is too soon to figure what the proportions and profits of the industry may be.

Profits and Land Values

Land in the United States is worth all the way from nothing to millions of dollars an acre. It all depends on what it is worth to the owner. Successful intensive farming has raised the value of Oregon farm land in some sections to $800 an acre. Irrigable land that, as raw sage brush, was worth $5 an acre one or two years ago, is worth today $150. Wheat land can be bought wild for $10 an acre—cultivated, for $30 to $60. Desert land under irrigation system, with water prospects, brings $60 to $300 per acre.

A National Land Exposition in Chicago

From November 20th to December 4th of this year will be held in the Coliseum, under the auspices of the Chicago Tribune, the United States Land and Irrigation Exposition, which will provide authoritative, graphic information about the vast land opportunities now opening up in many states for homeseekers, farmers and investors. There will be exhibits of the wonderful fruits of virgin soil from all sections of the country. Elaborate panoramas will show what is being done to irrigate, drain and cultivate it. Arrangements have been made for government exhibits of great value to the farmer and of vital interest to every lover of American soil.

TRADING IN STOCKS LIGHTER

Speculative Interests Reflect Uncertainty as to Bearings.

HARRIMAN HEALTH FACTOR.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The stock market drifted further away today from the excited trading of last week, at least so far as the volume of dealings is concerned, but the course of prices indicated that traders still are uncertain in their bearings. There were wide fluctuations in two or three stocks which, together supplied a substantial proportion of the day's entire sales, totaling 780,000 shares.

Again the stock exchange's chief thought so far as this expressed the day's comments on the market and the attitude of traders had to do with the health of Harriman, which the stock exchange still chose to regard as one of the most important factors. In this situation Union Pacific naturally was the stock which fluctuated most, but in this issue, as most others, the day's backward and forward movements came so near balancing each other that only a few active stocks showed net changes for the day amounting to more than a fraction.

Regular Dividends Declared.

Both Union Pacific and Southern Pacific announced today their quarterly dividends at the regular rate, which action was in keeping with best informed expectations of the previous day. Although earnings and other fundamental facts in the situation have been given but scant thought by the stock exchange since it gave itself over to the task of registering in the price of stocks in which he is most interested the exact state of Harriman's health, it nevertheless is gratifying for those who still give thought to fundamental factors to learn today that the statement of earnings which the Union and Southern Pacific directors had before them today for the first half of August made a gratifying showing.

Some Advances Recorded.

The list included such advances as 3 points in American Agricultural and Chemical, 2¼ each in American Beet Sugar and Consolidated Gas and 2 in Western Union Telegraph. There were recorded also some net losses of as much as a couple of points, but these were outnumbered by the advances.

The day's report from London indicated a larger open account there in American stocks than had been expected, which fact, however, in the carry-over charge remained at moderate figures. Foreign exchange rates again rose at this center, while rates for both time and call loans remained unchanged.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent. Ruling rate, 2½. Closing bid, 2¼, offered at 2½. Time loans dull; sixty days, 2¾@3 per cent; ninety days, 3@3¼ per cent; six months, 4 per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4¼@4¾ per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.35@486.40 for 60 day bills and at 486.90 for demand. Commercial bills, 484⅝@485. Bar silver, 51¼c. Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

Sears-Roebuck Common Makes New High Record on Exchange

CUT IN TELEPHONE RATES.

The Bell Company of St. Louis Announces Reduction in Charge.

Sears-Roebuck common made a new high record on the local stock exchange. The price advanced to 104⅛. There is a pool in the stock and as the issue was put out as a bonus in connection with the sale of the preferred, the present quotation shows an extremely handsome profit.

Friends of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool company are of the belief that the shares of that concern will be placed on a 4 per cent dividend basis before the end of the year. The stock has advanced 13 points within the last few weeks, a fact indicative in itself of probable resumption of dividends.

Chicago Subway shares were quiet. The activity which developed for a few days has not continued. Booth Fisheries stocks were firm, the preferred going to 59. There is no news concerning the company, but it is thought that when a statement of earnings is made public the exhibit will be a favorable one.

United Fruit Earnings.

A director of the United Fruit company is quoted as saying:

"A price of $150 a share for United Fruit, while the highest the stock has ever commanded, seems to me to be entirely justified. For years the company has been putting its money back into the property instead of paying it out in dividends with the result that a surplus of $10,036,000, or nearly $50 a share, is invested in big farming lands, steamships, etc.

"This surplus belongs to the stockholders and some time, and in some form or other, it must be divided for their benefit. At the same time, the matter of a stock dividend this fall has not been considered by the board even informally."

Big Cut in Telephone Rates.

The Bell Telephone company of St. Louis published on Aug. 17 a new schedule of rates, effective Sept. 1, which is substantially the same as that of the Kinloch Telephone company. The Bell makes a reduction of $46.80 a year on the unlimited direct, $18 on the unlimited direct two party line, and $6 a year on residence telephones. In explaining this change in the rates President Walbridge announced it was made in order to make full use of the company's exchange and wire facilities, which were enlarged previous to the panic.

Progress of Denver and Northwestern.

It has been announced recently by D. H. Moffat that work on the Denver, Northwestern and Pacific will be pushed through from its present terminus, Steamboat Springs, Colo., 214 miles west of Denver, to Provo City, Utah, on the Oregon Short Line and the Denver and Rio Grande, thirty miles south of Salt Lake City. He further announces that contracts are being prepared to let twenty miles of construction of roadbed from Steamboat Springs to Hayden, and that this work will shortly begin.

St. Louis Money Demand.

According to advices from St. Louis the banks there have been endeavoring to ascertain as nearly as practicable what will be the needs of tributary banks. As a result of inquiries, it is the belief that before the end of the month of August there will be a large demand for accommodation in the way of credit and of bills.

Dividends Declared.

The Union Pacific railroad declared regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on its common stock and the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on its preferred stock. The Southern Pacific company declared regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its common stock, all payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 13.

The Boston and Albany railroad company declared regular quarterly dividend of $2 per share, payable Sept. 30 to stock of record Aug. 31.

The Rochester Railway and Light company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on its preferred stock, payable Sept. 1 to stock of record Aug. 24.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent, payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 9.

General Financial News.

The report of Everett W. Burdette, as master in the Western Union-American Telephone case, has been filed and shows an award of 20,087,825 shares of stock in 37 subsidiary companies, and $2,579,914 in cash.

The Keystone Copper company has been organized by Adolph Lewishon and associates to take over properties at Globe, Ariz.

For the purposes of the annual meeting, the books of the Union Pacific railroad company will be closed Sept. 13 and reopened on Oct. 12.

Since last Friday, the New York banks have lost $842,000.

The American Shipbuilding company has orders for business to the amount of several million dollars.

It was rumored in La Salle street yesterday that the American Locomotive company would put out an issue of $10,000,000 bonds.

Since the beginning of the current calendar year it is estimated that $175,000,000 has been expended for rolling stock by steam and electric railroads.

The Standard Oil company has bought 27,750 shares of the outstanding stock of United States Natural Gas company, at $75 a share, and guarantees the interest on $2,298,500 outsanding 6 per cent bonds. The United States Natural Gas company controls the natural gas used in Chicago.

Earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ended Aug. 31 are expected to be in excess of $35,000,000.

The Cambria Steel company has advanced the price of steel bars $1.40 a ton. The United States Steel corporation, it is thought, will meet the advance.

Interest Payments Due.

The semi-annual interest due Sept. 1, 1909, on the first mortgage gold bonds of the Commonwealth Edison company, the Commonwealth Electric company, and the Chicago Edison company is payable at the Illinois Trust and Savings bank on and after that date.

No Brick Dividend Ordered.

Directors of the Illinois Brick company, at their regular monthly meeting, did not order a dividend on the stock, but, as previously anounced, the insiders believe that, with the Penfield process established, dividends may be expected.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Money was in better demand on the market today for the settlement and discounts were firmer. On the stock exchange the general carry over was arranged at unchanged rates. There were fresh commitments on a fair scale and the tone was firm, Americans leading, but Kaffirs were actively supported by speculators, while Grand Trunk and foreign bonds rose steadily on investment buying. Copper shares advanced with American securities, opened quiet but firm, with values fractionally over parity. At noon prices were from 1¼ above to ⅛ below yesterday's New York closing. Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific led in the early advance, which gradually extended in the afternoon to the rest of the list. But New York offered Union Pacific down 2 points in the afternoon. This caused a reaction, but the market hardened in the late trade and closed steadier.

HIGH SALARY CAUSE OF SUIT.

Stockholder Seeks Injunction Against Tailoring Company and Wants Manager to Pay Back Part of Wages.

John P. McGrath, incorporated, tailors, was made defendant yesterday in an injunction suit begun in the Superior court by Charles Orre, to stop him from continuing business.

Orre says he owns forty shares, or one-fourth of the capital stock of the company, and objects to the manner in which the business is being conducted. He says McGrath, his wife, daughter, and Dr. W. E. Hall, the family physician, control the business of the firm to suit themselves.

Orre says on July 10, 1908, at a meeting of the board of directors, a resolution was passed voting McGrath as manager, $100 salary weekly in addition to $15 "spending money."

WILL GIVE FREE AUTO RIDE.

Salvation Army Arranges Outing for Three Hundred Mothers and Children of Chicago's Slums.

The Salvation army will give a free auto picnic to their summer camp at Glen Ellyn, Ill., to 300 mothers and children from the slums of Chicago on Thursday, Aug. 26. The start will be made from the headquarters at Hubbard court and State street at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The party will arrive in Glen Ellyn about 11 o'clock. The return trip will be made about 3 o'clock, arriving in Chicago at 5 o'clock. Commissioner and Mrs. Estill will be personally in charge of the outing.

Want to Make Forest Park a City.

Citizens of the village of Forest Park are circulating a petition among the voters of the village asking that a special election be held in the near future to vote on the question of changing the village into a city. The citizens are divided on the question. Many of them declare that the petition is a way to give the present village board a knockout blow.

TURNERS PLAN BIG DISPLAY

NOTED ATHLETES ARRIVE.

Games Arranged for Days, Dinners and Singing at Night.

Bohemian turners of the world to the number of several thousand will be the guests of Chicago for the next few days, beginning today, when the Bohemian athletic celebration under the auspices of the International Turners' association will hold their meet here.

The events, which are expected to surpass in several respects the Olympian games, will be held at Lawndale baseball park. Twenty athletes who are men of affairs of Bohemia will take part in the contest. Other contestants will come from all parts of this and other countries. The celebration will continue until Aug. 29.

Decorate Their Homes.

All residents of the Bohemian districts of the city are decorating their homes, stores, and streets with the flags of the United States and Bohemia. Festivities will commence with a banquet and reception for the delegates only.

This will be the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the Pilsen-Sokol. The delegates from Bohemia are in charge of E. Jirsak, chief physical director of the Pilsen-Sokol.

Dr. Capek, an attorney of Birma, Moravia; Mr. Cermak, a manufacturer of the same city; and Senator Klofac, leader of the Bohemian state senate, are among the more prominent visitors. Dr. Shiner is chairman of the delegation and president of the United Turners' association of the world.

Reception and Banquet.

Tomorrow evening there will be a reception at Turner hall, Ashland avenue and Eighteenth street, to be followed by a large banquet.

Early in the evening a parade, in which it is expected that 20,000 members of the association will participate, will take place. This will start from Eighteenth street and Ashland avenue and disband at the ball park.

In the parade there will be floats representing the national spirit of Bohemia. On Friday morning the athletic contests will begin. They will continue until Sunday evening. There will be a singing contest each evening. Cups and trophies will be awarded to the winners.

ABE ERLANGER FOLLOWS ROCKEFELLER OVER LINKS.

Standard Oil Chief Tells Theatrical Man of the Benefits Derived from Playing Golf.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Two leaders in their respective lines of public endeavor, Abe Erlanger, the theatrical man, and John D. Rockefeller, met at the Forest Hill golf links today. Erlanger was an early guest by appointment. He did not play, and followed Mr. Rockefeller and Capt. Schofield over the course. M. B. Daly of the East Ohio Gas company also accompanied the players.

The Standard Oil chief told Erlanger and Daly that while both are comparatively young men they should lose no time in taking regular exercise.

"I have received great benefit from playing golf here this summer," said Mr. Rockefeller. "I was slightly under weight when I came to Forest Hill, but now I am back to my normal weight."

ALUMNI ARRANGE BALL GAMES.

Graduates of Illinois and Wisconsin Universities Plan Joint Gathering at Lincoln Park Sept. 11.

Chicago alumni of the Universities of Illinois and Wisconsin are planning a joint gathering Sept. 11. The program includes a baseball game at Lincoln park in the afternoon and a dinner and dance in the evening.

The teams will be made up entirely of alumni. John Farson, vice president of the Illinois club, will play shortstop, Health Commissioner Evans wil be second baseman, and Dr. Carlos Montezuma will be catcher. Lorado Taft, the sculptor, has consented to hold down the first sack on the Illinois team.

Dr. J. A. Ochsner and J. G. Wray, chief engineer of the Telephone company, will both play on the Wisconsin university nine.

RELEASE DEBTOR ON $500 BOND

Austin McInerney, Who Preferred Jail to Paying $50 Judgment, Applies for Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Austin McInerney, who preferred to go to jail last week rather than pay a judgment for $50 against him, was released on $500 bonds yesterday by Judge McWilliams, before whom he had applied for a writ of habeas corpus. Municipal Judge Robert Scott committed McInerney to jail for his refusal to pay the judgment, which was in favor of the American Trust company as trustee for the Interstate Supply company. The hearing on the application was postponed until Aug. 28.

THINK FARMER WAS POISONED.

Friends of Manchester, Ill., Man Who Died Suddenly Want His Stomach Examined.

Janesville, Wis., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Friends of John Ellis, a Manchester, Ill., farmer, who died under suspicious circumstances in his field while plowing, have requested an examination of his stomach, in the belief that he was poisoned. Ellis took an active part in affairs of the community in which he lived.

NOTICE
A RARE OPPORTUNITY

A few wealthy gentlemen can obtain very choice building sites and large grounds, capable of much beautifying, in property uniquely situated; a high, dominant bit of ground, the HIGHEST about CHICAGO, overlooking for miles a most lovely landscape, and the prettiest piece of country in this section. It is near the City, with all modern improvements and conveniences (water, gas, electric lights, sewers, etc.) at hand, and with one of the best transportation services out of Chicago.

If a few friends are considering plans, looking for the right place to build homes near each other, in a select neighborhood, this is a most unusually desirable location, and can hardly BE DUPLICATED AROUND CHICAGO.

It is so situated that the grounds are susceptible of high class improvements, with fine building sites, and with sunny southern slopes, which will make the finest flower, fruit, and garden exposures. This property has been held out of the market for many years, as part of a large tract, and on account of the unwillingness of owners to break it up into smaller holdings, until now. (Before the owner has completed plans for sale, one of the sites has been purchased promptly when it became privately known it could be had).

Full particulars will be given prospective purchasers, who can afford to own large grounds and build high class improvements. Principals only will be dealt with. It is a RARE CHANCE for the RIGHT PARTIES.

This ground, and its immediate surroundings, correspond more nearly in character to the high lands of Jersey, along the Morris and Essex R. R., which have become the elegant residence property of the wealthiest old New York families, and this will come the nearest to filling the same place with and for the same class of CHICAGO CITIZENS.

Chicago has a very LIMITED amount of this order of choice building sites and in no other direction, and when once this is sold, it will be hard to duplicate for love or money.

BEARS POUND WHEAT MART

Prices Are Forced Lower Early, but Have Sharp Late Rally.

PATTEN WORKS ON BEAR SIDE

Dry Weather in Corn Belt Aids Bulls; Oats Close at Higher Level.

Another drive on wheat prices was influential in forcing values lower yesterday, but the market showed a more stubborn undertone and at the close May was unchanged, December on ⅛c off and September ⅛c down. Changing from September to December was a factor, and resulted in narrowing the difference materially. Patten was credited with selling more December wheat, while the Armour house was on the buying side of the December and May, according to pit observers. Holders of downs were free buyers and near the close offerings were not heavy. Outside trade was light and without particular significance.

Crowd Follows Patten Selling.

The continued selling by the Patten house, especially of the December, has made the trade bearish and local professionals as a rule were inclined to the short side. At the same time there was fairly influential buying aside from the Armour company. Logan-Bryan, Lake, Brosseau, Wrenn, and Lowitz were good buyers, absorbing a large amount of wheat. It was pointed out that Liverpool September was nearly 20c over Chicago September, and there were export bids within reaching distance. Export sales of about 80,000 bu were also reported, although as a general proposition export bids are out of line. Nebraska wheat is now heading this way on account of the big break in premiums at Minneapolis. At the latter place Nebraska hard winter was off 2½c since Friday, and arrivals of wheat from that section are expected to be larger in this market.

Foreign Markets Are Heavy.

Liverpool was again weak, closing ⅝@1d lower and Berlin was off 3c, with Antwerp 1¼c and Budapest 1⅜c lower. Spot wheat at Liverpool was down 10c in a week and Russian and Danubian offerings were large and quoted at cheaper prices. The weakness abroad had considerable effect here and encouraged free selling at the start.

The local cash market was heavy for hard winters, but firm for red winter. From the present outlook No. 2 red winter wheat bids fair to be as scarce this coming spring as was the case last year, when its scarcity was the main factor in enabling the bulls to boost values to extravagant levels. Premiums are gaining continually relative to other kinds of wheat.

Rains General in Northwest.

Rains were quite general in the northwest and in Southern Canada, but there were few complaints and the majority of reports were of a bearish tenor. Thrashing is progressing rapidly and much of the Canadian wheat is now cut. Frost was reported at Regina, but the Winnipeg market did not show much concern. Primary receipts were 684,000 bu, or 32,000 bu less than a year ago. Receipts here were 147 cars, with 51 cars expected today. Clearances for the day were 81,000 bu. The world's visible increased 837,000 bu.

Corn Scores Sharp Gains.

Lower prices for corn were established at the opening regardless of the dry weather map, but when the official forecast for continued fair weather was posted shorts decided discretion was the better part of valor and bought freely. With buying by local bulls led by Comstock, Friedman, and Howe, prices advanced sharply and the close was at net gains of ⅝@⅞c. Complaints were numerous, but some of the Nebraska reports are coming from sections which had lots of rain a few weeks ago. Inglis, the crop expert, wired that conditions in Illinois and Missouri were excellent. The market is almost entirely a weather proposition. Cash corn was steady to ½c up with sales of 130,000 bu. Country offerings were fair. World's stocks increased 418,000 bu. Receipts here were 386 cars, with 130 cars expected today. Primary arrivals were 422,000 bu, against 738,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool closed ⅛d lower.

Big Changing Operations in Oats.

Closing prices for oats were ¼@⅜c better. The strength in corn and oversold pit conditions were the main factors. A good deal of changing was noted and operations in the pit were confusing. Receipts were large at 639 cars, but the estimate for today was only 252 cars. Stocks are accumulating and elevator concerns are busy making contract oats. Receipts were 1,180,000 bu at primary points, against 694,000 bu a year ago. The cash market was ¼@½c lower. Shipping sales were 135,000 bu.

Good Inquiry for Milling Rye.

Good milling rye was wanted at steady prices; other grades were neglected. September closed nominally at 68c. No. 2 was quoted 68@71c, No. 3, 62@67c, and No. 4, 55@60c. Receipts were estimated at 1 car.

Barley was in good request and strong. Malting was quoted 55@66c, mixing, 50@53c, and screenings, 40@53c. Receipts were estimated at 11 cars.

Flaxseed was unchanged. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.45, No. 1 from the northwest, $1.43½, and No. 1 southwestern, $1.37. Receipts were 3 cars.

Timothyseed was steady. September closed at $3.60 nominal, October, $3.50 bid and $3.55 asked, and March, $3.60 bid and $3.80 asked. Cloverseed was firm. Spot contract, $11.80, and March, $12.25.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

Russia is underselling this country at least 8c a bu on wheat, according to a local exporter, who stated that the only business being done was a few loads occasionally. The general bids are out of line and until our markets steady there seems to be little prospect of big export business. Yesterday there were sales from here of about 80,000 bu. Locally the cash market was a little easier for hard winter, which was offered at 8c over September for No. 2. No. 2 red was 6½@8c over. At St. Louis and Kansas City receipts were not large, but there was an easy tone to the cash markets, with considerable wheat carried over unsold. Minneapolis cash wheat was again weak. Of the new wheat received yesterday—112 cars—17 graded No. 1 northern, 39 cars No. 2 northern, 30 cars durum, and balance velvet chaff and low grades.

John Inglis wired Logan-Bryan from Jacksonville, Ill.: "From Joliet to Bloomington corn shows no firing. Prospects good. From Blooming to Jacksonville crop is heavy, promising large yields, but late corn on light soil has fired in spots. Around here much of the corn is made. This hot weather is just what it needs, as fields are rank. Never saw heavier crop around here. Rain is needed for late corn. Whole country is thrashing oats. Oats weigh 35 to 38 lbs; yields good, some fields more than 50 bu. Farmers delivering both oats and corn freely." From Slater, Mo., Inglis wired: "Through Missouri corn is in splendid shape. The ears are filling well. Corn will run 35 to 60 bu. Over 50 per cent made. Firing is unimportant, but weather is hot."

More crop damage reports were received in regard to corn. There were a few private reports of rains in sections of the west, but the weather map did not show any precipitation of importance and the forecast was for generally clear, fine weather.

Lake had a Minneapolis message saying there was good authority for the statement that there had been frosts in the Regina district of Canada night before last. About 75 per cent of the wheat is still standing in that section.

Cash corn here was steady to ½c up with moderate offerings. Oats were ¼@½c lower. The country is selling oats quite freely, but not a great deal of corn. Local cash sales were 130,000 bu corn and 135,000 bu oats.

Heavy flour sales were reported at Minneapolis, one message stating there had been 250,000 brls worked for export the last day or so. Millers were said to be buying cash wheat against these sales.

Duluth wired: "Our cables today are 2c below the present market on both Manitobas and durums, and they don't even bid at that."

Receipts of wheat at Winnipeg were 19 cars, compared with 12 cars a week ago and 26 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat decreased 125,000 bu for three days.

Charters were for 165,000 bu of corn.

CATTLE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.— Receipts of 5,500 head consisted largely of range cattle, and there was little business transacted in native steers. There were several orders here for good natives, and when the buyers found the supply inadequate they turned to the western offerings and gave them strenuous support. The result was a firm and higher market for range steers, and sales were made up to $6.60, the highest of the season. Natives also reached $6.60, and a few loads cleared at $6.00, although the bulk of the offerings was not good enough to bring more than $5.00@5.75.

Native butcher stock trade was weak to 10@15c lower. Most of the supply consisted of plain grass fed cows and heifers, for which there was little demand, and holders were compelled to accept reduced bids. Bulls made steady values, while calves were called unchanged, although they did not reach the high figures that prevailed at the close last week. Sales of prime vealers were principally at $8.75@8.85, although one lot went to a killer at $8.90, and an outsider paid $9.00 for a small band of assorted offerings. Stockers and feeders met with a brisk inquiry at steady prices. Quotations:

Yearling steers, good to prime	6.75@7.85
Exporters	5.50@6.80
Range steers	5.50@6.60
Beef cows, good to choice	4.00@5.60
Beef cows, plain to good	3.00@4.00
Fat heifers, good to choice	4.25@6.50
Canners and cutters	2.00@3.00
Calves, common to choice heavy	3.00@5.25
Good to prime vealers	7.75@9.00
Feeding steers	4.00@5.00
Stock steers	3.25@4.00
Bulls	2.15@4.85

Cattle at six western markets, 47,300, against 83,700 a week ago, 38,300 a year ago, and 35,500 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 4,657,000, against 4,753,000 the same period in 1908.

HOGS.

Most hogs sold at an advance of 5@10c over Monday's best prices. The market weakened a little at the finish, but practically all of the desirable offerings were disposed of before the reaction set in, and buyers bid advanced prices so long as there was good stock to be had. Receipts of 9,000 head disappointed buyers and induced spirited bidding on the part of shippers and speculators from the outset. Packers were divided in their opinion of the trade, and while four of them stayed out altogether, the remaining killers paid the full appreciation and bought as many hogs as they could get for the money.

Best hogs topped at $8.25, but the quality of the offerings was not as desirable as on the preceding day, and while prices did not show the full 10c advance, there were many hogs sold at $8.00@8.25 that would not have brought within 10c of these figures Monday. Mixed hogs made $7.50@7.80, with the bulk of the good grades at $7.70@7.80, or fully 10c higher. Pigs sold at an appreciation of 5@10c, with most of the strong weight lots at $7.50@7.90. The market had an active tone throughout and not many hogs were left unsold at the finish. Quotations:

Mixed packing	7.50@7.90
Mediums and butchers	7.85@8.15
Rough and packing	6.90@7.40
Poor to good heavy packing	7.30@7.85
Selected packing	7.90@8.25
Good to choice shipping	8.00@8.25
Lightweights	7.80@8.20
Pigs	6.85@7.90
Stags	7.25@8.00

Average price of hogs at Chicago, $7.90, against $7.83 Monday, $4.74 a week ago, $6.80 a year ago, and $6.14 two years ago.

Eleven markets received 52,000 hogs, against 46,400 a week ago, 48,900 a year ago, and 67,900 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 15,590,000, against 18,477,000 the same period in 1908.

SHEEP.

Western range sheep, yearlings, and lambs sold at 10@15c higher prices, while the native offerings were steady to strong. Total receipts of 20,000 head consisted largely of range stock, and there were only a few loads of natives scattered about. The range offerings possessed attractive quality, however, and the buyers devoted practically all of their attention to them, paying up to $7.75, against $7.60 Monday, for prime Washington lambs. Best natives sold to city butchers at $7.60 and to packers at $7.50, while most of the good killing grades sold at $7.00@7.20.

Feeding demand was brisk, there being many country buyers looking for desirable thin stock, and prices were advanced 10c on lambs, sales being made at $6.80@6.85. Montana wethers sold to killers at $4.75, regaining all of the loss sustained Monday, and coming back to the level figure paid for them on every day last week. Range yearlings at $5.85 were 10c higher, while others at $5.40@5.50 were only steady. Feeding yearlings went to the country at $5.25. Most native sheep of quality sold at $4.00@4.25. Quotations:

Native wethers	$4.00@5.00
Native ewes	2.00@4.25
Range yearlings	5.00@5.50
Range wethers	4.35@4.75

Receipts for Aug. 25 were estimated at 20,000 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 22,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 15,542 cattle, 21,991 hogs, and 30,571 sheep for Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1908.

STOCKYARDS GOSSIP.

There were more country buyers looking for desirable feeding and stock steers than on any previous day in many months. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois were the states represented and many complaints of an insufficient supply of desirable feeders were heard.

Urgency in the demand for feeding stock was attributed to the well defined upward tendency of prices of both thin and fat cattle, and to a promising outlook for cheaper feed.

Orders for feeders overflowed to the sheep house, and the inquiry for desirable feeding lambs developed so much strength that prices were rallied to the season's best figures, sales being made at $6.80@6.85.

Packers were reluctant to follow any advance in the price of fat lambs at the start, but when one of the leaders paid the appreciation all the rest got in line and took all they could get. One trader summarized the situation by saying: "All they need is some one to pull the cork, and they'll all drink."

Three principal roads reported 712 cars of live stock in sight for Wednesday's market. This estimate was construed as indicating receipts of 19,000 to 21,000 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 22,000 sheep.

Boore & Co., Roberts & Oake, Hammond, and the Anglo-American company staid out of the hog trade. Armour & Co. led all buyers with purchases of 1,700, while Swift & Co. were second with 1,200 hogs.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

With few exceptions prices for hog products were higher at the close. The advance of about 5@10c in hogs at the yards was the chief factor early and forced buying of September lard by local traders, while aggressive buying of November product by packers, helped the market later. Offerings were light and the strength in nearby deliveries gave January product a firmer tone. Resting prices were unchanged to 30c up for pork, 10@20c up for lard, and 10@12½c better for ribs. Cash trade was reported dull. Western hog receipts were 49,300, against 54,000 a year ago. Local receipts were 10,000, with 22,000 expected today. Hams at Liverpool were 6d higher and lard 3d up. Receipts of product here were 35 cars and shipments 138 cars.

Chicago Horse Market.

More interest was displayed by eastern dealers in the market for desirable, well proportioned, thin horses suitable for feeding purposes, and stronger prices were paid for suitable offerings. Sales were chiefly at $175.00@225.00, although there were many instances of a premium being paid for fancy offerings. Drafters were retained on a steady basis, with most sales ranging from $180.00 to $225.00. Drivers showed little change and sold at $150.00@250.00, with fancy drivers and gaited saddlers up to $300.00 and higher. Southern chunks met with a brisk inquiry and were rigidly maintained at the recent advance, sales being at $60.00@115.00, with good drivers up to $125.00. Receipts were 200 head.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

EGGS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—There were no new developments in the market for eggs. Demand favored the higher priced lots. Receipts were 10,398 cases. Quotations:

Prime firsts	21½c	Do firsts	20c

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—EGGS—High grades firm; receipts, 18,280 cases; state, Pennsylvania, and nearby fancy, hennery brown, 28@31c.

BUTTER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Another advance of ½@1c was made in prices. Creamery butter was selling at such a high figure that the buyers were turning to the dairies for supplies, and the latter were more active than in a long time. Receipts were 9,771 tubs. Quotations:

Dairies, extras	25c	Do firsts	25c
Creamery, extras	28c	Do seconds	24c
Extra firsts	27c	Packing	20½@21c

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—BUTTER—Firm; receipts, 17,284 firkins; creamery extras, 28½c; process, fair to specials, 23@25½c; western imitation creamery firsts, 23c; state, dairy, common to finest, 21@28c.

CHEESE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Primes were rigidly maintained at a firm level. Receipts were moderate and the trade was quiet. Quotations:

STRAW.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Rye, $7.00@7.50; oat, $6.00@6.50, and wheat, $5.00@5.50.

Groceries.

CHICAGO Aug. 24.—Greater activity featured the trade in the market for staple groceries for future delivery. Buyers were anxious to take advantage of the temporary weakness in the prices of canned tomatoes and corn to cover probable needs and packers were successful in placing generous orders. Canned peas were firmly held and reports of a curtailed production continued to be received. Gallon apples were quiet, and there was little change noted in the market for dried fruits. Coast advices told of a stronger market for peaches, but the local trade was quiet and did not reflect any strength.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Prices were rigidly maintained at the recent advance. Following were the ruling values in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated, beet and cane, $5.34@5.44; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.27; standard powdered, $5.75; extra C, $4.85; canary, $4.75; chemically pure milk sugar, 21c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—SUGAR—Raw, firm; fair refining, 3.64c; centrifugal [96 test], 4.14c; molasses sugar, 3.89c. Refined, steady; crushed, 5.75c; powdered, 5.15c; granulated, 5.05c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Market was in good condition and prices showed few changes. Receipts at Rio for two days were 39,000 bags, and at Santos, 106,000 bags.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—COFFEE—Spot, quiet; Rio No. 7, 7¼@7½c; Santos No. 4, 8½@9c. Mild, quiet; Cordova, 8½@12c. Futures opened steady at an advance of 5 points to a decline of 5 points, but only July showed a decline, and while the French market was unchanged to ¼c lower, prices here ruled generally steady on a scattering demand, which may have reflected the steadiness of Brazilian markets in the face of the biggest receipts on record. The market closed steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher. More than half of the business consisted of switches, the aggregate being 82,500 bags, including September at 5.35c; December at 5.30c; March at 5.35c; May at 5.40c; and July at 5.40@5.45c.

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Firmness in the market for raw silks was reflected in a stronger demand for the finished material, and jobbers were in receipt of many orders for leading brands of colored and plain dress and piece silks for immediate and future delivery. Earlier shipments of goods were demanded by buyers and shipping facilities were pressed to the limit to meet the requirements of the trade. Firm prices were the rule and the market was unusually free of weak spots, the general inclination being to look for advanced values later in the season.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The dry goods jobbing market was active for the day. Large special sales have been arranged for this week and next in cotton and woolen goods. Figures showing stocks of cotton goods in China and the movement for the last six months came to hand during the day and are regarded as promising a better business in the late fall. Cotton yarns continue quiet. In men's wear lines trading is quiet after a successful initial spring business.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The cotton market was a little more active than yesterday, but fluctuations were within a narrow range, closing steady at a net advance of 1@5 points. The market opened steady at a decline of 1@3 points, and during the first few minutes active months sold 3 to 4 points net lower. Later fluctuations were irregular, with the market reacting slightly from the best, but showing a generally steady tone and closing within two or three points of the best. Futures opened steady and closed steady. Quotations:

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 24.—COTTON—Spot firm, unchanged, 12¼c. Sales on the spot, 125; to arrive, none. Futures opened steady at a decline of 2 to 3 points on disappointing cables. Late after the first call the market stood 3 to 4 points down. Later the market recovered and rose to a net advance of 3 to 4 points. A sagging movement under the dullness took place in the last half hour of the session and the market closed steady, unchanged to 3 points lower than yesterday. Futures closed steady.

LADIES

WITH SUPERFLUOUS HAIR ON THE FACE.

REMEMBER, we do nothing but superfluous hair work; that this is my 20th year in business; that I was the first lady to open an office in Chicago, and that I do the work myself, with two expert assistants.

REMEMBER, with our 5 to 10 NEEDLE METHOD only a few hours' time is sufficient to cure any case.

REMEMBER, we guarantee to kill every hair we treat, and should any return we will gladly remove them FREE OF CHARGE and thank you for the privilege of doing so.

FOR SALE—

COLORADO FRUIT LANDS.

My fruit lands are on the western slope of Colorado, which is nearer to Chicago by several hundred miles and a dozen hours' travel than any other important Rocky Mountain fruit district. There is an advantage, too, in freight rates of 15c to 25c per 100 lbs., the rate to Chicago on apples from my station being 75c per 100 lbs.

The distance from Chicago to my fruit lands on Virginia Mesa is 1,350 miles. The round trip rate is $39. You can leave Chicago in the afternoon and arrive on my lands the second morning.

These advantages should count with nonresident investors, who may wish to visit their properties once or twice a year and are considerate of time and expense.

Western Colorado is now shipping train loads of fruit. The total for this season will be several thousand cars, and the returns will be in the millions. The Grand River Valley is a proven fruit district, and the proof is overwhelming.

My lands are near Palisade, where developed orchards have sold up to $3,000 and $4,000 an acre, based on their productive returns. Twelve through passenger trains on the main line of two railroad systems cross my property daily. The Grand River, the largest in Colorado, flows through my lands, insuring ample water for irrigation at all times. The soil is a rich, sandy, mesa, loam, ideal for fruit. The slope, drainage, and natural protection are first class. The climate is mild in winter, without disagreeable winds, and it is delightfully comfortable in summer, owing to the altitude, which is 4,900 feet. Fruits are apples, peaches, pears, cherries, and grapes.

An orchard increases in value about $200 an acre each year while growing and after reaching maturity should return the owner each year more than its entire cost.

I live on my property and will undertake the care of orchards for nonresidents under the most approved methods.
C. M. PAINE, De Beque, Colo.

FOR SALE—LOUISIANA—ORANGE, FIG, AND truck lands, 26 miles from New Orleans. These lands are level prairie, free of stones or stumps, the soil is the richest, from 500 to 1,000 feet deep, being the accumulation of countless ages brought on by the Mississippi river. I will deliver this land ready for plowing, including ditches for drawing off surplus rain water, which same ditches can be used for irrigation in case of drought, for $50 per acre, in tracts of 10 acres or more. Small cash payment, balance $5.00 per month. Write for particulars and pictures.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

FOR SALE—A PERFECT VOTING MACHINE, one that will vote the Chicago ticket as the board of election want it voted. No machine on the market can do this. Chicago has advertised for $100,000 worth of machines, contest to be held Sept. 15, 1909; it will take a million dollars' worth to supply Chicago; 8 millions to supply Illinois. I have the machine, have you the money to build these machines? If so, come and see my machine, and if you say it does not do the work and do it right I will pay you $500 for your trouble. Is there any demand for voting machines? Over 5,000 were in use at the last election. Any profit in them? Come and see. This is one of the big things, and I have no time for triflers. E. B. WILLIX, Mount Vernon, Ia.

A CHICAGO MANUFACTURER OF MACHINery used by some of the largest concerns in the United States must have more capital to enlarge his plant, as at present he cannot build the machines half fast enough. If you have money to invest in a substantial manufacturing business that now pays 400% gross profit investigate this. We don't ask you to investigate glowing "possibilities," or a "paper" business, but a small plant, machinery, etc., about $10,000 worth of materials, orders on hand, and doing a successful business now. Address C G 165, Tribune.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 min. from loop district], and my being the president of a large manufacturing wholesale vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing] and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that exorbitant charges, for any time, are burdensome. My average price, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. BUILDING CHIEF ATTACKED AGAIN

New Effort Made by Ald. Emerson to Have Commissioner Campbell Indicted.

The effort of Ald. John R. Emerson to obtain the indictment of Murdoch Campbell, city building commissioner, for alleged misfeasance in office was renewed yesterday by his attorney, L. W. Carpenter. It is charged that Commissioner Campbell willfully violated the building ordinances by granting permits for frame buildings within a recently established fire district in South Chicago. Mr. Carpenter called on the state's attorney to present his evidence, but found the prosecutor too deeply engaged with other important matters to see him.

An assistant, Charles Furthmann, talked over the case briefly with the lawyer and promised to try to obtain him an audience with the state's attorney as soon as the pressure of business relaxed sufficiently to permit it. This conference probably will be held before the September grand jury is impaneled.

"I shall take the case up with State's Attorney Wayman at the first opportunity," Attorney Campbell said. "We believe we have evidence warranting grand jury action and feel confident that he will present it to the September jury if the rush of important cases from the summer season does not overcrowd the docket."

Conflict of Two Aldermen.

"I don't intend to let the matter lapse," declared Ald. Emerson. "I consider violations of the building code, especially in this phase of its provisions, too serious to be winked at. If this case were allowed to pass without action it would establish a dangerous precedent."

In the meantime Ald. John H. Jones, Ald. Emerson's associate from the Eighth ward, is working quietly for the passage of an amendment to the building ordinances in the form of a substitute for the one creating the first district in question—which, he says, should have been made a provisional fire district. He introduced this ordinance at the special meeting of the council last week and will seek its passage at the next meeting.

Police Chief Likes Outlook.

After what he called a "social" meeting with the inspectors of the department, Chief of Police Steward expressed a certainty that the officers of the force will work in harmony with him during his administration.

"The understanding is that every man starts out with a clean bill of health and that the record on which he is to be judged is to be made from now on," he said. "I am sure the officers will be square with one another and with the public."

Speaking of his talk with the inspectors, he said he told them "efficiency" is to be the motto of the department. One of his principal objects in calling the inspectors together was to talk over with each one conditions in his district. He had each one describe his division from its boundaries and general characteristics to special parts of it demanding special attention.

During the day he also discussed with Assistant Chief Schuettler the matters of police business going to that office and told him that, for the present at least, all matters that were referred to him under Chief Shippy would continue to go to his office.

Flag Flies on New City Hall.

Above the cornerstone of the new city hall the steel work has been carried to its highest point—eleven stories from the ground—and in celebration of the passing of that mile post an American flag has been unfurled from the column. The construction company now estimates that it is two weeks ahead of schedule on the steel work and predicts that the stone work soon will equal that record.
